

DANGEROUS BUG

Has Damaged a Number of Trees In the City

A dangerous bug has been discovered in Lowell and Supt. Whittier of the park department, who is more or less of a biologist, admits that it is a new one on him. He was ignorant of its presence here until within a day or two and he is going to ask the state entomologist to identify the newcomer. The habits of the new bug are really more dangerous than anything that has yet visited us and he works unobserved. He feeds on the heart of the tree and any old tree tastes good to him. When he first discovered the new welcome visitor Mr. Whittier thought perhaps the bug had a predilection for the heart's blood of the elm, but he soon discovered that the newcomer played no favorites and was no respecter of trees.

The eggs from which the new bugs are hatched are laid by a black beetle and while it is supposed that the beetle must bore his way to the heart of the tree where the eggs are deposited, there are no holes visible in the tree. He constitutes the biggest conundrum that ever struck town in the line of a bug.

MAYOR SIGNS ORDER

For Closing Certain Roads for the Auto Races

But Will Require a Bond as Soon as Definite Arrangements Shall Have Been Made

The order providing for the closing of certain ways in the city of Lowell for the proposed automobile races was signed by Mayor Meehan today. The mayor hesitated about affixing his signature to the order until he had taken the matter up with the city solicitor. Section 6 of the order calls for a bond to indemnify the city against all possible loss. The mayor has heard from the city solicitor and although the bond has not yet been filed he decided to sign the order.

John O. Heinze and Thomas C. Lee, the two men most prominently connected with the proposed race, called at the mayor's office this forenoon and had a conference with his Honor.

Talking with the reporters relative to the race and the bonds the mayor said that arrangements for the race were far from complete and that the proposition is absolutely in the abstract.

"I signed the order," said the mayor, "because I did not want to put obstacles in the way but Mr. Heinze and the Lowell Automobile club realize that although the order has been signed there will be no race unless the necessary bond is filed. Because of the fact that everything is as yet in the abstract there is really no necessity of a bond at this time, but just as soon as the thing is in the concrete I will demand the bond."

The city solicitor's opinion as submitted to the mayor reads as follows:

Lowell, Mass., July 22, 1910.

Hon. John F. Meehan,

Mayor of Lowell.

Dear Sir: In reply to your request as to the effect of a certain order, passed by the board of aldermen, granting to John O. Heinze and the Lowell Automobile club the right to close certain ways in the city of Lowell and there hold speed contests for motor cycles and automobiles, in its relation to a bond to be given to indemnify the city against all possible loss consequent upon said contest, it is my opinion, that after said order is signed by the mayor no contest can be held until the provisions of section 6 of said order have been complied with, namely, the giving of an agreement of indemnity secured by a bond or bonds satisfactory to and approved by the mayor.

Very truly yours,

William W. Duncan,

City Solicitor.

IN POLICE COURT

Small Docket Before Judge Pickman

This morning's session of the police court was very brief, and Judge Pickman quickly disposed of the cases.

Joseph J. Weaver was before the court for the third time, charged with drunkenness. He pleaded guilty, and after a hearing before the court, he was sentenced to serve a term at the state farm. James P. Moran was in for the second offence and was allowed to go upon the payment of a fine of $5.

Joseph J. Spring was called upon to plead to a second offence of drunkenness, and said: "I am just a little mite in doubt as to whether I was drunk last night or not, but I suppose you might just as well enroll me as being drunk."

"No," said Clerk Savage, "that will not do. You have the right to plead guilty or not guilty. You are charged with being guilty of the second offence of drunkenness and I now ask you to plead whether you are guilty or not guilty to this charge."

"Well, I guess I am guilty," and he was fined $5.

Joseph Fortuna was charged with non-support of his wife and with drunkenness, and the testimony showed that Joseph during the year ending July 20th had given but $26 to the maintenance of his wife. He tried to explain to the court that his wife was somewhat in error, but Judge Pickman thought otherwise, and ordered him to serve a sentence of six months in the Lowell jail.

There were three $2 fines, and three first offenders were released.

WAS NOT INJURED

MAN WAS SHOT THROUGH A DRAIN PIPE

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 23.—Shot through three hundred feet of 20-inch drain pipe in a column of water at high pressure, a laborer on the Gatun dam on the Panama canal, lived to tell the tale. Juan Antolin was the human projectile, according to the report made to the canal commission. From a floating platform where he was keeping rubbish in a hydraulic lift from clogging the drain, he fell into the pool and was sucked into the pipe. His companions rushed to the outlet, but Antolin preceded them by some seconds and swam ashore.

ELLSWORTH, Me., July 23.—The Mayflower which anchored last night in Northeast Harbor with President Taft and his party on board, left there before seven o'clock this morning. Leaving Bar Harbor at 3:33 a. m. the Mayflower proceeded to this place where the president and his party took a special train for Bangor where the president will speak at 1 p. m. He also will be entertained at luncheon.

Mrs. Taft and the ladies of the party stopped off at Ellsworth and were driven to Senator Hale's home to await the president's arrival. Col. Roosevelt was Senator Hale's guest at Ellsworth eight years ago.

A PUBLIC MORGUE

Is Greatly Needed Here in Lowell to Aid in Identification

A prominent citizen suggested to a representative of The Sun today that Lowell should have a public morgue, a place where the unidentified dead could be cared for until they had been identified or consigned to a final resting place. He said that the continual fighting among undertakers in this city of late had brought the matter to his attention and he felt that Lowell was rather backward in this respect.

In almost every other city there is a public morgue. If a person is killed or drowned or drops dead in the street the body is taken to the morgue and later when identified the relatives of the deceased can have the body removed to the establishment of any undertaker which they may name.

It is a well known fact that the undertakers in this city, as well as other cities where there is no morgue, are constantly wrangling over the possession of bodies. The citizen who brought the matter to the attention of the writer said:

"In this way obstacles are placed in the way of identifying bodies. The city has had to bury several bodies unidentified and has had several cases of mistaken identification that might not have occurred if we had a morgue where the public would go to see the body."

DIAMOND NOTES
The Lynn item has the following: "Like President Ed Arundel of the Lawrence club, James J. Gray, owner and manager of the Lowell club of the New England league, has allowed himself to be duped by a hard luck story to cash a $25 check to which the name of Matthew McCann, president of the Lynn club, was forged. Both checks are almost identical and the method of getting them cashed the same. The truth dawned on Mr. Gray when the check was returned a few days ago to him accompanied by a protest that Mr. McCann has no account in the bank to which it was made payable. He immediately sat down and wrote the following to Matt:

Lowell, July 17, 1910.
Dear Sir: A check for twenty-five dollars ($25) cashed by me has been returned by my bank, as no funds were on hand to meet it. What disposition do you want made with the check? A reply by return mail will greatly oblige yours truly,

THREE GREAT SPHERE WALLOPERS WHO ARE FURNISHING INTERESTING RACE

CLEVELAND, July 23.—The race for the batting honors of the American league is one of the closest ever held in San Johnson's organization. A month ago it looked as if Napoleon Lajoie, Cleveland's great second sacker, would make a runaway race of it. But since then Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker have crept up on him, and now the race is an interesting one. According to the latest figures, Lajoie is leading the league with a percentage of .324. Ty Cobb is next with .308 and Tris Speaker third with an average of .340. All three are walloping the ball at a great rate. In the National it is anybody's race. At present Paskert of the Cincinnati Reds is leading the procession with a percentage of .347, with Catcher Graham of Boston second with .322. Hans Wagner is away down the list with an average of .285. It is the first time in many years that the only home has been so far down in the batting race at midseason.

Woods should sell Mr. Carr ice from the cart at the nearest point to Mr. Carr's house that her cart stopped. After the matter was apparently settled the parties left the court room. In the corridor, however, there was a wrangle. Mr. Carr insisted that the cart should stop opposite his house, while counsel for the defendant wanted Mr. Carr to go about 250 feet from his house. Counsel for Mr. Carr accused the other side of quibbling and all interested went back into the court room, where the matter was again brought to the attention of the court. The result of the last understanding was that delivery should be made in front of Mr. Lihan's house in Cedar street.

TEXTILE MILLS

A Number in New England Will Shut Down

BOSTON, July 23.—Many of the textile mills in New England will be shut down for a week or more between today and August 31. The Cocheco cotton mills of Dover, N. H., owned by the Pacific Mills Lawrence and the print works in Dover will be closed tomorrow until August 1. The Cocheco plant will also be stopped from August 25 until September 6. The cotton mills in Dover employ 2300 operatives. The Peppercott cotton mills of Hildesford, Me., and those of the York corporation of Saco will be closed from July 30 until August 8 and probably a week in September. The two corporations employ about five thousand persons. Some of the Lowell mills will be idle from August 20 to Sept. 6. The textile mills of William Skinner & Sons at Holyoke which shut down for a week early in July will close tomorrow until August 1.

CLOSED FOR TWO WEEKS
PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 23.—The Riverdale mills, the largest of the American Woolen Co.'s mills in this state, will close tomorrow for two weeks and the National and Providence woolen mills will close as soon as they complete their selling ends. These mills employ together about five thousand operatives. The mill of the Kent Manufacturing Co. at Centerville will close down tonight for a week and the Livingstone worsted mill at Washington will shut down its weaving department tomorrow for a week. The dullness that always obtains between seasons is given as the cause.

DEATHS
MENULTY—Catherine McNulty died yesterday at the city hospital, and her remains were removed to the undertaking rooms of Charles H. McElroy, 32 Coburn street, left Lowell yesterday for New York, where he will spend his vacation.
A baby boy, arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. Greene on Anderson street Wednesday morning. Mr. Greene was formerly a well known Boston and Northern conductor.
Mr. Frank E. Eastham, the popular young clerk of John H. Burke's market, 32 Coburn street, left Lowell yesterday for Newport, R. I., where he will spend his vacation.

BOXING GOSSIP
Langford and Kaufman have signed an agreement to box six rounds at the National A. C. of Philadelphia next month. The men will receive separate guarantees, it is said, and the fight will be on its merits, not a frame-up. As the Langford-Kaufman fight turned out to be, Langford and Kaufman were matched to fight twenty rounds in San Francisco last June when Glen Gilchrist stopped the fight in the eighth round. If there is no stalling and the men fight on the dead level this bout will be of such importance as the winner if one is produced will be in an excellent position to demand a fight with Jack Johnson.
Kaufman, in the opinion of Johnson is the best white heavyweight in the world and the only one capable of making a bid for the negro's title. DeLaney has expressed the belief that in another year Kaufman may have a chance to win Johnson in a long fight. Indorsed in this manner by Johnson and DeLaney, Kaufman must show marked superiority over Langford in order to keep in line for a fight involving the title now held by the Texas black man. Langford, on the other hand in making this match with Kaufman sees a chance to force Johnson into a corner, for a victory over Kaufman would mean that Langford's prowess could not be further belittled.
"We have signed with Kaufman," said Langford's manager, Joseph Woodman, yesterday, "and if DeLaney's man doesn't back out you can safely bet that Langford will win him in Philadelphia. Personally I believe Langford can stop Kaufman in two or three rounds. Kaufman is big, awkward and slow, just the kind of a mark that Langford could always whip. In declaring that Kaufman is his most dangerous rival Johnson is simply anxious to avoid Langford. That is why we have taken Kaufman on and are going to eliminate him from the heavyweight situation."
"If Langford whips Kaufman we will then challenge Johnson to fight for $50,000 a side. I can raise that money now. If necessary providing Johnson will sign articles, but I know very well that Johnson is dodging behind the Kaufman bluff. Hugh McIntosh, I understand, will offer a $25,000 purse for twenty rounds, between Langford and Johnson to be decided in England or Australia, and you can say for us that we will accept the offer, whenever it is made in tangible form. Ketchel will not fight Langford. That's a cinch. I don't believe that he could be dragged into the same ring with Sam, even if he could have all the money. But if he should beat Bull Lang of Australia, and should then change his mind about meeting Langford we will make a match in the twinkling of an eye."
"Kaufman will not be an easy mark mind you, for he will weigh nearly 170 pounds more than Langford. He has learned many things about scientific boxing by his experience with Johnson in training. That is why Langford will be entitled to much credit if he wins the scrap in Philadelphia."
Langford has begun training at Northboro, Mass., and Kaufman is on his way east from the coast.

100 YEARS OLD
SPRINGFIELD, Vt., July 22.—Mrs. Matilda Whitney, the oldest citizen of Springfield, will pass her 100th birthday today at the home of her son, Tolia W. Whitney. Mrs. Whitney will receive many testimonials of the best wishes of her friends in this and surrounding towns. She is in fairly good health, retains her memory and faculties to a remarkable degree and is entertaining in conversation.
Mrs. Whitney was born in Springfield on a farm bordering the Connecticut. Her father, John Walker, lived in Connecticut until 1795, when he married Miss Phileena Spencer and moved to Concord, N. H. In 1806 they returned to Springfield. Mrs. Whitney's mother died in 1869, when 82 years old. Mrs. Whitney was the seventh of a family of 11 children. One of these lived to be a nonagenarian, three passed the 90 years mark and all but three of the remaining lived to be over 70.

CECELIA LOFTUS TO UNDERGO SURGICAL OPERATION IN LONDON

CECELIA LOFTUS

LONDON, July 23.—The engagement of Cecelia Loftus for the last week in July at the Coliseum in this city has been postponed indefinitely owing to the fact that the actress must undergo a surgical operation. The announcement is a disappointment to London admirers of the American actress and causes much distress among her numerous friends on both sides of the ocean. In recent years the Cissy Loftus of earlier days, whose wimpey made her famous as a merry little thespian, has essayed and executed some of the most difficult roles in the legitimate drama. She has been leading woman for several famous actors. Miss Loftus is the divorced wife of Justin Huntly McCarthy, the playwright.

GOT NO MONEY

Highwaymen Held Up Express Driver

BOSTON, July 23.—An express driver and his helper were held up at the point of a revolver by two unknown men on Pearson road, Somerville, last night. After going through the pockets of both men and obtaining no money, the highwaymen made good their escape by keeping their victims covered with the weapon while they hurried down the thoroughfare.

Ernest Elwin, employed by Olinas express as a driver, and John Crowley, his helper, were the men held up. Receiving a report of the holdup nearly two hours later, the Somerville police searched the vicinity, but obtained no clue. Elwin and Crowley stopped their wagon in front of 24 Pearson road at 9:30 and Elwin went into a dwelling to deliver a package.

When he returned to the street a man about 5 feet 7 inches in height, who wore a derby hat and had a mustache, stepped briskly up to Elwin and commanded him to remain quiet. The highwayman hit a revolver close to the expressman's head. His companion went through Elwin's pockets, but found nothing of value.

Keeping Elwin covered the men commanded Crowley to step down from the wagon and submit to a search. The men went through his clothing also, but found nothing.

Cautioning Elwin and Crowley to make no outcry, the highwaymen walked rapidly away, the one having the revolver keeping the expressmen covered until at a considerable distance.

The expressmen were able to give only a slight description of the highwaymen. The one who went through their pockets, they said, was of about the same height as the one who carried the revolver. One had a mustache and wore a derby hat, while the other was smooth shaven and wore a cap, the expressman said.

JUDGE ROSALSKY

WAS NAMED IN LAWYER'S COMPLAINT

NEW YORK, July 23.—Paul M. Abrahams of the law firm of Cantwell & Abrahams, 149 Broadway made statements in the Tombs court yesterday about Judge Otto Rosalsky of general sessions, Secretary of State Sam Koonin, former Sheriff Foley, District Attorney Whitman and a member of Mr. Whitman's staff. Magistrate House referred the remarks to the district attorney's office for investigation.

Abrahams, representing Joseph Freedman, a Brooklyn contractor, asked for a summons for Mitchell Bernstein, an architect and his assistant, Samuel Cohen, charging them with perjury in a civil action in which Bernstein recovered a judgment against Freedman for $500. The lawyer said he had come to the magistrate because the district attorney's office had had the case under consideration four weeks and he wasn't satisfied.

"Deputy Assistant District Attorney Moskowitz told me he had asked to be relieved of further connection with the case because Judge Rosalsky had been to see him about it," said Abrahams. "He also said Secretary of State Koonin and former Sheriff Foley had called on him and interfered in the case. Mr. Moskowitz further told me that his chief had said that if the judgment in this case were cancelled he would be satisfied to let the prosecution drop."

"By the word 'chief' did Mr. Moskowitz mean Mr. Whitman?" asked Magistrate House.

"Yes," replied Abrahams.

"Well," said the magistrate, "the only construction I can place on what you have said is that the gentleman mentioned went to Mr. Moskowitz and tried improperly to influence him. I want to say that I don't believe a word of it, nor do I believe that District Attorney Whitman told Moskowitz that he would agree to drop the prosecution. It is a question of veracity between you and Mr. Moskowitz."

The magistrate sent for Assistant District Attorney Reynolds, who has had the Bernstein case in charge since Mr. Reynolds said that the district attorney's investigation was not concluded, but that so far as it had gone the facts hardly justified action by that office.

"Mr. Moskowitz was relieved of the case because his vacation had arrived," said Mr. Reynolds. "I have known him for a good many years and I do not believe he said what Mr. Abrahams charges him with saying."

Abrahams then said he agreed with the magistrate's opinion of Mr. Whitman.

Mr. Reynolds ordered a copy of the minutes and said Abrahams' statements would be investigated.

NEW YORK, July 23.—Selling pressure was renewed at the opening of the stock market today and losses were registered in all directions. All classes were affected in about equal degree. Canadian Pacific was notably weak with a decline of 2 1/2. There was some evidence of support in leading; that stock rallying to a fractional gain after opening down a shade.

In the free outpouring of stocks there were losses of 1 1/2 to 2 points in Union Pacific, Illinois Central, Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie, Rock Island, Southern Railway, Texas & Pacific, Ann. Cor. International Harvester and others. National Lead lost 2. Supporting orders for the latter stock rallied the list and there were recoveries running to a point or more. American Smelting rose a point over last night.

The market closed weak and rather dull. The market became active again on a decline. The general list met support at about the limits of the previous decline and rallies followed. Prices sagged back in some cases to the lowest.

FIGHTING FOREST FIRES IN WISCONSIN; WESTERN CANADA ALSO SUFFERS SEVERELY

CARDINAL GIBBONS

JAMES CARDINAL GIBBONS Who Celebrated His 76th Birthday Today

Will Observe His 76th Birthday Quietly Today

James Cardinal Gibbons is today 76 years of age. At his home in Baltimore this great churchman will quietly observe his birthday, and receive the great number of prominent visitors who call to tender their respects and congratulations.

Early on this day, the cardinal's home is flooded with messages from friends and well-wishers from every quarter of the globe, as well as gifts without number.

Cardinal Gibbons was born in Baltimore July 23, 1834, and has spent practically his entire life in that city. He has always interested himself and closely identified himself with the affairs of the city, and his disinterested public spiritedness, unaffected dignity and kindness he has won the love and respect of men and women in every walk of life, regardless of their religious beliefs.

His parents, Thos. and Mary Gibbons, came to Baltimore from Ireland in 1829. When the son was only two years old his parents returned to Ireland. His father died shortly after, and Mrs. Gibbons came back to the United States. She went to New Orleans, where her son received his early education in the public schools.

Between his 15th and 17th years the cardinal was clerk in a grocery store. He then attended St. Charles college at Ellicott City, Md., was graduated with distinction, and entered St. Mary's seminary in Baltimore.

At the age of 27 he was ordained to the priesthood at the cathedral. He received his final orders on June 20, 1861.

In 1866 he was made vice councillor of the plenary council of the Catholic church—a great distinction for so young a priest.

In 1868 he was consecrated as bishop of Adamantium in parties in Adelfeltum and vicar apostolic of North Carolina. When Bishop McGUIRE died in 1872, Bishop Gibbons was selected to fill the vacant see at Richmond, Va. In Virginia his work was so noticeable and he displayed so much executive ability that Archbishop James Roosevelt Bayley of Baltimore, finding that his health was failing, suggested to Rome that Bishop Gibbons be nominated as coadjutor. He received the nomination in 1877, with the right of succession to the see of Baltimore.

Archbishop Bayley died a few months later, so Bishop Gibbons was elevated to what was then the highest position of the Catholics in the United States, being made archbishop of Baltimore.

He was one of the American prelates to visit Rome in 1883 to outline the work for the third plenary council. His marked ability was noticed by Pope Leo XIII, who appointed him to preside over the plenary council.

During the meeting of the council, the archbishop again won the approbation of the pope, who, to show his appreciation, nominated him for cardinal.

Bishop Gibbons' nomination was promptly confirmed, and he became a prince of the church.

Early in 1887 the cardinal sailed for Rome, where he received the red hat and the apostolic benediction from the pontiff.

On his return to Baltimore, the cardinal was given a magnificent reception by people of all classes.

One of his first acts was the laying of the cornerstone of the Catholic University in Washington. He later opened it, and is now its chancellor.

The cardinal has always led an active life, and despite his age he finds time and strength to attend an enormous number of church ceremonies in all parts of Baltimore and the surrounding country.

Cardinal Gibbons is not only beloved as the head of the Catholic church, but also as a man.

His charity is said to be boundless, and although a great deal of money has been bequeathed to him at various times, the general impression is that he is a poor man, and that he has given away everything which has been left to him.

REWARD OF $500

BAN JOHNSON DETERMINED TO STOP TIPPING OF SIGNALS

CHICAGO, July 23.—Five hundred dollars reward is offered by the American league for evidence tending to show that any player or club in the league is using or countenancing the tipping of signals of any opposing team. Any player involved will be banished from organized baseball for all time to come. This bit of information, in addition to the fact that Jack Sheridan may become manager of umpires in the American league or be given some commanding position was handed out by President Johnson on his return to Chicago from the east yesterday.

"I made a thorough investigation while in the east in regard to the alleged 'tipping bureau' of the New York American club," said President Johnson, "but I could not discover a shadow of evidence to support the tale that was started some time ago."

Neither could I find out that Pitcher Ed Walsh of the Chicago American league club had ever said he believed there was such a system of signals employed. There is no one more concerned about it than myself and I will pay $500 to any person who produces proof that any improper signals were used. The fact of the matter is that the New

Auction Sale of High Grade Household Furniture

THURSDAY, JULY 28, 1910, at 1:30 P. M. SHARP AT 52 PARKER STREET

As I have disposed of my house and am about to remove from the city I have instructed the auctioneer to sell the entire contents of this 7-room house consisting in part of a seven piece parlor set, dining room set complete, three chamber sets complete, kitchen range, gas range, carpets, rugs, pictures and in fact everything that would be found in a home of this class. The furniture has been purchased but very recently. I will also sell 1 1/2 tons of stove coal. Terms cash.

Saturday, July 30th, 1910, at 3 O'Clock P. M.

POSITIVE SALE OF A TWO-TENEMENT HOUSE AND ABOUT 3070 SQUARE FEET OF LAND AT NO. 89-91 CONCORD STREET, CORNER OF POND STREET.

I have had placed in my hands to sell at absolute auction this double house, situated within one minute's walk of the high street electric car line, also five minutes from the very center of the city. The property comprises a two-tenement house of 12 rooms, six to each tenement, besides city water, gas and sewer connections, separate toilets and sheds to each. The building is in perfect repair inside and out, and is rented for $11 and $12 per month each, making a total of $276 per year and is always rented, inasmuch as the same is located so close to the heart of Lowell and so handy to the city's largest manufacturing industry. There are about 3670 square feet of land with a frontage of about 50 feet on Concord street and 50 feet on Pond street, thus affording one ample yard room. This sale presents a most exceptional opportunity for anyone to purchase a home and investment combined in a first class neighborhood, where the convenience to almost everything is excellent; also where a person could live in one tenement and rent the other, as they are entirely separate of each other with front and back doors leading to their respective apartments. If you are thinking about buying real estate, either for home purposes or investment, be sure and attend this sale, as one would receive a large percentage on the money invested.

Terms: $260 to be paid to auctioneer as soon as the property is struck off. W. E. GUYETTE in charge.

FREIGHT BEING MOVED INFANTILE PARALYSIS

Grand Trunk Road Puts on Fifty Cases Reported in the City of Springfield

BOSTON, July 23.—The success encountered yesterday in moving freight over the railroads in New England affected by the conductors and trainmen's strike on the Grand Trunk railroad caused the officials to put more trains, both freight and passenger, in operation today. Freight that had been standing on the rails of the Central Vermont railroad points where the strike has caused tie-ups was again started toward its consignees today.

SEVEN MEN INJURED

MONTREAL, July 23.—The possible

need of much heavier policing at important points on the Grand Trunk railway system took a place today in the list of topics, including arbitration and freight paralysis, discussed as vitally affecting the status of the strike inaugurated last Monday by the company's conductors and trainmen.

A more serious outbreak than any previously reported occurred at the company's station at Brockville, Ont. Seven men were injured, none seriously, in the trouble which followed the arrival of a local passenger train from Toronto. Stones were thrown and the agent's office stormed. In the office were six private detectives. They were driven out and buffeted. The despatcher's office was then attacked and the men expelled. Two of the injured were taken to a hospital. They were David Corry of Montreal, a special constable, and Edward Wilcox of Toronto, conductor of the train. Police finally cleared the platform. No one was arrested.

SPRINGFIELD, July 23.—Springfield and adjacent towns are alarmed over an outbreak of infantile paralysis. More than 50 cases have appeared in the city within six weeks, and several deaths have been reported. A case was also reported in Springfield this week.

The Springfield authorities quarantine houses where cases of the disease are reported, fearing the disease may be contagious. They have recommended a general use of peroxide of hydrogen as a preventive. The peroxide is diluted with an equal amount of water and the nose and throat are sprayed with the mixture. It is believed that the infection enters the body through the air passages. Physicians say they know very little as to the origin of the disease, its cause or its cure. For that matter it is very difficult to recognize a case of it until the mischief is done. Physicians know that something has destroyed a group of nerve cells in the spinal cord of the sufferer just as they know that in cerebro-spinal meningitis certain nerve cells in the brain are put out of business. The sufferer from infantile paralysis generally lives to be a cripple, while the patient having cerebro-spinal meningitis generally dies.

Infantile paralysis is known to physicians as anterior poliomyelitis, and the sufferers are generally between the ages of 8 months and 2 years, though one patient here is 20 years old. The attack is marked by slight febrile symptoms and may be mistaken by the parents of a child for any other infantile complaint, such as indigestion or the complications attending teething, and the actual disease is finally recognized when it is found that a child's leg or arm is affected. Frequently the child seems to have lost control of one leg below the knee, but, as it recovers, it will learn to use the leg after a fashion, though the foot is likely to drag, toes pointed downward, as the child walks. The cluster of nerve cells, which control certain ligaments, have been destroyed and the use of the affected limb will depend entirely upon the degree of efficiency which adjoining nerve cells develop. Sometimes an arm as well as a leg is affected.

The feature of the disease so far as the parents of the child are concerned is that by the time they have discovered the nature of the malady there is nothing to be done for the child. Some surgeons have achieved remarkable results by an operation in which they brought a ligament from the back of the patient's leg and attached it to a disabled ligament in front, thus enabling the child to regain control of its foot.

THE IRISH LEAGUE

Local Branch Preparing For Coming Events

So far as the arrangements have gone, the prospect is that the coming convention of the United Irish League to be held at Buffalo, N. Y., in September, will be the greatest in the history of the organization. A great many new branches are being formed in New York and other states. At the formation of a new branch named after Patrick J. Buffalo, recently, Bishop Colton of Buffalo sent the following letter:

Bishop's House,
1025 Delaware avenue,
Buffalo, N. Y., May 24, 1910.

Dear Sir:—This is to say I am much pleased with the movement to establish here a branch of the United Irish League of America. There is every reason why Buffalo should be represented. It was here the Irish Land League was first organized in America. The spirit that lived then lives still, and now that the outlook for Home Rule for Ireland is so bright, it is proper that here and everywhere Irishmen and the sons of Irishmen should unite to help John Redmond and his gallant band in the British parliament to win that measure after their long and trying struggle.

I am with you heart and soul in your efforts to rally all compatriots here, and I stand ready to assist in the good work by any means in my power.

With regards to all, I am,
Faithfully yours,
Charles H. Colton,
Bishop of Buffalo.

Bishop Fallon also sent a letter asking that he be made a charter member and promising to be present at the convention in September.

The city government of Buffalo has pledged itself to give the delegates a great time taking them to Niagara falls and other points of interest.

Hon. John F. Redmond, T. P. O'Connor, Joseph Devlin and a brilliant young member of parliament will represent the Irish people at the convention. It is probable that Messrs. Redmond and Boyle will visit Lowell.

The local branch of the league will be presented by delegates. There will be a meeting Sunday evening at A. O. H. hall to arrange for the annual excursion to the beach. All the members interested are expected to attend.

MINISTER TAKES THE OATH OF OFFICE

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 23.—Probably the only minister-policeman in the United States is the Rev. Arthur E. Whitham, rector of Trinity Episcopal church in this city who took his oath of office yesterday and then was presented with his badge of authority on which was inscribed "Private Policeman, Trinity park." The Rev. Whitham says that he has become a policeman in addition to his other duties for the good of the boys who play in Trinity park.

"With my authority of a police officer I think that I will be able to handle any black sheep that attempt to lead my flock astray," said he.

THREE STORY HOUSE OF THREE TENEMENTS AND STORE, STABLE WITH WOOD YARD, SMALL OFFICE AND ABOUT 4790 SQ. FT. OF LAND AT 33-35 CONCORD STREET.

On the premises regardless of any conditions of the weather I shall offer for sale the above property. The house which is a three-story structure, with flat roof, has two tenements of four rooms each, one tenement of three rooms, and a large store and one room; separate toilets with each tenement and store and best of sewerage. The wood yard, the greater portion of which is roofed over, has a stable with three stalls, and a small office fronting Concord street. The property is all rented by first class tenants and brings in a yearly rental of about $490. The lot has a large frontage on Concord street, and an area of about 4790 square feet, with the light of way in a passageway from Concord to Perry streets which must be forever kept open. Now, here is a proposition for the speculator in real estate. Three tenements, a store and wood yard, a stable with three stalls and small office, which are always rented. The location being an excellent one for renting, this being the third property from Concord street, with light in a passageway from street to street, with a wood yard which has been established for first class tenants and within five minutes' walk to many large industries. Now then, look this property up as it is a first class investment. All inquiries must be made of the auctioneer.

Terms: $350 to be paid to the auctioneer as soon as struck off. A good liberal mortgage can remain at 5 per cent.

Next Saturday, July 30th, at 3.45 P. M.

FOUR TENEMENT HOUSE AND ABOUT 3212 SQUARE FEET OF LAND AT 335 AND 337 LAWRENCE STREET

On the premises regardless of any condition of the weather the above property shall be offered for sale to whomsoever will bid the most for it. The house consists of four tenements with four rooms to a tenement, has gas, toilets and best of sewerage, and rents for about $300 a year. It is occupied by four good tenants who would undoubtedly remain. The present owner had plans drawn to remodel this property into a six tenement block, and the purchaser will receive the plans free. The location is a No. 1 for renting of small tenements. It has frontage of about 44 feet on Lawrence street and contains about 3212 square feet of land. Now if you are in the market for a piece of real estate that will pay you a steady income, it will be to your advantage to look this parcel up. It is within five minutes' walk of many large industries and a good liberal mortgage can remain at 5 per cent. The present owner would not be disposing of it at this time, but he is no longer a resident of the city.

Terms: $250 to be paid to the auctioneer as soon as struck off. Make all inquiries at the office of the auctioneer who is in full charge.

NIGHT EDITION DANGEROUS BUG

PASSENGERS SAFE

Fire Broke Out in Hold of the Steamer Momus

CHARLESTON, S. C., July 23.—The wireless at the navy yard picked up a message this morning from the South Pacific liner Momus reporting fire in the afterhold since yesterday. The vessel anchored in twelve fathoms of water.

The Momus of the same line is standing by and has taken off the passengers.

The fire is not under control. Location of the vessel is not clearly established. The vessel is off Cape Canaveral on the east coast of Florida.

HAD 80 PASSENGERS

NEW YORK, July 23.—The steamship Momus, under the command of Captain John Boyd, left here for New Orleans last Wednesday with 80 passengers. She carried a crew of 120 men. Officials of the Southern Pacific express the belief that the fire would be confined in the afterhold. Marine Supt. Yungen said that there was no inflammable freight in the afterhold of the Momus.

The steamer Momus which took off the passengers of the Momus left New Orleans for New York on Wednesday.

CAUSE OF DISEASE

Infantile Paralysis Produced by Some External Agent

The great number of cases of infantile paralysis reported in Springfield recalls the epidemic of that disease in western Massachusetts in 1908. An investigation of the epidemic was made at the suggestion of Dr. Henry P. Walcott, chairman of the state board of health.

Sixty-nine cases of infantile paralysis, or approximately one-half the total number reported in the state during 1908, occurred in western Massachusetts, but Springfield was not included in that list.

Twenty-four cases occurred in Colrain, a town of five villages, containing three cotton mills and having a population of 1,800. Colrain is situated in the narrow North river valley. The disease was prevalent in manufacturing places. Six cases of infantile paralysis occurred in southern Vermont in territory contiguous to the Colrain district.

TEXAS CHURCHES

OPENED TO LET PEOPLE PRAY FOR DRY SPELL

AUSTIN, Tex., July 23.—The power of prayer on politics was put to a trial all over Texas yesterday. The churches held services beginning early yesterday and closing late last night at which appeals were made to God to grant a victory for the cause of statewide prohibition at today's democratic primaries.

In Austin the union prayer services were held at the First Baptist church and were largely attended.

There are two candidates for the prohibition office in the race for governor. One is Con Johnson and the other William Pindexter. Some of the prayers were offered in favor of Johnson and some in favor of Pindexter.

All of the prayers urged to the defeat of O. B. Colquitt, the candidate of the anti-prohibition organization, for governor.

Has Damaged a Number of Trees In the City

A dangerous bug has been discovered in Lowell and Supt. Whitte of the park department, who is more of a biologist than a city official, has been looking over and attending to the city to avoid a repetition, if possible, of the sad accident on the South common on the afternoon of July 3.

In compliance with the mayor's letter the park commission instructed its superintendent to go over all the trees and examine them carefully. It was while conducting this examination that Supt. Whitte came upon the new bug which he describes as a "white slug." He found that trees absolutely healthy from all outside appearances were bad at heart because of the ravages of the new bug, and in several trees he found colonies of the bugs extending almost the whole length of the tree. He says the "white slug" is as large as a man's thumb and about one inch and a half long. The fact that the new bug works on the inside of the tree and covers up his tracks he will be hard for people to find. This state entomologist will probably be able to identify him.

Sometime ago the mayor addressed a letter to the park commission asking that the shade trees throughout the city be looked over and attended to in order to avoid a repetition, if possible, of the sad accident on the South common on the afternoon of July 3.

In compliance with the mayor's letter the park commission instructed its superintendent to go over all the trees and examine them carefully. It was while conducting this examination that Supt. Whitte came upon the new bug which he describes as a "white slug." He found that trees absolutely healthy from all outside appearances were bad at heart because of the ravages of the new bug, and in several trees he found colonies of the bugs extending almost the whole length of the tree. He says the "white slug" is as large as a man's thumb and about one inch and a half long. The fact that the new bug works on the inside of the tree and covers up his tracks he will be hard for people to find. This state entomologist will probably be able to identify him.

The eggs from which the new bugs are hatched are laid by a black beetle and while it is supposed that the beetle must bore his way to the heart of the tree, no holes visible in the tree there are no holes visible in the tree. He constitutes the biggest conundrum that ever struck town in the line of a bug.

For Closing Certain Roads for the Auto Races

But Will Require a Bond as Soon as Definite Arrangements Shall Have Been Made

The order providing for the closing of certain ways in the city of Lowell for the proposed auto races, signed by Mayor Meehan today, has been held up by the city solicitor. The mayor hesitated about affixing his signature to the order until he had taken the matter up with the city solicitor, Section 5 of the order calls for a bond to indemnify the city against all possible loss. The mayor has heard from the city solicitor and although the bond has not yet been filed he decided to sign the order.

John O. Heinze and Thomas C. Lee, the two men most prominently connected with the proposed race, called at the mayor's office this forenoon and had a conference with him. The mayor said that arrangements for the race were far from complete and that the proposition is absolutely in the abstract. "I signed the order," said the mayor, "because I did not want to put obstacles in the way, but Mr. Heinze and the Lowell Automobile club realize that although the order has been signed there will be no race unless the necessary bond is filed. Because of the fact that everything is as yet in the abstract there is really no necessity of a bond at this time, but just as soon as the thing is in the concrete I will demand the bond."

The city solicitor's opinion as submitted to the mayor reads as follows: Lowell, Mass., July 22, 1910.

Hon. John F. Meehan, Mayor of Lowell.

Sir: In reply to your request as to the effect of a certain order passed by the board of aldermen granting to John O. Heinze and the Lowell Automobile club the right to close certain ways in the city of Lowell and there hold speed contests for motor cycles and automobiles, in its nature and effect, the giving of an agreement of indemnity secured by a bond or bonds satisfactory to and approved by the mayor.

Very truly yours,
William W. Dunne,
City Solicitor.

YOUNG BRIDE TO GET HER CLOTHING BY COURT'S ORDER

NEW YORK, July 23.—Joseph H. Byington of 1211 Fulton street was haled yesterday to the Gates avenue court in Brooklyn by his nineteen-year-old daughter, Mabel, to explain why he has refused to surrender her clothing to her.

On Sunday Mabel was married to George W. Hogan, a young jeweler, and the couple went to live in a flat at 1083 Bedford avenue. The father was opposed to the marriage and would not allow his daughter to remove her hats, gowns and other articles of clothing to her new home. The young woman told Chief Magistrate Kempner that she had been working steadily as a milliner since she was 15 years old and that she had earned her own living and saved enough money to purchase all her outfit. Counsel for the father wanted to have the matter threshed out in replevin proceedings in a civil court, but Magistrate Kempner said that if the clothing was not delivered to the daughter before this morning there would be trouble for the father.

PRETTY PARK FRANKLIN SCHOOL GROUNDS TO BE BEAUTIFIED

Franklin school park is the next to be added to Lowell's beauty spots. The little V shaped piece of land that juts out from the Franklin school almost separating Middlesex and Branch streets with its point, is to be properly dressed and made into a pretty little park. The drinking fountain, which would interfere with the improvements that the street and park departments make at that point is to be moved to the opposite side of the street. The moving of the drinking fountain will be done by the street department. The park department will build a low stone wall about the little park and will fix the grade to conform to the street.

OFFICER CRAIG Was Shot by Masked Highwayman

KITTANNING, Pa., July 23.—A masked highwayman shot and instantly killed Morton Craig, an officer employed by the Widener Coal Co. near here today, after attempting to secure $2500 in cash carried by Craig's companion, Supt. Brown of the company mines, who was the money in a satchel. As they named the mine they were suddenly confronted by a masked man. Craig drew his revolver and was shot dead. State constabulary are reported to have surrounded the bandit in an abandoned coal mine.

THE ARCHBISHOP Pays Visit to St. John's Normal College

Archbishop O'Connell has taken a deep interest in St. John's Normal college in Danvers which is conducted by the Xaverian Brothers. The archbishop paid his first visit to the institution on Thursday and his arrival was entirely unexpected by the brothers. He was shown through the college and escorted through the immense grounds. He expressed great surprise and pleasure at the location and the work that is being done there. He congratulated the brothers and assured them that it is his desire to see the college grow larger and prosper. His support. He also stated that he will visit the college on August 27 and will rededicate the buildings.

FORGERY CHARGE

Girl Says That Woman Gave Her Check

NEW YORK, July 23.—It isn't unusual in Harlem for a child to walk into a store with a check to be cashed. Therefore when ten-year-old Francis Walsh went into Yeager's drug store at 2518 Eighth avenue yesterday with a check for $40.32 to be cashed the druggist took it and turned toward his cash register. He gave the check a moment's study and then arrested his hand on the "No Sale" key. With one more squint at the check he went to the telephone and softly called police headquarters.

Detectives Isaacson and McCullough responded. The Walsh boy led them to the corner of 135th street and Eighth avenue and pointed to a demure looking girl in a basket hat who, he said, had given him the check to get cashed while she waited. The girl was Mary Benson, 17, of 1762 Amsterdam avenue. She went to the West 125th street police station protesting that she hadn't done anything. But several persons who have been swindled recently by forged checks had been summoned. The girl's protests were cut short by the entrance of Mary Hines, 13, of 2517 Eighth avenue, who said that the Benson girl on Wednesday gave her a check to be cashed in Isidor Greenbaum's butcher shop. Just then Greenbaum himself reached the police station.

"I was called up Wednesday by a woman who said she was Mrs. Manley T. Sharpe of 488 St. Nicholas avenue," said Greenbaum excitedly, "and asked would I cash a check for $40. I said I couldn't yet, but I would give her $20 on it, and she said that would be all right and she would send the check around. Soon Mary Hines here came in with the check."

A nine year old boy, Billy Dietrich, of 25 Manhattan street, was sure that Mary Benson was the girl who had spoiled him with $40, with which he was running an errand on June 10 and who had shoved him into a doorway and wrested $36 away from him.

The girl cashier of Charles Farrington's bakery at 2533 Eighth avenue recognized the Benson girl as the one who tried some time ago to get her to cash a check for $60 on the Garfield bank. "The check was preposterous to look at."

The Benson girl kept saying in the police station that "some woman" gave all these checks to her. In the Harlem police court before Magistrate Harris she later pleaded guilty to a charge of attempting to pass a forged check on the druggist Yeager. She was held in $2000 bail for trial at general sessions. The check she sent to the druggist was drawn on the Philadelphia Trust company. Daniel Lazinsky of 488 St. Nicholas avenue, who is a neighbor of the Benson girl, said that he had seen the check and the check was in favor of Samuel Lazinsky. The indorsement was "D. Lazinsky."

A PUBLIC MORGUE

Is Greatly Needed Here in Lowell to Aid in Identification

A prominent citizen suggested to a representative of The Sun today that Lowell should have a public morgue, a place where the unidentified dead could be cared for until they had been identified or consigned to a final resting place. He said that the continual fighting among undertakers in this city of late had brought the matter to his attention and he felt that Lowell was rather backward in this respect. In almost every other city there is a public morgue. If a person is killed or drowned or drops dead in the street the body is taken to the morgue and later when identified the relatives of the deceased can have the body removed to the establishment of any undertaker which they may name.

It is a well known fact that the undertakers in this city, as well as other cities where there is no morgue, are constantly wrangling over the possession of bodies. The citizen who brought the matter to the attention of the writer said:

"Lowell should have a morgue for the convenience of the public and to make more certain the identification of the unknown dead."

KILLED BY TRAIN Aged Woman Victim of Accident

NEW YORK, July 23.—A woman about 70 years of age was killed by a westbound electric train on Bath avenue near Bay Twenty-fifth street, Bath Beach, at 7 o'clock last night.

The woman stepped onto the station platform to get out of the way of an automobile and her dress was caught by the third rail shoe of the last car of a four car train that was starting from the station. The rear wheels of the car ran over her neck.

It was some time before the woman could be got from under the train. Employees of Hook and Ladder 143 took off the brake shoe in order to get the body out.

Tightly clutched in the woman's hand was a letter addressed to Miss H. Van Ness, 178 South street, New York. She wore a gold Maltese cross on which was engraved "W. R. C., 1887." Her wedding ring was engraved "W. H. B. to M. J. M., 1889." She was dressed in black.

The dead woman was identified later by Mrs. John Lee of 2546 Harway avenue, Brooklyn, as Mrs. Jennie Bogart, widow of William Bogart. Mrs. Lee said that Mrs. Bogart's husband died about twelve years ago. About 1887 he was in the district attorney's office. He was once wealthy but lost most of his money in some financial deal about twenty years ago.

Mrs. Bogart's maiden name, according to Mrs. Lee, was Mackey. Mrs. Lee said that she was related to John Mackey, father of Clarence Mackey. Her old family homestead was on Second avenue in the neighborhood of Gramercy park. Mrs. Lee thought she had relatives living on Thirty-fifth street near Fifth avenue, Manhattan. Mrs. Lee did not know where Mrs. Bogart had been living recently, but said that she had been on a visit to her and was on her way home evidently when she met her death.

MOTORBOAT RACES NEWPORT, R. I., July 23.—Before a light southwest wind twelve boats of the Narragansett Bay Yacht Racing Association left for Oak Bluffs, Mass. The racers were divided into two classes, nine motorboats leaving two hours after the three sailing yachts tacked away from here. The day was an ideal one for the sailing craft.

PATTEN SAILS FOR EUROPE

NEW YORK, July 23.—James A. Patten, the erstwhile "cotton king," sailed for Europe on the steamer Kronland, accompanied by his partner, William H. Bartlett of Chicago, and William S. Clough of Boston.

He said: "The financial situation this fall depends on road crops. The oats crop is short, wheat is short, and hay is short. If corn falls the country might have a period of dull times. The entire corn belt has had a serious deficiency of moisture since March."

ONLY ONE CHILD BELIEVED TO BE IN SERIOUS CONDITION

WEBSTER, July 23.—Only one of the eight children who yesterday feasted on opium pills on a public dump was considered today to be in a dangerous condition. Victor Pepka, the six year old son of John Pepka, a Polish resident, had not regained consciousness this morning, 24 hours after indulging in the poison which he had mistaken for candy. Frank Mrowkowski, the 12 year old son of Michael Mrowkowski, who is one of the most seriously ill, is expected to recover. All the other children who partook of the poison were believed by the attending physicians to be out of danger today. The police are investigating the ownership of the pills.

Minister Bernard McGuire of Claremont will spend the next two months at the home of his aunt, Mrs. J. E. Crawford, on Charles street.

WOMAN SHOT DEAD

She Was Murdered in Her Home in Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, July 23.—Mrs. Eleanor Shepperd, the wife of Division Passenger Agent W. H. Shepperd of the Boston & Maine railroad, was shot and instantly killed by George C. Creley in her home on Park street in this city today. Probable insanity is given as the cause. Creley was captured by the police as he was leaving the house. Creley is the father of Mrs. Shepperd's first wife and made his home with the Shepperds at their residence here in this city. For the past month or so he has showed signs of insanity, and a week ago the Shepperds had him examined by local physicians. The physicians found that Creley's mind was affected and had ordered his removal to an asylum.

Mrs. Shepperd was preparing this forenoon to leave for her summer residence at Lake Pleasant, near Greenfield, Mass., and was packing a dress-suit case when Creley came into her

IN POLICE COURT

Small Docket Before Judge Pickman

This morning's session of the police court was very brief, and Judge Pickman quickly disposed of the cases. Joseph J. Weaver was before the court for the third time, charged with drunkenness. He pleaded guilty, and after a hearing before the court he was sentenced to serve a term at the state farm. James P. Moran was in for the second offense and was allowed to go upon the payment of a fine of $5. Joseph J. Spring was called upon to plead to a second offense of drunkenness, and said: "I am just a little mite in doubt as to whether I was drunk last night or not, but I suppose you might just as well enroll me as being drunk."

"No," said Clerk Savage, "that will not do. You have the right to plead guilty or not guilty. You are charged with being guilty of the second offense of drunkenness and I now ask you to plead whether you are guilty or not guilty to this charge."

"Well, I guess I am guilty," and he was fined $5.

Joseph Fortuna was charged with non-support of his wife and with drunkenness, and the testimony showed that Joseph during the year ending July 20th had given but $20 to the maintenance of his wife. He tried to explain to the court that his wife was somewhat in error, but Judge Pickman thought otherwise, and ordered him to serve a sentence of six months in the Lowell jail.

There were three other cases, and three first offenders were released.

MARKED DECLINE

IN THE EXPORTS DURING THE YEAR OF 1910

Details of the exports by principal articles during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1910, have just been prepared by the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor. They show in nearly all of the articles of natural production a marked decline in the exports of 1910 compared with earlier years. In certain manufactures the figures for 1910 are larger than in any preceding year, and the total for all manufactures will probably exceed any earlier year, though the compilation showing the total manufactures exported has not been completed.

The statement as arranged by the bureau states that the exports in the order of magnitude, by values. Cotton, of course, heads the list of principal articles exported. The total value of the exports of unmanufactured cotton during the fiscal year 1910 was 450 million dollars, against 481 million in the fiscal year 1909. Copper is second on the list, $312 million, against 300 million in 1909. Lumber is third, 221 million, against 210 million in 1909. Flour occupies the next position on the list, 46 1/2 million dollars, against 75 million dollars in 1909. Lead ranks sixth in the list of principal articles exported, 43 million dollars, against 40 million dollars in 1909. Tobacco, which holds seventh place in the list of articles exported, shows a larger total for 1910 than in any earlier year, the value being 38 million dollars against 35 million in 1909. Lumber, under the general title of "boards, planks and deals," amounts to 27 million dollars against 26 million in 1909. Upper leather shows a larger total in any earlier year, 27 million dollars against 22 million in 1909. Corn shows a total of 25 1/2 million dollars in value against $5 million in 1909. Bismuthous coal shows a larger total in 1910 than in any earlier year, 25 million dollars against 25 1/2 million in 1909, and lubricating oil also shows a larger total for 1910 than ever before, 21 million dollars against 20 million in 1909.

Of the 58 principal articles exported, enumerated in the bureau of statistics statement, which shows larger totals than in any earlier year are upper leather, boots and shoes, furs and skins, automobiles, electrical instruments, lubricating oil, tobacco and coal, both anthracite and bituminous. The articles in which the falling off is most striking are corn, wheat, flour and meat; wheat falling from 161 million dollars in 1909 to 147 million in 1910; corn, from 58 million dollars in 1909 to 55 million in 1910; flour, from 75 million dollars in 1909 to 46 1/2 million in 1910; beans and shoulders, from 26 million dollars in 1909 to 18 million in 1910; pickled pork, from 15 million dollars in 1909 to 14 1/2 million in 1910; beef, from 82 million dollars in 1909 to 78 1/2 million in 1910, and cattle, from 42 million dollars in 1909 to 42 million in 1910.

SCOTLAND YARD MEN COMING

This clue is the first of real promises which the authorities have secured since Crippen and his typist disappeared and the body of the woman believed by the police to be Belle Elmore, the actress wife of the physician, was unearthed in the cellar of the Crippen home.

REMARKABLE RIDE

Woman Covered Distance of 500 Miles on Horseback

NEW YORK, July 23.—Harriet Chalmers Adams is a little woman of frail figure in appearance, but she has just returned from a 500-mile horseback ride on the mountain trails of Hayti and the Dominican Republic, a jaunt of 17 days from dawn to twilight.

This little woman with the bright hazel eyes is famous the world over as an explorer, and she brought back as rare prizes from the "Black Republic" five specimens of the solomon, which is the ancestor of all the rodent tribe and insectore of the western hemisphere.

Two of the specimens are on their way to the national zoo at Washington, and Curator Dittmars has the other three for the Bronx park zoo. Mrs. Adams arrived on the Clyde line steamship Cherokee with her husband, Franklin Adams, of the international bureau of American republics at Washington. Mrs. Adams is known to most New Yorkers as a lecturer on South American republics and the West Indies at Carnegie hall.

This intrepid woman spent three years in the saddle travelling all over South America, visiting every one of the 21 republics and traversing each on horseback. On that excursion she got two baby wildcats in Patagonia and "brought them up" on the bottle, carrying them with her on her journey until she reached Buenos Ayres, where both "Billie" and "Kiddie" succumbed to the heat and died.

"This ancestor of the rodents is quite extinct on the continent," said Mrs. Adams in her apartment on West Forty-second street. "They were once prevalent on this continent, but have survived only on the island of Hayti. We got these specimens, the only ones ever brought into captivity, after a long search. We found them fast asleep in a hollow log on the north slope of the Cordillera range."

"They feed on nuts, tomatoes, and other insects and seeds in their native state, but we found them capable of appreciating a diversified bill of fare. I brought along from Hayti a lot of small birds on ice, and the solomon, with much relish, ate these after they had been run through the foreways crusher, used in mincing meats. They ate the birds bones and all. They seemed to like cabbages and minced lamb, for Mr. Adams couldn't find insects enough to sustain them."

The solomon looks like a big rat, with a miniature trunk like an elephant. This snout or trunk is prehensile, like the elephant's and the tapir's. It is two inches long, and one of the native names for the animal is "elephant," another being "bailant."

The length from tip of snout to end of the tail is two feet, the tail being 10 inches long. The forelegs look like small human hands, except that they are armed with long, tough nails or claws with which to break down the nests of ants, the staple of their diet.

The ears are large and floppy like those of the elephant. Like "elephant," the solomon sucks eggs, or will eat them raw served on a plate. Its cheeks are hairless and calloused, resembling the armadillo's, and its general appearance is that of the ant.

RAN AWAY TO WED TO SELL SCHOOLS MAYOR WHITE BOARD OF TRADE

Granddaughter of Wealthy Family Weds in London

PARIS, July 23.—A romantic runaway marriage of the old fashioned sort took place at a quiet church in Brompton, London, July 22, between Miss Helga Rutledge, daughter of one of the wealthy families of Philadelphia, and Francis Hendricks, a handsome and talented young American pianist, the pupil for five years of Leopold Godowsky, head of the conservatory at Vienna.

The bride is the daughter of Emil C. Rutledge, formerly of Philadelphia, who later resided with his wife's mother, Mrs. Cope, at 83 Avenue Bois de Boulogne, and who is now living in Brussels.

The first knowledge Mr. Rutledge had of the marriage was derived from the informal notice in a Paris newspaper. He displayed great indignation and challenged the newspaper's right to publish the announcement.

Miss Rutledge, who is only 18 years old, had at first, in intense fear of her father, she made the acquaintance of Hendricks, however, under the parental roof, where for many months he was warmly welcomed, until the attachment between him and the young girl became too evident. Then a complete change took place in the domestic atmosphere, and his further visits were forbidden.

Rutledge threatened to send his daughter to a Belgian convent if she did not absolutely relinquish the friendship of the musician. Seemingly she acquiesced, but late in June she made a pretext of her desire to visit a young brother to come to Paris, accompanied by a female cousin. They went shopping one day, and while she left the cousin in one part of the shop Miss Rutledge slipped away and proceeded to Versailles, where she met another woman friend, who had agreed to chaperone her.

Together they went by a roundabout way to London, and there the romance reached its climax.

Since he learned of the marriage her father has refused to have any communication whatever with her or even to permit her wardrobe or any letter to be sent from her former home, and he has also threatened, it is said, to disinherit her.

It is understood, however, that she is confined, now that she is married or is coming of age, to a large share of her maternal grandfather's fortune. Mr. and Mrs. Hendricks are posing their honeymoon in Paris, but they intend before long to go to Denver, where he will open a music studio.

LOUIS GRUNEWALD GIVES PLAYGROUND COMMITTEE USE OF PIANO

Thanks to Louis Grunewald, the Central street piano dealer, the playground committee has secured a piano for use in the folk-dancing. The piano has been placed in the basement of the Elliot school, to accommodate the South common girls. Mr. Grunewald sent the piano over yesterday and told the committee to use it during the rest of the playground season. When the season is over Mr. Grunewald will remove the piano so that the committee will not be put to any expense whatever.

An effort is being made to get another piano to use in the Morrill school basement, for the North common girls, and anyone who will come forward with a piano will receive the heartfelt gratitude of the committee. Volunteer pianists will also be thankfully welcomed.

The committee also asks for a number of old tennis or ping-pong racquets to be used by the children in playing tennis ball, ring toss, or other games of a similar nature which will also help out the work.

Supt. Whitcomb Speaks Of the Structures

Relative to the sale of school houses as already recommended by the committee on lands and buildings, Supt. Arthur K. Whitcomb of the school department, speaking of the proposed sales, says:

"The least important of the school buildings seems to me, is the old Hadley street school, in Middlesex village. At one time, its one room was used, but in 1895 the four-room building was opened and since then the old building has been idle. It might be well enough for the city to hold onto it so long as it doesn't need repairs, but when it does then it should be sold, or turned back to the heirs of the donor of the property, for it was originally given with the understanding that the lot was to be used for school purposes only. It is gradually falling into decay, and there seems to be little chance now that it will ever be called upon to shelter pupils.

"The second least important school is the one in Fayette street. The possibility of the city needing to use that for school purposes in the future is very slight. The primary schools now in existence in that locality are not growing any. The building which is of four rooms, hasn't been used for a number of years. I would recommend that it be sold.

"The building in School street, near its junction with Pawtucket street, is well built; it stands high in a good lot and it is apparently in good condition. It has not been used for 10 or 12 years. When the Bartlett school was built there was considerable difficulty experienced in filling it, and it was a source of considerable disappointment that more scholars did not attend. This condition obtained for a few years, and then a steady growth revealed itself. Now the school is crowded. Six of the rooms last year had over 60 pupils each, and one teacher was supplied there to take pupils into the corridors where lessons were heard. It is evident that this school will within a few years overflow, and when it does the School street house, which is excellently adapted to receive them, will come in very handy. I would object, under the conditions now holding in that district, to the sale of the School street building.

"The old Moody school, at the corner of High and East Merrimack streets, originally a brick building, with a large shed, was used as a manual training school, before the erection of the present high school annex, in Paige street. Recently it has been used only for a night school. Last year there were four of the rooms used for this purpose, and seven teachers and a principal were there. It is not likely that it will soon, if ever, be used for a grammar school. At the present time we are renting two rooms to the Immaculate Conception parish for a day school. If by the Immaculate Conception parish would buy this building, and promise that we could use it for evening school purposes, then I should recommend the sale. Unless some such arrangement could be effected, or something done which might take care of those who would attend the night schools in that section, I should oppose it."

MISS VAN ALEN DECLARES SHE IS NOW A RESIDENT OF FRANCE

BOSTON, July 23.—When Miss May Van Alen, daughter of James J. Van Alen of Newport, arrived in Boston on the Zealand a few days ago, she surprised the customs inspectors and her fellow-passengers by declaring that she was now a resident of France and here only as a visitor. As a consequence of the declaration, she was permitted to bring in a considerable quantity of baggage without paying duty on it.

There were fully a dozen trunks in the lot, and they were filled with gowns of Paris make.

It is four years since Miss Van Alen was abroad last, and she says that she now has a permanent home in Paris.

Miss May Van Alen is the elder daughter and the only unmarried child of James J. Van Alen. She has an independent fortune of $75,000 a year, which she inherited from her mother, who was the eldest daughter of Mrs. William Astor.

Miss Van Alen has often been reported to be engaged. Her friends, however, do not believe she will ever marry after the tragic death in 1902 of Robert Redding Remington, whose engagement to her was broken off for some mysterious reason.

The engagement was announced in the spring of that year and arrangements were made for the marriage. In August, however, the engagement was broken and August 18 Remington walked into the Newport reading room, where society men gathered, and shot himself twice. The mystery has never been cleared.

POLO PLAYER IS ACCUSED OF RUNNING AWAY WITH $1000

LEWISTON, Me., July 23.—Jack Fahey, a polo player of national repute, last year captain of the Worcester team, and "Spit" Mahoney, a local sporting man, formerly a boxer and more recently a promoter of boxing matches, were taken to Portland yesterday by Deputy U. S. Marshal Fred E. Stevens, charged with fraudulent use of the mails in connection with a fake celebration at Canton, last Labor day.

The men were arrested late Thursday evening at the Eagles club rooms on Main street by Deputy Stevens, assisted by Sturges Deputies Howard, Goss, Beaulieu and Hayward. They made no effort to escape and Mahoney was not even injured, but released on his promise to leave the station Saturday noon to take the train, a promise he kept.

Deputy Stevens also had a warrant for John Crowley, but he ran upstairs to the roof, thence to the roof of an adjoining building, where he hid and was later taken out of town in an automobile.

A big celebration was arranged for and attended by a big crowd at Canton last Labor day, but after the crowd had gathered and paid their money the promoters jumped into an automobile and departed, taking all the money with them and falling entirely to keep their part of the bargain to furnish the baseball games, horse races, balloon ascension, athletic sports, etc., which they had advertised.

It is alleged that they got away with about $1000. Mahoney and Crowley are alleged to have been the managers of the affair, though different names were used in connection with it.

WILLIAM P. WHITE

Resigns as Chief Executive of City of Lawrence

LAWRENCE, July 23.—Mayor William P. White, who on Wednesday last week was sentenced by Judge Schofield in the superior court to three years in the house of correction and a fine of $1000 on the charge of conspiracy to bribe ex-Alderman Xavier Lagondrie in seeking to remove James A. Hamilton, the head of the fire department, tendered his resignation as chief executive of this city yesterday afternoon.

City Solicitor Murphy's statement of Thursday to the effect that the mayor would be governed in his course by the advice of his counsel, ex-Atty. Gen. Parker and Michael L. Sullivan of Salem, together with the opinion of the city solicitor on the mayor's legal status, had paved the way for this announcement, so it occasioned less of a surprise than it otherwise would have been. Mayor White's personal counsel, Attorney Sullivan, were in consultation with the mayor at the jail yesterday morning and again in the afternoon. At the conclusion of the later interview it was given out that the mayor had tendered his resignation.

Mayor White's letter is addressed to the city council and asks that the resignation take effect at once. In it he said:

"To the Members of the City Council of Lawrence.

"Gentlemen: I have become convinced that all considerations affecting my personal interests or rights must yield to those of the city of Lawrence and its people, to whom my every sentiment continues absolutely loyal.

"Puts City's Interests First

"Under the conditions which now overwhelm me I deem it my duty to resign the office of mayor, and while I await with confident hope that vindication and exculpation to which I truly believe I am entitled, for I solemnly declare that I have not consciously or intentionally been guilty of any of the wrongs now charged against me, I deem it my duty to return the commission, which, under happier aspects, my fellow citizens conferred upon me.

"It is manifest that I cannot now perform the duties which may hereafter require of me, and I cannot suffer the interests of the city to be so jeopardized or embarrassed. Regard for my own rights and reputation, consideration for those who are nearer to me than all else in the world, make it incumbent upon me to devote energy and resource of my life to the refutation of the charges seemingly established against me; but the good name of the city of Lawrence shall not, by any act of mine, be involved in this struggle which I must make fearless and alone.

"Respect for the law, that obedience which I must yield to its decrees, forbids my protesting against its present penalties, except through that review which the law itself securely assures me.

"It shall be my inflexible and ceaseless purpose to renounce anyone who have heretofore trusted and honored me that their confidence has not been misplaced or betrayed.

Resignation Effective at Once

"I cannot continue to hold the office heretofore intrusted to me until my fellow citizens shall have had further opportunity to declare or withhold their confidence. I entertain the hope that the city and its institutions shall not be victims of false friends, and that I may not suffer through misadventure, by which I know that I have been grievously wronged as man and magistrate.

"I further dare to hope that just men will discern that to interpose or irresponsible denunciation, under which I now, perhaps necessarily, suffer.

"The community, the city, and her people must, as I must, await the final judgment of the law.

"With profound regret and for the reasons which I have stated, but in the present and imperative duty, I do now resign the office of mayor of the city of Lawrence, with the request that the same shall take immediate effect, and I respectfully ask that appropriate action be immediately taken thereon.

"With great respect, I am obediently yours,

"William P. White,
"Mayor of Lawrence."

"Lawrence, Mass., July 23, 1910."

White's Action Commended

The resignation of Mayor White clears a situation which was without precedent in this state and thereby eliminated the possibility of the protracted legal tangle. There was a sentiment manifested last night that the wisest course had been followed by the mayor so far as the interests of the city are concerned.

When Mayor White was first committed to the house of correction and free access for conference was granted to city officials, it was contended that he would not be deemed as he had been committed for misdemeanor and not a felony, for which alone the statute provides disqualification. The action of the jail authorities, however, in shutting down on this liberty gave a different aspect to affairs, and it is generally regarded that with these restrictions in effect the city solicitor was satisfied that "inability" to perform the duties of mayor, in the meaning of the statutes and the city charter resulted. In that event it becomes the duty of the city council to elect a successor.

May Help White's Cause

City Solicitor Murphy, when seen after the announcement of the mayor's decision, declined to make a statement other than to say that after his interview of Thursday the development needed no comment.

In the discussion of the mayor's action last night it was suggested that his surprise might be regarded as a factor. In his favor the city government obtained a stay of execution of sentence. The motion of his counsel for the stay was for the time being overruled by Judge Schofield after the jury had rendered its verdict. He said, however, that this ruling would not be final and that he would hear counsel again on the question. So every effort of the mayor's attorneys will now be made to secure a stay if possible, as arguments on the exceptions taken at the trial will not be reached before the supreme bench earlier than November.

Statutes May Bar Jordan

It now rests with Pres. Jordan of the board of aldermen, who has been performing the duties of acting mayor, to call the branches of the city government together to act on the resignation and elect a successor to the mayor.

Pres. Jordan's friends have hoped that the low governing such a situation might be construed so as to permit of his election to the mayoralty, but lawyers are pretty well agreed that this is not possible. While the city charter provides that a member of the city council may be elected mayor, and that two members of the aldermen shall be elected overseers of the poor, such provisions are apparently precluded by the statute that no member of the city council shall be elected to a salaried position of the city during the term for which he was chosen.

After the resignation of Mayor White has been accepted, which it is conceded will be, it will then be up to the two bodies of the city council to set a date for a joint session for the election of a successor. There are already four candidates in the field and an interesting contest is promised. The candidates to date are Alderman Jordan, Alderman John Tobin, Dr. John T. Cahill and John P. Ryan. Michael F. Cronin has also been mentioned as a probable candidate.

Starts Movement to Have Clear Strip of Land Open

Between Highway and the River —Land Owners Will Be Asked to Give Their Land So That the View of River Will Be Unobstructed

If the tentative plans which are now under consideration by a special committee of the Lowell board of trade, composed of James J. McLaughlin, treasurer of the town of Merrimack, chairman, John H. Murphy, secretary of the board of trade, secretary ex-officio, Thales P. Hall, William E. Badger, Dudley L. Page, Harold A. Varnum and Harvey M. Greene, are carried into actual effect, the new state highway along the north bank of the Merrimack river will be the most beautiful boulevard in this part of the country. The idea of the committee is to arrange matters so that there will be no buildings erected upon the land, on the bank of the river, and thus allow a complete view of the natural scenery along the river.

The new road if present plans are carried out, will start at Centralville bridge in the city of Lowell, and continue along the river bank to a point nearly opposite the old Lowell and Lawrence street railway turn-around the big bend in the river, then strike across the tracks into the First street extension, and thence along the north side of the electric tracks to a point just beyond the Methuen line, and thus have the river bank along the entire distance retained open, and forever barred for building purposes.

The board of trade and many of the citizens along the line of the new highway believe that the river bank scenery, largely natural, and certainly very beautiful, should be preserved for all time. That alone will make the highway one of the most attractive drives in the state.

The committee held a very important meeting yesterday afternoon, at 4:30 o'clock in the rooms of the board of trade in the Central block, and at considerable length went over the plans relative to the scheme. Several land owners have already offered to give their land free. The other owners will be approached later and thus it is likely that all the land along the river bank will be secured and forever kept open to afford an unobstructed view of the river.

STRUCK BY TRAIN Boston Boy Was Hurlled To Death

BOSTON, July 23.—The third death by accident in the West Roxbury district in the last two days, was that of Thomas John Kevell, the 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. Kevell of 3512 Washington street, Jamaica Plain, who was killed about 3:45 yesterday afternoon by a locomotive on the New York and H. R. R. near the Forest Hills station.

The little fellow, with three companions, Thomas Shea, 9 years old, 11 years old, of Lotus place, and William Bentley of Rosmore road, Jamaica Plain, started south of Forest Hills station, where the Dedham branch tracks form a junction with the main line tracks of the railroad. The New York express was approaching the junction and Kevell's companions ran across the tracks.

One of them shouted to Kevell, "Look out for the train!" He answered: "I'll get across all right." He evidently misjudged the distance and speed of the express train, and was struck by the locomotive and thrown 40 feet.

The train was stopped and employees of the railroad who were near ran to the child to find him dead. His head was terribly crushed.

Mrs. Kevell when seen after the accident, said that she had cautioned her son not to go to the pond. He was a pupil in the third grade of the Margaret Fuller school on Glen road.

BIGAMY CHARGE MAN PLACED UNDER ARREST AT BROCKTON

BROCKTON, July 23.—Patrick F. Conley, aged 38, a street railway conductor was arrested here yesterday by Inspector Morey and Patrolman McCarthy on a warrant alleging bigamy. Mrs. Alice T. Boylan-Conley of 423 Broadway, South Boston, is the complainant. She claims to be his first and only legal wife.

Conley was in police court last Wednesday on charges of assault brought by Edna Hatch Conley of this city, who claims to be Conley's wife. Mrs. Conley No. 1 heard of the case and came to Brockton yesterday and secured a warrant for the arrest of her alleged husband.

She claims she was married to him May 1, 1896, at the Gate of Heaven church, South Boston, by Rev. Nathaniel J. Merritt. Conley, she claims, was employed in the freight office of the N. Y. N. H. & H. R. R. They lived at Atlantic, South Boston and Dorchester, she says. According to her story, she left Conley in 1900 and later attempted to get a divorce. The bill was contested by Conley and was finally dismissed.

Mrs. Conley No. 2 left her husband some time ago. Annulment proceedings are now pending. She claims to have married Conley April 24, 1897, at Providence, the clergyman being Rev. Alexander Mitchell. She declares that Conley stated he had never before married, but later admitted that he had been married, but his wife was deceased. One child was born of this union. Both women claimed to have left Conley because of cruel and abusive treatment.

DIAMOND NOTES

The Lynn item has the following:

"Like President Ed Arundel of the Lawrence club, James J. Gray, owner and manager of the Lowell club of the New England league, has allowed himself to be duped by a hard luck story to cash a $25 check to which the name of Matthew McCann, president of the Lynn club, was forged. Both checks are almost identical and the method of getting them cashed the same. The truth dawned on Mr. Gray when the check was returned a few days ago to him accompanied by a protest that Mr. McCann has no account in the bank to which it was made payable. He immediately sat down and wrote the following to Matt:

Lowell, July 17, 1910.

Dear Sir: A check for twenty-five dollars ($25) cashed by me has been returned by my bank as no funds were on hand to meet it. What disposition do you want made with the check? A reply by return mail will greatly oblige Yours truly,

James J. Gray.

THREE GREAT SPHERE WALLOPERS WHO ARE FURNISHING INTERESTING RACE

CLEVELAND, July 23.—The race for the batting honors of the American league is one of the closest ever held in the history of the organization. A month ago it looked as if Napoleon Lajoie, Cleveland's great second sacker, would make a runaway race of it. But since then Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker have crept up on him, and now the race is an interesting one. According to the latest figures, Lajoie is leading the league with a percentage of .304. Ty Cobb is next with .303 and Tris Speaker third with an average of .340. All three are wallowing the ball at a great rate. In the National it is anybody's race. At present Paskert of the Cincinnati Reds is leading the procession with a percentage of .347, with Catcher Graham of Boston second with .324. Hans Wagner is away down the list with an average of .286. It is the first time in many years that the only Honus has been so far down in the batting race at midseason.

Woods should sell Mr. Carr ice from the cart at the nearest point to Mr. Carr's house that her cart stopped. After the matter was apparently settled the parties left the court room. In the corridor, however, there was a wrangle. Mr. Carr insisted that the cart should stop opposite his house, while counsel for the defendant wanted Mr. Carr to go about 250 feet from his house. Counsel for Mr. Carr accused the other side of quibbling and all interested went back into the court room, where the matter was again brought to the attention of the court. The result of the last understanding was that delivery should be made in front of Mr. Linn's house in Cedar street.

TWO VIEWS OF ERNEST BARRY WHO IS AFTER WORLD'S SCULLING TITLE

ERNEST BARRY

LONDON, July 23.—Great interest is being taken here in the efforts of Ernest Barry, England's champion sculler, to wrest the world's title from Dick Armstrong, the New Zealander, 1908-1909. Barry is the greatest sculler in the world, and Armstrong is the greatest sculler in the world. They will meet in a sculling bout on the Thames next month. According to all accounts, the match will be a close one.

TEXTILE MILLS

A Number in New England Will Shut Down

BOSTON, July 23.—Many of the textile mills in New England will be shut down for a week or more between today and August 31. The Cocheo cotton mills of Dover, N. H., owned by the Pacific mills of Lawrence and the print works in Dover will be closed tomorrow until August 1. The Cocheo plant will also be stopped from August 26 until September 6. The cotton mills in Dover employ 2200 operatives. The Pepperell cotton mills of Biddeford, Me., and those of the York corporation of Saco will be closed from July 30 until August 8 and probably a week in September. The two corporations employ about five thousand persons. Some of the Lowell mills will be idle from August 20 to Sept. 1. The silk mills of William Skinner & Sons at Holyoke which shut down for a week early in July will close tomorrow until August 1. In Rochester, N. H., the Gonic woolen mills will be shut down tomorrow noon for three weeks. It is understood that some of the Fall River cotton mills will be idle next week.

CLOSED FOR TWO WEEKS
PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 22.—The Riverside mills, the largest of the American Woolen Co.'s mills in this state, will close tomorrow for two weeks and the National and Providence woolen mills will close as soon as they complete their selling ends. These mills employ together about five thousand operatives. The mill of the Kent Manufacturing Co. at Centerville will close down tonight for a week and the Livingstone worsted mill at Washington will shut down its weaving department tomorrow for a week. The dullness that always obtains between seasons is given as the cause.

DEATHS
McNULTY—Catherine McNulty died yesterday at the city hospital, and her remains were removed to the undertaking rooms of Charles H. Molloy & Sons. She leaves to mourn, her two sisters, Mrs. Nellie Houle of this city, and Margaret of Ireland.
A baby boy arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. Greene on Andover street Wednesday morning. Mr. Greene was formerly a well known Boston and Northern conductor.
Mr. Frank T. Eastham, the popular young child of John H. Burke's market, 22 Coburn street, left Lowell yesterday for Newport, R. I., where he will spend his vacation.

BOXING GOSSIP
Langford and Kaufman have signed an agreement to box six rounds at the National A. C. of Philadelphia next month. The men will receive separate guarantees, it is said, and the fight will be on its merits, not a frame-up, as the Langford-Kaufman affair turned out to be. Langford and Kaufman were matched to fight twenty rounds in San Francisco last June when Gov. Gillett stopped all glove fighting in California, so that their meeting in Quakerville will probably stir up renewed interest. If there is no stalling and the fight on the dead level, as the winner if one is produced will be in an excellent position to demand a fight with Jack Johnson.

ESCAPED LUNATIC
REPORTED AS HAVING BEEN SEEN IN SEVERAL PLACES
WILTON, N. H., July 23.—Charles F. Terrill, who escaped from officers by jumping from a swiftly moving train near Amherst, Tuesday morning, has been reported as having been seen in several places, and the officers here are following up every clue to locate him. Missing articles were found in his possession, and in one case a large sum of money which was stolen from Station Agent E. A. Danforth was found in his hands and the theft admitted.

Tuesday Terrill's father-in-law, Robert Mason of Lyndeboro, had him arrested. Dr. Staples of Framingham and J. E. Higgins of Wilton were called and pronounced him insane and recommended his removal to the asylum at Concord. Accordingly Chairman of Selectmen Senter and Officer Thomas Cooky of Wilton started with him, and as the train was speeding between Amherst and Baboosic, Terrill was allowed to go to the lavatory, and the next the officers knew he was jumping through the window.

100 YEARS OLD
SPRINGFIELD, Vt., July 23.—Mrs. Matilda Whitney, the oldest citizen of Springfield, will pass her 100th birthday today at the home of her son, Rollin W. Whitney. Mrs. Whitney will receive many testimonials of the best wishes of her friends in this and surrounding towns. She is in fairly good health, retains her memory and faculties to a remarkable degree and is entertaining in conversation. Mrs. Whitney was born in Springfield on a farm bordering the Connecticut river, a son, John Walker, lived in Charlestown until 1796, when he married Miss Philena Spencer and moved to Concord, N. H. In 1805 they returned to Springfield. Mrs. Whitney's mother died in 1869, when 93 years old. Mrs. Whitney was the seventh of a family of 11 children. One of these lived to be nonagenarian, but passed the 90 years mark and left but three of the remaining lived to be over 70.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1909 was

16,828

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Plottie, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1910. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

It is now up to the park department to show what it can do in the line of development. The citizens want quick results.

The latest idea of providing recreation for the masses is to place benches on large bridges passing through cities. Boston has lines of benches on either side the bridges over the Charles and Mystic rivers. Our bridges are not wide enough to allow of this.

SHOULD BE SMOOTH PAVED

Why not smooth pave Worthen street between Market and Merrimack streets where it is much used for heavy traffic? It is paved with cobble stones, and as it has a hilly grade on either side the question of sanitation is one that may well be considered. It is impossible to keep the street clean. Besides, the noise of heavy teams passing there actually disturbs business on either side the street. It is impossible to use the telephone or to carry on a conversation except by shouting while a heavy wagon is passing.

This portion of the street is so near city hall that it may be considered a part of the square. For that reason, if for no other, it should be smooth paved same as Merrimack street. The cost would be trifling but the improvement would be worth a great deal.

THE CITY ALMSHOUSE

It is an old saying that "seeing is believing." The charity board evidently realized the force of this truth when it invited a number of newspapermen to look over the farm for the purpose of judging of what excellent work is being done and how much certain improvements are needed. We are now more strongly than ever of the opinion that the board should have an appropriation large enough to make the needed improvements and that if forced to pay the $4000 bill due a state institution for some years, it will be obliged to stint the inmates of the farm to an extent wholly unwarranted. We regret that the appropriation committee was not of the inspecting party on Thursday afternoon, as, if the members once saw for themselves what the board of charity is doing and what improvements are needed at the city hospital, we surmise there would be no more controversy over the needed appropriations.

The present board of charity is doing splendid work for the city and the city's poor by expending the money appropriated to the very best advantage at every point, by making the inmates work where this is practicable and thus saving certain expenses that would otherwise be imperative. One of the first and most urgent needs of the hospital and in fact of the entire city is a contagious hospital.

Dr. McCarty, chairman of the board, has in mind a plan for such a hospital, a plan in which a single wing might be built to begin with and other wings added as necessity might require. The plan is quite feasible and could be put in operation at an outlay of about $10,000 to begin with. There would always be enough cases to warrant the employment of a nurse and an attendant. Were such a hospital available not only the contagious cases at the farm but many of those throughout the city could there be isolated and properly cared for. In this manner the death rate might be reduced and many lives saved.

Mayor Meehan is very strongly in favor of a contagious hospital. He quotes the law which is positively mandatory with a penalty for non-compliance. How has the city evaded this law? Simply by sending the contagious cases to the Lowell hospital and paying for them. That does not comply with the law as the number of cases that can be sent there is very small, and if there was a contagious hospital to which primary cases of scarlet fever, diphtheria and tuberculosis could be sent, the spread of these diseases would thus be checked and new cases, sometimes small epidemics, prevented.

The city farm buildings viewed from the outside look like a prison as there is not a single piazza on any of the structures. There is a projection on one side of the women's hospital extending outward about the width of a good veranda. The charity board wants a piazza built on top of this for the accommodation of the women. It would enable them to get to the outer air; some of the cripples could be taken there in their wheel chairs and in case of fire all on that floor could be assembled there for protection. There should be several piazzas on the buildings, some for sun exposure and some for shade. The growing belief in the efficacy of fresh air and sunshine as promoters of health might have a practical application at the farm if there were piazzas on which the patients could be given an outing under proper supervision.

The need of an elevator is quite imperative. There are a lot of women in a three-story building and they cannot be taken out except by helping them individually down three flights of stairs. It is a still more difficult task to take a helpless woman up three flights of stairs. This difficulty can be completely overcome by putting in a small elevator which could be run by an electric motor. This, like the contagious hospital, is an improvement the need of which nobody can deny.

As to the change in the name of the institution, we believe the recommendation is a good one. The change is advocated in order to remove so far as possible the stigma of pauperization conveyed by the name "city farm" or "city hospital" which is but another way of naming the poor house. However old or decrepit the inmates may be they still are sensitive to their position, and except those whose minds are enfeebled by age, they very generally feel the humiliation of being a city charge. Their sensitiveness could be noticed as the party passed through on Thursday. Those who were spoken to evinced a feeling of satisfaction or even of pride at being recognized in a kindly way while some of those who were not spoken to appeared actually to wince under the supposed slight.

This shows that the inmates are sensitive, and while the institution would still be an almshouse maintained by the city those not directly acquainted with that fact would not find any indication of it in the designation "Chelmsford Street Hospital." As the change would not cost anything it is to be hoped that the city council will make this concession to the good judgment of the charity board and its respect for the feelings of the inmates.

SEEN AND HEARD

The average man doesn't improve his time when he lingers with his watch.

Even a consistent temperance advocate may kick on the amount of his water tax.

A suffragette says the average woman's faith in her husband is fully two-thirds pretense.

When you hear an undertaker growling about the increased cost of living he is probably trying to boost his business.

A soft head isn't any use, even for a pin cushion.

Experience teaches a man to fail again in a different way.

People are not anxious to prove what heaven is by a visit to it.

A NATIVE

She was pretty as a picture in her bathing suit of blue. 'Twas a costume most becoming. And the maiden knew it, too. But she plunged into the water with a very graceful dive. Without shrieking for help. Who would rescue her alive.

She could float upon the billows, And beneath the surface stay. For three minutes in succession. Like a porpoise she would play in the water while her friends. Maidens shrieked and ran in fear. And she even wet her tresses. And got bubbles in her ear.

Much we marveled at the maiden. Who so different seemed to be From the other water babies. Who went splashing in the sea. She went swimming just for swimming.

For she dearly loved the water. Then we found she was a native. Not a city resort.

Science urges that the house fly, he given its proper name of typhoid fly, since it is in the business of spreading typhoid germs and other drugs of nastiness. This wholeness is in fact the most dangerous of pests. Its presence in proof of filth wherever about, since it breeds amid stench and revels in all manner of germ diseases. Let this unclean insect be known by its proper name. The gullible scientists of past centuries were hoodwinked by its familiar ways, never realizing that the presence of the fly was a signal of danger and a proof of uncleanliness. Winged typhoid is what it is, so call it the typhoid fly and banish it.

Do not eat food that has had the contaminating touch of the fifth-covered feet of flies. Do not breed flies by permitting filth to remain on your premises. The fly is a reproach to mankind. Man has harbored it in his home and thus preserved it from extinction by the cleansing processes of frost. Accept the typhoid fly for what it is and enlist in the war of extermination against it. —Chicago News.

St. Louis claims to have the oldest beginner in the ministry in Colonel F. J. Hart, who is 65. He is a veteran of the Civil war and was installed as pastor of the Congregational church there recently. He has made a good deal of money in mining and some time ago became much interested in the Young Men's Christian association and other charities, and decided that it would be a fine thing to round out his life as a minister.

Dr. Ephraim Miller, professor of mathematics and astronomy in the University of Kansas, holds the record for the longest continuous service of any teacher in Kansas. He has taught every year for sixty-two years. He began teaching when fourteen years of age, and by this means made his way through Allegheny college in Pennsylvania. He has taught in law, science and in the University of Kansas for forty years, having first held the position of supervisor of city schools, and then, four years later, being elected to the chair of mathematics in the university. Nineteen years ago the chair of astronomy was established and Professor Miller began his work of interesting Kansas youths in the heavenly bodies.

The Baldwin prize for the best essay on municipal topics, offered by the National Municipal League, was awarded this year to Oswald Ryan, an undergraduate student of Harvard university. Honorable mention was made by the judges of the essays of E. Clyde Robbins of the state university of Iowa and Rexford E. Hooper of Harvard. There were thirty-eight essays in all submitted, the subject being "The Commission Form of Government." The judges were Prof. John A. Fairlie of the university of Illinois; Elliot H. Goodwin, secretary of the National Civic Service League; and Dante Barton, one of the editors of the Kansas City Times-Star. Ryan, the winner of the prize, is the holder of the scholarship of the Indianapolis club.

Miss Cleghorn of Sheffield, England, has just been elected vice president of the National Union of Teachers. The union has about 67,000 members, the majority of whom are women. Miss Cleghorn is head mistress of Sheffield school and is on the consulting committee of the board of education.

BOSTON FISHERMEN

TO REMAIN AT T WHARF THREE YEARS MORE

BOSTON, July 23.—T wharf will continue to be the centre of Boston's fishing industry for three years at least, as the new wharf and warehouses, planned for construction adjoining the Commonwealth dock, recently acquired by the New Haven road, are not expected to be completed before 1913, if then.

"The matter is now in the hands of the surveyors and engineers," said President Bernard J. Rollwell of the chamber of commerce yesterday. "The plan of relocating the headquarters of the fishing industry of this city has been apparent for some time, and the chamber of commerce co-operated with the fish dealers association in securing the new location. The new warehouses, which will be constructed of concrete, will afford an opportunity for the fish in a more sanitary fashion than is now possible.

"The necessary funds for the construction of the warehouses have been subscribed by several thousand dollars, and work on these will be begun as soon as the preliminary work of dredging and wharf construction is done.

"I hardly expect to see the fish dealers in their new home prior to the summer of 1913, if then, as the work is a rather difficult nature."

The general opinion among the T wharf dealers is in favor of a removal. They feel their present premises are entirely inadequate for the volume of business, and desire more sanitary surroundings.

AT LAKEVIEW PARK

The De Espe family in a trampoline bar and casting act will furnish the attraction at Lakeview park every afternoon and evening next week. Like the performances of the present week, the act will be free.

The family is comprised of two men, two women and a boy. They are leaders among circus acrobats of the country and have astonished hundreds of audiences by their daring cleverness. Their bodies seem to be made of rubber, for they gracefully twist them into all kinds of shapes and into most unique positions. Their speed and precision are also remarkable.

Two in the party transform themselves into shapes so that they can be easily thrown and are tossed about by the other three, who, balancing themselves on their toes on the trampoline bars with heads downward, catch them. The boy of the family speeding through the air and being caught in peculiar positions is especially graceful.

This is the first season that the De Espe family has appeared at Lakeview park. By arrangement with the Boston & Northern Street Railway Co. no admission will be charged for any of the De Espe's performances.

BOY CZAREVITCH

Has Got a Motorboat From America.

DETROIT, Mich., July 23.—The Grand Duke Alexis, eldest son and heir apparent to the czar of Russia, is going to have an American made motor boat. It has just been purchased here by Captain Ivan de Ravensky, formerly of the Russian navy, acting at the instance of the Russian volunteer fleet's officers, who will present the boat to the six-year-old czarvitch. The boat is sixteen feet long and is made entirely of nickel. It is said to be so simple in design that a child can handle it. Captain de Ravensky also bought several other motor boats from a Detroit firm for the use of the officers of the Russian volunteer fleet. The boat is the best in the world.

AMES AIRSHIP

Tests of It Began at Annapolis

ANNAPOLIS, Md., July 23.—Tests of the "Ames aero cycle," as the airship invented by Congressman Butler Ames of Massachusetts will probably be called, began at the Naval academy yesterday.

Before a naval board the workings of the machine were demonstrated by its inventor. It is not the intention to put the machine to actual flight during the tests, but it will be thoroughly tried out with regard to the horsepower required to lift it, and the size of the propeller blades necessary to drive it. The indications are that the tests will be made in secret.

Mr. Ames' invention is an entirely new thing in aerial navigation both in appearance and theory of propulsion. Two large spool-like discs suspended on either side of a power platform revolve with a motion that is forward and upward, while the forward drive is got by a regular aerial propeller in the rear.

In stating his theory of flying yesterday, Mr. Ames described it as similar to an "upblast" pitcher's ball, the revolution of the spools being similar to the twist given by the pitcher's fingers, while the propeller takes the place of the throw of the pitcher's arm.

The testing of this theory is to be done while the airship remains tied to the specially constructed platform, the retaining ropes being loosened only enough to ascertain the lifting power.

COURTED BY MAIL

Dalton Man Goes to the Coast to Wed

OAKLAND, Cal., July 23.—Mrs. A. M. Atwood, a wealthy widow of New York city, and A. H. Foster of Dalton, Mass., who first met a week ago Sunday at the Metropolitan hotel, made a hasty trip to San Rafael yesterday morning and were quietly married. The nuptial knot was tied after several weeks of courtship by correspondence, and the newly wedded couple, both of whom are well advanced in years, left for a honeymoon trip, with Santa Cruz as their objective point.

The correspondence that followed began while Mrs. Atwood was in Los Angeles recently. She placed an advertisement for proposals with a matrimonial agency of that city, and Mr. Foster's response came with 61 others. Mrs. Atwood selected that No. 53, from a man she had formerly known was on his way when she accepted Mr. Foster's proposal and agreed to meet him here for the ceremony. She said that she accepted Mr. Foster because he didn't smoke.

According to her own statement, Mrs. Atwood is worth about $100,000. Invested in real estate and stocks. Upon the couple's return from San Rafael a will was drawn up by attorneys in which Mrs. Atwood provided $50,000 for Mr. Foster in case of her demise. The balance of her fortune will be distributed among her relatives.

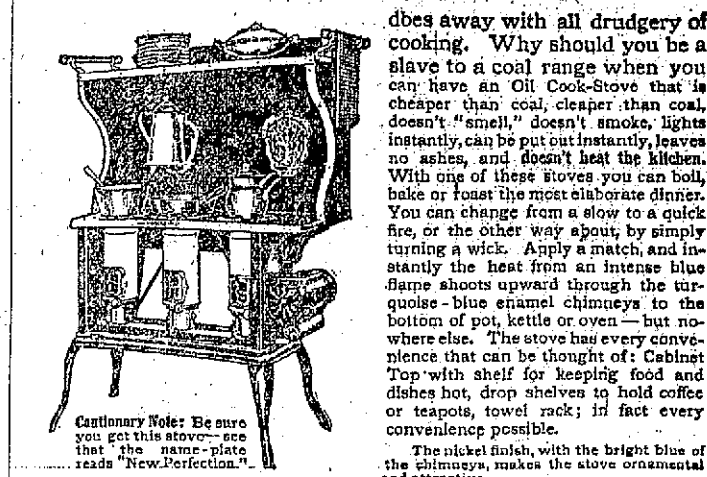

She then paid the expenses of Mr. Foster's courtship, hotel and sundry bills of both herself and husband, bought him some new clothes, and then said:

"I wonder if the skeptical ones will persist in declaring that marriage by correspondence is a failure?"

Think of Last Summer—

You can remember days when the heat inside your kitchen was so great you could hardly bear it. With the right stove you would have made a better hostess. Save your health. Don't put up with the drudgery of a coal range. You can have a clean, cool, pleasant kitchen. The

New Perfection Oil Cook-stove

Does away with all drudgery of cooking. Why should you be a slave to a coal range when you can have an Oil Cook-stove that is cheaper than coal, cleaner than coal, doesn't "smell," doesn't smoke, lights instantly, can be put out instantly, leaves no ashes, and doesn't heat the kitchen. With one of these stoves you can boil, bake or roast the most elaborate dinner. You can change from a slow to a quick fire, or the other way about, by simply turning a wick. Apply a match, and instantly the heat from an intense blue flame shoots upward through the turquoise-blue enamel chimneys to the bottom of pot, kettle or oven—but nowhere else. The stove has every convenience that can be thought of. Cabinet Top with shelf for keeping food and dishes hot, drop shelves to hold coffee or teapots, towel rack; in fact every convenience possible.

The nickel finish, with the bright blue of the chimneys, makes the stove ornamental and attractive.

Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners; the 2 and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without Cabinet.

BUREAU OF MINES

ESTABLISHED BY ACT OF CONGRESS ON JULY 1

The act establishing a bureau of mines in the department of the interior became effective July 1. As originally approved, the law contemplated the transfer of the entire geologic branch of the United States geological survey, the mine accident investigations, fuel investigations, structural materials investigations, the entire personnel, property and equipment, to the bureau of mines, but the sundry civil appropriation act, approved June 25, amended the law to such an extent that the structural materials investigations, including the personnel and equipment for these investigations went to the bureau of standards, department of commerce and justice. Carrying out the spirit and intent of the law so amended, the secretary of the interior has transferred to the bureau of mines the investigation of mine accidents and fuels, together with the personnel and equipment of these investigations. The bureau of standards of the department of commerce and justice has transferred to the bureau of standards the structural materials investigations, and the employees of the geologic branch of the survey engaged in these investigations.

The fully equipped testing station at Pittsburgh also goes to the bureau of mines. The bureau of mines therefore includes the mine accidents and fuel investigations for which an appropriation of $10,000 was made by congress. The total appropriations for the bureau, including salaries, rent and expenses of removal amount to $502,500. The work of the bureau of mines for the first year will be a continuation and expansion of the work carried on by the geologic branch of the geological survey. The law in itself provides for a variety of other problems that properly belong to the bureau of mines and which should eventually be undertaken, such as methods of mining and metallurgical processes, but these activities will be deferred for the most part until congress gives additional authorization in the shape of adequate appropriations. The spirit of the debates in congress both on the bureau of mines legislation and on the appropriation items emphasized the desire to regard the mine accidents investigations as urgent, and this will be the feature of the work. In all, $310,000 was appropriated for mine accident investigations.

THE SMART BLOUSE

Its Infinite Variety

THREATENED things are said to live longest, and the blouse certainly bears out the truth of the adage, for in spite of fierce attacks on its being and much insidious undermining of its foundations it is now, well up in years and was never more flourishing than at the present time. The holiday months, indeed, are the time in which the blouse enjoys its greatest popularity, because it plays so necessary a part in holiday life. And at the other end of the scale is the glorified creation, called by courtesy a blouse, which is more corsage than blouse and is of so complicated a nature that the skirt has to be built around it.

The rage for the all in one piece garment and the kimono yoke and sleeves have made the blouse bodice much in demand. The equally persistent dominance of the blouse has been greatly in favor of the blouse this season, for it enables the wearer to bring the bodice into line with the skirt.

Then a third recommendation of the blouse for favor is the firm hold which the coat and skirt have on fashion not only of today, but of the day after tomorrow. There is no evidence of any decline in their favor.

Prognostications say that the fall will give us little else than the coat and skirt in some form or other. In spite of well attempted efforts to push the princess gown beneath the coat the blouse triumphs over them all.

But there is one blouse rule to be observed. There must be no violent contrast between the blouse and skirt. There must be a well marked affinity between them. The one exception is the lingerie blouse, and this, we may be assured, will never be ousted while the American woman has a say in the matter. She knows the possibilities of its dainty freshness and its fine hand work too well for that. The smart lingerie blouse of French make is an affair of quiet elegance, for it is a mass of fine work of the kind known to our grandmothers as "sewed muslin," the result of hours of patient labor and impaired eyesight. Little lace is used on these charming lingerie blouses. What is used is of the best, valuable crochet or priceless old pieces often being inserted by way of contrast. Then there is the lingerie shirt waist, which is a trifle less elaborate than the lingerie blouse that is especially the property of the coat and skirt costume. In its best form this shirt waist is of the finest white French lawn infinitesimally tucked all over and with no trimming at all, finished at the neck with a narrow band and bow of black satin. Even these lingerie blouses have come under the prevailing craze of veiling and over them a blouse of voile or chiffon, the same tone as the skirt, is often used, but somehow it does not seem to accord with the idea of the white blouse.

The pin striped fine cotton shirt waist with lingerie frill down the front is very chic worn with a coat suit. The collars and cuffs of these shirt waists are often embroidered with spots or tiny flowers to match the color of the stripes.

The low necked blouse is worn in and out of season by some women, but the well dressed woman knows the time and the place for its appearance, which is not in the street during shopping hours or in the office if she happens to be a business woman except on exceptionally hot days, when a high neck arrangement is intolerable. Nor are the short sleeves in favor for general wear. Most of the blouse sleeves are fairly tight fitting and long, but at the shoulders they are nearly always cut in one with the yoke or put in raglan fashion, but the idea is to mold the shoulder line carefully and preserve the slope. The round guimpe yoke is affected in most of the dressy blouses—in fact, two or even three of these inner guimpes are often seen, using different embroideries and lace. The effect is very stunning and becoming.

CATHERINE TALBOT.

When the Lamp Is Lit

MUSINGS OF ELINOR HITE

THERE has been much written about the widow and her great attraction for men, but never before to my knowledge has a widow taken up the cudgels for her kind. Here's one, however, who has. Listen to her own story:

"I have been a widow for about three years, and despite the fact that widows are supposed to have designs on some poor unsuspecting male I am so far immune from this fault. We widows are to my mind a much slandered class. In the first place, most of us were fond of our late husbands, and those of us to whom the departure of No. 1 gave a feeling of relief do not wish to increase our sufferings by making the acquaintance of a possible No. 2.

"On the other hand, should we by any chance remarry it seems very unfair of our friends to remark, as they certainly do: 'Oh, yes, Mrs. So-and-so is married again! Every one knew that she would not be a widow long. Why, she fairly looked the poor man!' or some similar kind of statement."

It has been said that the widow is popular, which she undoubtedly is, because she understands men. That is true to some extent, but her popularity is not due solely to that cause. The men flock around her for various reasons—sometimes because she combines the brightness of a girl with the sensibility of a woman, a rare combination much appreciated by mere men. Sometimes because she has money is a widow desired.

This is usually the case, for it will be observed that the poor widow is not nearly so attractive. Sometimes she is sought because she has experience and is more likely to make a good wife and sometimes because of love for her. This is the last, the most unusual, but not by any means the least reason, thinks that poor, lonely, much talked about little widow.

The Back Yard Vacation

Did you ever try a back yard vacation? It's a whole heap better than nothing, though not as satisfying as the "real thing."

The preparation for such a vacation is not elaborate, the most exacting demand being the possession of a child's crib with one side cut off and the legs shortened to couch size. As the vacation will last all summer it is well to paint this couch white and cover the mattress with green gingham and the pillows with the same material. The covers should be removable.

Over the couch is fastened a large canopy umbrella, the kind street fakers use, which should be fastened to a strong iron stand painted white with a top that will answer as a table. The umbrella can be adjusted to any height, and it is attractive if covered with green and white striped awning.

With these two articles of furniture and a cotton rug to spread on the grass on damp days over a rubber blanket, the occupant of the couch could move to any part of the yard she pleased to catch the breeze or keep out of the sun.

If one has an old steamer chair it can be added to the couch near the table. It, too, should be painted white or dark green.

A FORTUNE IN THE VENTURE.

"Why some enterprising young person has not started a shop for elderly women's costumes solely," said a dowager recently, "is beyond my comprehension. For there is a fortune in the venture." It is quite true that smart and suitable frocks for women past fifty years are few and far between, and even dressmakers pay very little attention to the lines and other details necessary to make a gown becoming to such women. Instead, they either persuade their patronesses to take models meant for debutantes or else turn them out in dresses of good material, but atrociously sedate in appearance. It has often been said that the elderly woman of the present time looks well dressed only when in mourning, and it has been noted that men, although they detest crape and black dresses, generally prefer to see their mothers wear black. All this is because in turning out mourning dresses the builders of the gowns take some pains to make them smart.

THE SEASIDE CHAIR.

Have you seen the wicker seaside chair with a canopy top and side like a huge conch shell? It forms the greatest protection from the wind and shields the eyes and complexion from the glare of the sun.

These chairs are being used by women who have taken up the fresh air cure at home. When used on a porch or in the back yard one can sit in all sorts of weather short of a hard rain and not feel uncomfortable, and it is not necessary to bother about shade.

For strong sunlight a sort of awning extension can be added to the top front.

PATCHING SCREENS.

To patch wire screens cut a square from the wire cloth or an old discarded screen, about three inches longer on each side than the hole to be patched. Pull out the wires on the square, making a fringe about three inches deep. Send the fringe back, push through the meshes of the screen around the hole and press down firmly on the other side. This makes a neat patch and is easily done.

SUMMER COAT AND HAT

OF FINE LINEN AND EMBROIDERY.

NEVER was there a time when children were more prettily or more smartly dressed than they are this summer. And yet never was there a time when fond mothers could spend more on clothes without offending good taste. Elaboration of children's frocks and coats takes dainty childish forms. Fussiness and pretension are avoided.

Exquisitely fine materials, fine and delicate hand embroideries or bold simple embroidery effects of a quaint kind, narrow real laces and tiny hand tucks are some of the ways of bringing a garment up into the exclusive class. Such a garment is exquisitely dainty, and if the simplicity is of an expensive kind it has the appearance of being childish. The coat and hat pictured are of the simple type. The coat is of the finest handkerchief linen embroidered in eyelet fashion. A slip of pale pink china silk is worn under it. The lace trimming the ruffles is of real valenciennes. The lingerie bonnet is of embroidery in English eyelet work, and the soft bow of pale pluk matches the coat lining.

NEW COIFFURE STYLES

THE day of the pompadour and the marcel wave has gone almost beyond our feeble recollection, and for some time the turban or swirl style has been approved. Now Dame Fashion has turned down this last mode and is exploiting the Grecian coiffure as the latest.

Great bunches of finger puffs and be- witching little curls are arranged to stand out from the head as far as possible. This protuberance extends from the crown halfway to the neck. The front hair is undulated and combed back loosely from the face, but quite flat. The coiffure seen in the illustration is an amazing affair, originated by a celebrated Parisian actress, but few women would think of copying such a peculiar style.

Summer Drinks

A DRINK which is easy to make and pleasant to the taste is grape juice poured over shaved ice, with a few very small cubes of pineapple. It looks pretty in hollow stemmed glasses.

Milk shake is made with a cupful of sugar and three-quarters of a cup of water that has been boiled and cooled. Cook for half an hour, stirring often. Set away to cool. When ready to use it add a tablespoonful of the sirup to a glass of sweet milk and vanilla flavoring. Put into a tall glass, fill with finely pounded ice and reverse another glass over the lower or use a regular shaker. Shake hard for two minutes and pour into tumblers.

Orange punch is a delicious cooling drink. For this concoction stir a cupful of sugar into a scant cupful of water and simmer for half an hour. Skim and let it get cold before adding the strained juice of four oranges and half as much lemon juice. Beat all well together. Fill chilled tumblers with pounded ice and pour in enough of the sirup to fill up the interstices.

Lemonade for an invalid is made by a nurse in this way: A lemon sliced thin, the seeds are removed, three tablespoonfuls of sugar are sprinkled over it and two cupfuls of boiling water are turned over the whole. When the water is cold it is strained through a cheesecloth.

For a refreshing fruit punch chop a peeled pineapple very fine and cover with a pint of boiling water. Let it stand until cold and then strain through a bag or fine sieve, pressing out all the juice. Add a cupful of cherry or other fruit juice, the juice of two lemons and a sirup that has been made by boiling a pound of sugar with two cupfuls and a half of water. Chill and just before serving add a bottle of mineral water.

HINT FOR VACATION TIME

When on your vacation, girls, it would be well to give a little attention to your complexion, for summer, you know, is the season for tan, freckles, etc. Sun bathing and sun combined probably produce the worst kind of tan, surely the most unbecoming variety. The simple precaution of making up the hands, face, neck and arms before going in bathing is not hard, and if the skin is not supersensitive it will come unhurt through the ordeal of the bath.

Cream is put on first and is then well massaged into the pores, and the powder comes next. It is better to put this on with a rag.

This makeup should be removed immediately after the bath. The quickest and easiest way is to have a clean rag and some toilet water ready for use in the bathroom. After the final cleansing put on some more cold cream and then lie down for forty winks.

Prepared chalk is a good powder to use, while cucumber cream will serve both as a bleacher and as a protector.

DURING WARM WEATHER.

Put away all your household ornaments during the warm months. If your mantelpiece and tables are loaded with little things put them away. Leave a few framed photographs and vases for flowers. The fewer small articles you have around a room the cooler it seems.

A SENTIMENTAL APRON

THE HEART SHAPED APRON.

To Keep School Friendships

Many girls when they leave school to go to business are puzzled as to how to keep up friendships with their old school chums. A girl who has recently left school has solved this problem for herself by inventing a "third Thursday," as she calls it. On this evening every month all her friends meet at her house for an informal gathering. She sends postcards out a few days beforehand to remind them of the date, and often as many as twenty young people put in an appearance. They are not all girls, because some of her friends have brothers, and they are made welcome.

The youthful hostess makes some plans for keeping her friends amused. All manner of round games are played, and then sometimes there is a twostop or a waltz, while for a change all gather around the piano and join heartily in singing popular songs.

Refreshments are reduced to the minimum cost. Anything in the way of a sit down supper is avoided, and the eatables are handed around. The greatest success has attended the scheme, which has now developed to such an extent that the same party has arranged a long walk to take place every Saturday afternoon. The meeting is fixed for immediately after lunch, and on these summer afternoons tramps and canisters through the woods will be in form, boasting parties, etc., any arrangement of time that suits the place and the party best.

Useful Tips

After an umbrella has been in use for a short time put a few drops of oil in the center of the top about once a month. This prevents the ribs from rusting.

If two thin glasses have stuck one in the other places them in rather warm water and pour cold water in the upper glass. The expansion of one and the contraction of the other loosens them.

A little soap or black lead rubbed on the hinge of a squeaking door will often remedy matters.

Do You Breathe Properly?

Do you know that, as a rule, few people breathe properly? They are actually too lazy to perform the function properly, and by not exerting themselves they impair the beauty of both form and figure.

Nose breathing and deep breathing are most important and magical aids to health and beauty. There is a little volume published with the title "Shut Your Mouth and Save Your Life."

Rather startling, isn't it? But it is true, as startling things often are. Deep nose breathing cannot be too often practiced when in the open air, and the purer and clearer the air the deeper should be the breaths. Try this often and it will become a pleasant pastime, and its results will soon become apparent in straighter shoulders, better developed chest, clearer skin and sweeter breath.

It is really better than any magical youth restorer in the market. It is truly the best "elixir of life" that you can use, while it will not encroach upon the purse at all. Just give this a fair trial and see how easy the habit becomes.

You must also make a point of getting all the sunshine possible. Human beings need the sunshine as much as plants do.

Don't be afraid of its causing freckles, for the very best authorities say that it does not do anything of the kind.

Isn't It Provoking?

Just as everybody has her waists all made news comes from Paris that the new blouses pouch slightly over the girdle, not only in front, but often in the back as well.

The variety is endless, and all are fascinating.

There is a stunning little affair of linen cut in one piece, seamed under the arms and fastened in the back. It is collarless, the round neck being finished with a bertha or finely plaited tulle, usually white.

The sleeves, which extend to the middle of the forearm, are trimmed with backward turning plaitings of tulle.

This style of blouse, carried out in all kinds of materials and with many variations, is very much worn.

THE WAY TO KEEP YOUNG

It is every woman's duty to keep young as long as she can, but unfortunately she does not always know the best way to live up to this duty.

Avoid worry, hurry and getting flustered.

Learn self control. Anger is a rapid wrinkle bringer.

Be temperate. Moderation does not only refer to the stomach, but overindulgence in any way makes for premature old age.

Love the open air. Fresh air is not a fad. It is necessary if one would keep young.

Get plenty of sleep. Nothing lines the face like nights of wakefulness.

Keep mentally alert. An intellectual back number adds years to her seeming age. Nothing makes for youth like a young mind save perhaps a young heart.

Don't let yourself get sluggish. Here is where the benefit of massage, physical culture and a vital interest in life comes in.

SEASIDE AND COUNTRY MILLINERY

If you want the latest cry in seaside and country millinery, buy one of the new stitched glaze silk hats trimmed with patent leather. It is such a splendid "find" for prospective holiday travelers, since nothing—motor dust, sun or damp—really injures it a scrap. And the remarkable thing about a hat of this kind is that it is not at all expensive. The hats in the illustration will show you how thoroughly smart and appropriate these glaze hats with their flexible leather rouleau and rosette, and the Paulhan glaze toque sketched has a stunning cockade of glossy patent leather. Altogether they are about as satisfactory hats for hard usage as one can find. And, besides, they are good looking, and not in the least freakish, which is saying much in this season of impossible headgear.

Y.M.C.A. BUILDING OFF TO CAMP DUTY

Work On the Structure Will Be Started Before Long

Final negotiations having to do with the new Y. M. C. A. building have been gone through with and there's to be something doing on the foundation in a very little while.

The building committee has made final arrangements with the trustees of Dartmouth college concerning certain reservations along the outer walls of the Merrimack and Shattuck streets. The plans for the new building are on the way from Chicago and they will be submitted to local contractors at once.

The completion of negotiations and the work of clearing the way for the new building revealed the public spirit of Mr. James J. Gallagher who has a fruit store on the property included in the transfer. There was no reason why Mr. Gallagher should not stay until the expiration of his lease, but when he heard that his lease was to be renewed, he came forward and offered to surrender it.

Early in June last, when the plans for the new Young Men's Christian Association building were rapidly attaining completion, the executive committee of the Young Men's Christian Association was approached by representatives of Dartmouth college interested in the property. These representatives were fearful that the new building, when erected, would block all the windows of the Merrimack and Shattuck streets, and all the Boutwell building windows, having a southerly outlook. They therefore very naturally sought some arrangement which would at least partially protect the future welfare and tenability of their property.

The members of the Young Men's Christian Association committee, of course, had no desire to erect a building in such a way as to cause any hardship to their neighbors; on the other hand, they felt that their first duty was to the association and to the public who had made the new building possible. Immediately after they had been waited upon by the Dartmouth college representatives, they ordered that the architect's work should cease, while they strive to seek a solution which should be fair to Dartmouth college, without at the same time prejudicing the Young Men's Christian Association's interests. Up to that time they had expected to build to the edge of their property toward the Dartmouth college buildings, certainly not all points in the rear of the old front of Huntington hall. They had themselves no need of light shafts, because the architect had so arranged his building plans as to concentrate his needed windows around an area about 40 feet long and 12 feet wide, lying immediately back of the Boutwell building and covered, subject to some restrictions, by the Young Men's Christian Association itself.

Dartmouth college was especially anxious (1) to obtain a permanent easement of light and air in the whole area in front of the old line of Huntington hall, (2) to have the old front street front of the Young Men's Christian Association building set back so as to leave unobstructed the side windows of the Boutwell building near Shattuck street, and (3) to have the new Young Men's Christian Association building set far enough away from the Dartmouth college buildings so that light and air might be afforded for existing windows which might later be cut. On the other hand, the Young Men's Christian Association committee did not feel that it should bind the association so that it could not build flush with Merrimack street, and that it could not build up to the street without this burdensome restriction. Further, it did not feel that it ought to have its wall fronting either on Merrimack street or Shattuck street so located as not to touch the present Dartmouth college buildings, as any gap thus caused would be unsightly and troublesome.

Weeks of negotiation followed. These negotiations were made more protracted and hard by the fact that although Dartmouth college has a local agent, each step had to be authorized by its finance committee, two members of which lived in Concord, N. H., and one in Boston.

By the plan finally worked out, papers in connection with which were passed Friday morning, the Young Men's Christian Association gives Dartmouth college an easement of light and air in four strips, each three feet wide. The first strip extends back from Merrimack street 40 feet; that is, about as far back as the old line of Huntington hall. The Young Men's Christian Association does not, however, in any way bind itself to keep open the rest of the area on Merrimack street in the future, although it is its plan to locate the front wall of the new building not far from the former front wall of Huntington hall. Dartmouth agrees to remove all fire-escapes from westerly wall of Wentworth building and to make wall attractive. The second strip, an easement in which is granted, extends back about 23 feet from the rear of the proposed front room of the new building toward the Wentworth block; that is, the wall of the easterly front room of the Young Men's Christian Association building built up to the Dartmouth college line, but the rooms back of that point have been narrowed three feet to form this strip; this strip will consequently not be visible from Merrimack street. The third strip adjoins the rear of the second strip, and is 25 feet in length by three in width. The fourth extends back from Shattuck street about ten feet and as in the case of the other three the easement calls for a strip but three feet in width, although the Shattuck street wall of the proposed building will not be built nearer the street than this ten feet. As in the case of the Merrimack street front room of the building, the side wall of the Shattuck street front room will touch the Dartmouth college property so as to conceal the third strip also from the street.

So much for the privileges granted by the Young Men's Christian Association. The principal benefits derived by the association are three:

(1) Dartmouth college pays the sum of $2000 in money.

(2) It will be remembered that the fruit store of Mr. J. J. Gallagher is on the land of the Young Men's Christian Association and is held under a lease which does not expire until 1914. The existence of this encumbrance had considerably embarrassed the architects and the committee, for, of course, there was no reason, legal or moral, why Mr. Gallagher should not stay until the termination of his lease. During the negotiations, Mr. Gallagher having heard that his lease was proving something of a stumbling block, came forward voluntarily and offered to surrender his lease without compensation and go elsewhere, provided that a suitable place could be obtained for him. This question was taken up with the agent for Dartmouth college and the premises next door to Mr. Gallagher's present store, not being held under lease, were proposed by Dartmouth for Mr. Gallagher's tenancy. Although Mr. Gallagher was obliged to pay substantially double the rent which he has been paying under his present lease, and although he regarded the new store as in some ways less desirable than the old, he consented to help out the Young Men's Christian Association by making the change, and he will vacate his present store about Aug. 1. Although in one sense this adjustment was not prejudicial to Dartmouth, it was of great value to the Young Men's Christian Association, for stores of the sort available for Mr. Gallagher's business are difficult to obtain and Mr. Gallagher's removal will enable the Young Men's Christian Association to push ahead on its work without the problem of what to do for the four unexpired years of Mr. Gallagher's lease.

(3) Reference has already been made to the 40x12 foot area owned by the Young Men's Christian Association and situated immediately back of the Boutwell building. Under old restrictions still in force, building by the owner of this area above the surface of the ground was forbidden. The architects desired to make use of this portion of the premises for bowling alleys. Although the bowling alleys will be in the basement, in order to have the floors of the alleys above the level of the water in the canal, and yet obtain sufficient head-room, it will be necessary to raise the roof eight or 10 feet above the height allowed by the old restriction. An erection of this height will somewhat interfere with the cutting of windows in the rear of the first floor of the Boutwell building. Under the agreement, however, the Young Men's Christian Association acquires the right to build to the height of about 10 feet above the surface of the area which will give all the height required by the architect for his bowling alley roofs.

The agreements have been passed and recorded and the $2000 paid to the Young Men's Christian Association.

WOODS SEARCHED

For An Alleged Hold-Up Man

LAWRENCE, July 23.—The North Andover police, assisted by a number of volunteers, are searching the woods in the vicinity of Lake Cochichewick for a young man who yesterday morning threatened to kill and rob Edward Powers, aged about 21 years, driver for J. Warren Chadwick, a West Buxford milk dealer.

The holdup occurred on what is known as the Pond road, a sparsely settled territory on the shore of Lake Cochichewick. Powers was returning to the Chadwick farm in West Buxford, after making his deliveries in the city. When he reached a point near Flat bridge a young man hailed him and asked him for a ride. Powers told the stranger to get on the other side of the wagon, and as the latter proceeded to do so he suddenly pulled a revolver and demanded money.

Powers did not take the "holdup man" seriously at first. The stranger warned him that he meant business and fired two shots, neither of which took effect. Powers whipped up his horse, and almost at the same instant an automobile containing William Powers, a curtain manufacturer who summers in North Andover, and his family, put in appearance, and the "holdup" man vaulted over a stone wall and disappeared in the wood nearby.

The annual tour of duty of the Sixth Massachusetts regiment at South Framingham started today. The three Lowell companies, C, G and K, left this city on a special train at 8.45 o'clock, each company having its full quota of men. There was a large crowd at the Middlesex street station and the military boys were given a royal send-off. The men reported at the state armory in Westford street at 7.30 o'clock this morning, and half an hour later fell into line and marched to the station, where the special train was boarded. The train was made up of four cars, three coaches and a baggage car.

Capt. Gardner W. Pearson of Company C, who is the ranking officer, had command of the three companies. Capt. W. R. Jones was at the head of Company G, and Capt. James N. Greig was in command of Company K.

LAKEVIEW THEATRE

People's tastes never run alike, some like one thing, others like another, but it is very seldom that you find so many people declare themselves pleased as has been the case at Lakeview theatre, at this week, where the Lakeview theatre stock company has been presenting "Major and Man" to crowded houses. The play is in four acts, has an abundance of good comedy and abounds in thrilling situations.

For the attraction next week a melodrama in three acts called "The Outlaw's Sweetheart," will be the offering. In it Mr. James Thatcher plays the role of "Jack DuRand," the outlaw, a part which gives him a chance to show his ability as an interpreter of the rough and ready sort. The rest of the company will all be cast so that every one will have a part best suited to his or her talents. The bill itself is a strong western drama, full of comedy and thrilling situations and one that will be sure to please.

THEATRE VOYONS

Tomorrow the Theatre Voyons will offer the usual Sunday concert and like all its predecessors it will be made up of the best pictures on the market. These pictures like those shown on week days are exclusive and are seen nowhere else in Lowell. The musical programs are varied and meet the approval of musicians and general public alike. The modern ventilating plant ensures cool pure air all the time and the care in which the pictures are shown insures that in small detail is the show below the highest standards. On Monday the feature subject will be "Mazepa" a very big production taken from the old drama once so popular and which was founded on actual Russian history. The admission is but ten cents week days and Sundays and the choice of seats is allowed the patron at no additional cost.

SAILOR KILLED

BOSTON, July 23.—Cornelius J. Riley, aged 26, a sailor on the United States cruiser "Salem," now at the Charlestown navy yard, was killed in a street fight at 12.20 this morning.

Few details could be gained by the police about the affair, which took place in front of 126 Court street.

Only one witness, a sailor, was found. He was taken to the Joy street station, and the police refused to give out his name. He identified Riley.

Riley was lying on the sidewalk when the police arrived. He was hurried to the relief station, where Dr. Packard pronounced him dead.

Medical Examiner Magrath was summoned and viewed the body and Captain Duff of the criminal investigation department was called into the case.

From all the police could gather, Riley had been drinking and looking for a fight. He evidently provoked one and received a single blow from a fist which proved fatal.

BADLY BURNED

DOCTORS SAY THAT MAN MAY RECOVER

PORT CHESTER, N. Y., July 23.—Eleven thousand volts of electricity passed through the body of Michael Foley yesterday, and although he is frightfully burned, he still lives and there is a chance that he will recover.

Foley was painting the overhead structure which carries the power wires of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad here, when he slipped and his right arm slid along the feed wire, while the side of his body pressed against a steel pillar. Until the contact broke he was hidden in a blinding sheet of blue flame.

Mr. Quinn was well known in Lowell and had always resided here until the past few years. He leaves a wife, Mrs. Mary Ella Quinn, one son, Thomas, a daughter Marion, three sisters, the Misses Mary J., Elizabeth and Helena of this city, and two brothers, Edward of Montana, and John of this city. The remains will be taken to the home of his sisters, 580 Broadway by Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

CHILDREN MAY DIE

They Ate Opium Pills Thinking They Were Candy

WEBSTER, July 23.—Opium pills found on a public dump and eaten for candy, caused the probably fatal illness of two children and serious sickness of six other youngsters here yesterday.

The two who will probably die are: Victor Pepka, aged 5, son of John Pepka.

Frank Mrowkowski, 12, son of Michael Mrowkowski.

The others who were made sick are: Martha Pepka, 8, Frances Pepka, 10, and Helen Pepka, 12, children of John Pepka, and Lucy Mrowkowski, child of Michael Mrowkowski; Katie Kamarek, 6, and Vladislav Pepka, 13, son of August Pepka.

The children had been playing about the dump during the afternoon and one of them found a little box containing several pills, which, after an eager consultation, were declared to be candy. A whole box of candy meant that there must be a party, so the youngsters adjourned to a tent which they had erected near their homes and proceeded to enjoy their find.

Shortly afterward the holiday spirits of the children began to wane. Every body seemed sleepy; so gradually the party broke up and everybody went home to have a nap.

Late in the afternoon the children were found by their mothers asleep in odd places about the house. It seemed strange to the parents to have their little ones give up play so early and then it was noticed that the sleep did not seem quite natural.

Some of the mothers became alarmed and two physicians were called. A hasty examination showed that the children were victims of morphine poisoning, and the quick work of the doctors undoubtedly saved the lives of the sufferers, Victor Pepka and Frank Mrowkowski, however, are in a serious condition and little hope is felt for their recovery.

The physicians say that they must have taken at least 12 grains of the poison, while the others took considerably less. All of the victims are being treated at their homes.

ONE YEAR EACH GONE TO REVERE

For Men Accused of Employes of the Waterhead Mills on Outing

BOSTON, July 23.—Judge William H. Preble in the Charlestown municipal court yesterday imposed sentences of one year each in the house of correction on Robert J. Verner of 8 Dix place, Somerville, and John J. Anderson of 120 Linwood street, Somerville, and a sentence of six months in the house of correction upon Albert Johnson, colored, of 545 Shawmut avenue. Each of the defendants appealed.

Johnson being held in $500 and Anderson and Verner in $500 on each of two counts for the August term of the superior court.

The case is the outcome of the attack made by a crowd of men on Patrolman Dennis Leary Sunday night, July 10, on the Chelsea bridge, Charlestown. Verner and Anderson were found guilty of charges of assault on the patrolman on an officer and of attempting to rescue a prisoner, and Johnson with attempting to rescue a prisoner.

Before pronouncing the sentences, Judge Preble stated that the evidence showed a crowd of 14 men had been in the harbor all day and had turned and had a dispute on the bridge. They had the right to secure employment on Sunday as well as on any other day, but they blocked the sidewalk so that pedestrians had to go in the street. The attention of a policeman was called on an officer and of attempting to rescue a prisoner, and Johnson with attempting to rescue a prisoner.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The regular meeting of Lowell Nest, No. 1255, Order of Owls, was held Thursday night, President E. M. Bowlers in the chair. There was a large attendance and considerable business was transacted. Many committee reports were received, the most important being the committee assigned to relieve and visit the sick brothers.

The decision rendered recently by Judge Richardson in favor of the South Bend, or loyalists, of the Massachusetts nest of Boston, has done much in straightening out the affairs of the order in that city.

The report of the secretaries, the treasurer and the auditor, which will be presented at the next meeting, are looked forward to with much interest.

Odd Fellows

The field day committee of Oberlin lodge, 23, I. O. O. F., is putting the finishing touches on preparations for the big field day at Nabasset Saturday, July 30. Nearly all committees have reported and arrangements are all made. A large sale of tickets has been recorded and during the coming week they will put some novel advertising upon the streets besides that already out.

Sports will open with a ball game between West Chelmsford and Chelmsford Centre, followed by running races, boys' and girls' races, fat men's race, tug-of-war and many other sports. At 5 o'clock there will be a clambake. There will be free dancing afternoon and evening.

Order of Protection

Elgin lodge, N. E. O. P., held its regular meeting Thursday night. T. F. Boylan, one of the incorporators, N. E. O. P., was present; also D. G. W. Lulu Hutchins and Grand Guide Bartlett of Billerica.

After the transaction of business, ice cream, cake and orangeade were served.

Royal Arcanum

A well attended meeting of Lowell council No. 8, Royal Arcanum, was held Thursday night. The picnic committee reported that the afternoon of July 25 would be devoted to sports and that dancing would be held in the evening. The death of O. J. Gilbert was reported and proper action taken. At the conclusion of the business session whist and cigars were enjoyed.

Pilgrim Fathers

William A. Severance of Garfield colony, U. O. P. F., has been appointed a deputy supreme governor of the supreme colony, and will have charge over George Whitefield colony, of Newburyport.

Foresters of America

Court Warrant, No. 51, F. of A., hold a well attended meeting last evening in Pilgrim hall, Palmer street. Eight applications for membership were received and 10 new members were admitted into the order. Arrangements were made for an outing to be held next month.

WOMAN SHOT DEAD

She Was Murdered in Her Home in Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, July 23.—Mrs. Eleanor Sheppard, the wife of Division Passenger Agent W. H. Sheppard of the Boston & Maine railroad, was shot and instantly killed by George C. Creley in her home on Park street in this city today. Probable insanity is given as the cause. Creley was captured by the police as he was leaving the house. Creley is the father of Mr. Sheppard's first wife and made his home with the Sheppards at their residence here in this city. For the past month or so he has shown signs of insanity, and a week ago the Sheppards had him examined by local physicians. The physicians found that Creley's mind was affected and had ordered his removal to an asylum.

Mrs. Sheppard was preparing this forenoon to leave for her summer residence at Lake Pleasant, near Greenfield, Mass., and was packing a dress suit case when Creley came into her room on the second floor. Creley asked her to write to a friend, Mrs. Henry Bassett of Worcester, Mass.

While writing she turned to ask Creley how to spell a certain word, whereupon Creley pulled a revolver and fired a shot into her left cheek. Screaming with pain, Mrs. Sheppard ran down the back stairs to the back porch, where she dropped dead.

Creley meanwhile fled to the front door, where a policeman, attracted by the shooting, arrested him. Creley attempted to shoot the officer with his weapon, but the policeman had no difficulty in disarming the man. He was arraigned on a charge of murder and held without bail.

In the house at the time of the shooting was Mrs. Sheppard's aged mother and her 13 year old son. Mrs. Sheppard was 41 years of age and is survived by a husband, a son and her aged mother.

Creley is 70 years of age.

REMARKABLE RIDE

Woman Covered Distance of 500 Miles on Horseback

NEW YORK, July 23.—Harriet Chalmers Adams is a little woman of frail figure in appearance, but she has just returned from a 500-mile horseback ride on the mountain trails of Hayti and the Dominican Republic—a jaunt of 17 days from dawn to twilight.

This little woman with the bright hazel eyes is famous the world over as an explorer, and she brought back as rare prizes from the "Black Republic" five specimens of the solanodon, which is the ancestor of all the rodent hares and insectivores of the western hemisphere.

Two of the specimens are on their way to the national zoo at Washington, and Curator Dimars has the other three for the Bronx park zoo. Mrs. Adams arrived on the Clyde line steamship Cherokee with her husband, Franklin Adams, of the international bureau of American republics at Washington. Mrs. Adams is known to most New Yorkers as a lecturer on South American republics and the West Indies at Carnegie hall.

This intrepid woman spent three years in the saddle traveling all over South America, visiting every one of the 21 republics and traversing each on horseback. On that excursion she got two baby wildcats in Patagonia and "brought them up" on the bottle, carrying them with her on her journey until she reached Buenos Ayres, where both "Bitty" and "Nellie" succumbed to the heat and died.

"This ancestor of the rodents is quite extinct on the continent," said Mrs. Adams in her apartment on West Forty-second street, "but once prevalent on this continent, but have survived only on the island of Hayti. We got these specimens, the only ones ever brought into captivity, after a long search. We found them fast asleep in a hollow log on the north slope of the Cordillera range.

"They feed on ants, termites, and other insects and seeds in their native state, but we found them capable of appreciating a diversified diet of fare. I brought along from Hayti a lot of small birds on ice, and the solanodon, with much relish, ate these after they had been run through the ship's crusher, used in mincing meats. They ate the birds bones and all. They seemed to like cabbage and minced lamb, for Mr. Adams couldn't find insects enough to sustain them.

The solanodon looks like a big rat, with a miniature trunk like an elephant. This snout or trunk is prehensile, like the elephant's and the tapir's. It is two inches long, and one of the native names for the animal is "elephantito," another being "amilliqui." The length from tip of snout to end of the tail is two feet, the tail being 10 inches long. The forepaws look like small human hands, except that they are armed with long, tough nails or claws with which to break down the nests of ants, the staple of their diet.

The ears are large and flap like those of the elephant. Like "civilized" rodents the solanodon sucks eggs, or will eat them raw served on a plate. Its cheeks are hairless and calloused, resembling the armadillo's, and its gait—its appearance is that of the ant

Small Docket Before Judge Pickman

This morning's session of the police court was very brief, and Judge Pickman quickly disposed of the cases.

Joseph J. Weaver was before the court for the third time, charged with drunkenness. He pleaded guilty, and after a hearing before the court he was sentenced to serve a term at the state farm. James P. Moran was in for the second offense and was allowed to go upon the payment of a fine of $8. Joseph J. Spring was called upon to plead to a second offense of drunkenness, and said: "I am just a little mite in doubt as to whether I was drunk last night or not, but I suppose you might just as well enroll me as being drunk."

"No," said Clerk Savage, "that will not do. You have the right to plead guilty or not guilty. You are charged with being guilty of the second offense of drunkenness and I now ask you to plead whether you are guilty or not guilty to this charge."

"Well, I guess I am guilty," and he was fined $5. Joseph Fortuna was charged with non-support of his wife and with drunkenness, and the testimony showed that Joseph during the year ending July 20th had given but $20 to the maintenance of his wife. He tried to explain to the court that his wife was somewhat in error, but Judge Pickman thought otherwise, and ordered him to serve a sentence of six months in the Lowell jail.

There were three $2 fines, and three first offenders were released.

MANUFACTURER DEAD

TURNER'S FALLS, July 23.—The death is announced of Edward D. Griswold, a prominent cotton manufacturer of Brooklyn, at Poland Springs, Me., where he had gone for the summer. He was born in Griswoldville in 1830. Forty years ago he removed to Brooklyn. At the time of his death he was making a 17 days' jaunt of 500 miles. We traced the movements of Griswold, who visited the most ancient city in America, founded by Columbus, Santa Domingo, and still as he left it. We traversed the Vega Real, or "royal meadow" of Columbus, and it is entitled to the name. It was all a delightful trip, made by us as an explorer and naturalist and by my husband as the representative of the American republics. But I am glad to be home again.

From a floating platform where he was working, he fell into a hole in the dam, all from clinging the drain, he fell into the pool and was sucked into the pipe. His companions rushed to the outlet, but Antonio preceded them by some seconds and swam ashore.

MARKED DECLINE

IN THE EXPORTS DURING THE YEAR OF 1910

Details of the exports by principal articles during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1910, have just been prepared by the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor. They show in nearly all of the articles of natural production a marked decline in the exports of 1910 compared with earlier years. In certain manufactures the figures for 1910 are larger than in any preceding year, and the total for all manufactures will probably exceed any earlier year, though the compilation showing the total manufactures exported has not been completed.

The statement as arranged by the bureau states that the exports in the order of magnitude, by values. Cotton, of course, heads the list of principal articles exported. The total value of the exports of unmanufactured cotton during the fiscal year 1910 was 450 million dollars, against 481 million in the fiscal year 1907. Cotton is second on the list, $3 1-2 million dollars, against 100 million in 1908. Illuminating oil occupies third place on the list, 62 1-2 million dollars against 71 million in the fiscal year 1909. What occupies fourth place is iron, 47 million dollars, against 47 million in 1908. In round terms against 113 million dollars in 1902, 146 1-2 million in 1908, and 161 million in 1909, the high record year of exports. Flour occupies the next position on the list, 46 1-2 million dollars value against 75 million dollars in 1907. Lard ranks sixth in the list of principal articles exported, 43 million dollars value against 60 million dollars in 1908. Tobacco, which holds seventh place in the list of articles exported, shows a larger total for 1910 than in any earlier year, the value being 38 million dollars, against 37 million in 1908. Under the general title of "Boards, planks and deals," amounts to 37 million dollars against 40 million in 1907. Upper leather shows a larger total than in any earlier year, 27 million dollars against 22 million in 1907. Corn shows a total of 1 1-2 million dollars in value against 35 million in 1909. Bituminous coal shows a larger total than in any earlier year, 25 million dollars against 25 1-2 million in 1908, and 26 million in 1909. The total for 1910 than ever before, 21 million dollars against 20 million in 1908.

Of the 50 principal articles exported, enumerated in the bureau of statistics statement, those which show larger totals than in any earlier year are upper leather, boots and shoes, furs and fur skins, automobiles, electrical instruments, lubricated oil, tobacco, and lead, both antacid and bituminous. The articles in which the falling off is most striking are corn, wheat, flour and meats; wheat falling from 161 million dollars in 1902 to 47 million in 1910; corn, from 55 million dollars in 1902 to 47 million in 1910; flour, from 75 million dollars in 1902 to 47 million in 1910; lard, from 60 million dollars in 1902 to 43 million in 1910; bacon, from 66 million in 1902 to 43 million in 1910; hams and shoulders, from 26 million dollars in 1902 to 18 million in 1910; pickled pork, from 15 million dollars in 1902 to 4 1-2 million in 1910; fresh beef, from 32 million dollars in 1902 to 22 million in 1910, and cattle, from 42 million dollars in 1902 to 12 million in 1910.

The first bullet pierced Maura's arm and the second found lodgment in his leg. At the second shot the young woman sprang upon the would-be assassin and the third bullet went whizzing by. Posa, who is but 18 years old, said today that he did not intend to shoot Maura but desired only to make a demonstration against him. The wounds are not serious.

RAN AWAY TO WED

Granddaughter of Wealthy Family Weds in London

PARIS, July 23.—A romantic runaway marriage of the old fashioned sort took place at a quiet church in Brompton, London, July 22, between Miss Helga Kitiaka Ronne, granddaughter of one of the wealthy Cope family of Philadelphia, and Francis Hendricks, a handsome and talented young American pianist, the pupil for five years of Leopold Godowsky, head of the conservatory at Vienna.

The bride is the daughter of Emil C. Jouna, formerly of Philadelphia, who later resided with his wife's mother, Mrs. Cope, at 88 Avenue Bois de Boulogne, and who is now living in Brussels.

The first knowledge Mr. Ronne had of the marriage was derived from the informal notice in a Paris newspaper. He displayed great indignation and challenged the newspaper's right to publish the announcement.

Miss Ronne, who is only 18 years old, had eloped. She made the acquaintance of Hendricks, however, under the parental roof, where for many months he was warmly welcomed, until the attachment between him and the young girl became too evident. Then a complete change took place in the domestic atmosphere, and his further visits were forbidden.

Ronne threatened to send his daughter to a Belgian convent if she did not absolutely relinquish the friendship of the musician. Seemingly she acquiesced, but late in June she made a pretext of her desire to visit a young brother to induce her father to permit her to come to Paris, accompanied by a female cousin. They went shopping one day, and while she left the cousin in one part of the shop Miss Ronne slipped away and proceeded to Versailles, where she met another woman friend, who had agreed to chaperone her.

Together they went by a roundabout way to London, and there the romance reached its climax.

Since he learned of the marriage his father has refused to have any communication whatever with her or even to permit her wardrobe or any letter to be sent from her former home, and he has also threatened, it is said, to disinherit her.

It is understood, however, that she is engaged now to a large share of her maternal grandfather's fortune. Mr. and Mrs. Hendricks are passing their honeymoon in Paris, but they intend before long to go to Denver, where he will open a music studio.

TO SELL SCHOOLS

Supt. Whitcomb Speaks Of the Structures

Relative to the sale of school houses as already recommended by the committee on lands and buildings, Supt. Arthur K. Whitcomb of the school department, speaking of the proposed sales, says:

"The least important of the school buildings, it seems to me, are the Bradley street school, in Middlesex village. At one time, its one room was used, but in 1895 the four-room building was opened and since then the old building has been idle. It might be well enough for the city to hold onto it so long as it doesn't need repairs, but when it does then it should be sold, or turned back to the heirs of the donor of the property, for it was originally given with the understanding that the lot was to be used for school purposes only. It is gradually falling into decay, and it seems to be little chance now that it will ever be called upon to shelter pupils.

"The second least important school is the one in Fayette street. The possibility of the city needing to use that for school purposes in the future is very slight. The primary schools are now in existence in that locality are not growing any. The building, which is of four rooms, hasn't been used for a number of years. I would recommend that it be sold.

"The building in School street, near its junction with Bowdoin street, is well built; it stands high in a good lot and it is apparently in good condition. It has not been used for 10 or 12 years. When the Bartlett school was built there was considerable difficulty experienced in filling it, and it was a source of considerable disappointment that more scholars could not attend. This condition obtained for a few years, and then a steady growth revealed itself. Now the school is crowded. Six of the rooms last year had over 50 pupils each, and one teacher was supplied there to take pupils into the corridors where lessons were heard. It is evident that this school will within a few years overflow, and when it does the School street house, which is excellently adapted to receive them, will come in very handy. I would object, under the conditions now holding in that district, to the sale of the School street building.

"The old Moody school, at the corner of High and East Merrimack streets, originally a brick building, with a large shed, was used as a manual training school, before the erection of the present high school on the Paige street. Recently it has been used only for a night school. Last year there were four of the rooms used for this purpose, and seven teachers and a principal were there. It is not likely that it will, in the future, be used for a grammar school. At the present time we are renting two rooms to the Immaculate Conception parish for a day school. If the Immaculate Conception parish would buy this building, and promise that we could use it for evening school purposes, then I should recommend the sale. Unless some such arrangement could be effected, or something done which might take care of those who would attend the night schools in that section, I should oppose it."

MISS VAN ALEN

DECLARES SHE IS NOW A RESIDENT OF FRANCE

BOSTON, July 23.—When Miss May Van Alen, daughter of James J. Van Alen of Newport, arrived in Boston on the Zealand a few days ago, she surprised the customs inspectors and her fellow passengers by declaring that she was now a resident of France and here only as a visitor. As a consequence of this declaration she was permitted to bring in a considerable quantity of baggage without paying duty on it. There were fully a dozen trunks in the lot, and they were filled with gowns of Paris make.

It is four years since Miss Van Alen went abroad, and she says that she now has a permanent home in Paris. Miss May Van Alen is the elder daughter and the only unmarried child of James J. Van Alen. She has an independent fortune of $75,000 a year, which she inherited from her mother, William Anne.

Miss Van Alen has often been reported to be engaged. Her friends, however, do not believe she will ever marry after the tragic death in 1902 of Robert Redding Remington, whose engagement to her was broken off for some mysterious reason.

The engagement was announced in the spring of that year and arrangements made for the marriage. In August, however, the engagement was broken and August 18, Remington walked into the Newport reading room, where society men gathered, and shot himself twice. The mystery has never been cleared.

POLO PLAYER

IS ACCUSED OF RUNNING AWAY WITH $1000

LEWISTON, Me., July 23.—Jack Fahey, a polo player of national repute, last year captain of the Worcester team, and "Spig" Mahoney, a well known sporting man, formerly a boxer and more recently a promoter of boxing matches, were taken to Portland yesterday by Deputy U. S. Marshal Ferd E. Stevens, charged with fraudulent use of the mails in connection with a fake celebration at Canton, last Labor day.

The men were arrested last Thursday evening at the Eagles club rooms on Main street by Deputy Stevens, assisted by Sturgis Deputies Howard Goss, Benulien and Hayward. They made no effort to escape, and Mahoney was never locked up, but released on his promise to be at the station Saturday noon to take the train, a promise he kept.

Deputy Stevens also had a warrant for John Crowley, but he ran upstairs to the roof, thence to the roof of an adjoining building, where he hid and was later taken out of town in an automobile.

A big celebration was arranged for and attended by a big crowd at Canton last Labor day, but after the crowd had gathered and paid their money the promoters jumped in an automobile and departed, taking all the money with them and filling entirely to keep their part of the bargain to furnish the baseball games, horse races, balloon ascension, athletic sports, etc., which they had advertised.

It is alleged that Fahey, Mahoney and Crowley are alleged to have been the managers of the affair, though different names were used in connection with it.

MAYOR WHITE

WILLIAM P. WHITE

Resigns as Chief Executive of City of Lawrence

LAWRENCE, July 23.—Mayor William P. White, who on Wednesday of last week was sentenced by Judge Schofield in the superior court to three years in the house of correction and a fine of $1000 on the charge of conspiracy to bribe ex-Alderman Xavier Lecondre in seeking to remove James A. Hamilton the head of the fire department, tendered his resignation as chief executive of this city yesterday afternoon.

City Solicitor Murphy's statement of Thursday to the effect that the mayor would be governed in his course by the advice of his counsel, ex-Atty. Gen. Parker and Michael L. Sullivan of Salem, together with the opinion of the city solicitor on the mayor's legal status, had paved the way for this announcement, so it occasioned less of a surprise than it otherwise would. Mr. Murphy and Mayor White's personal counsel, Attorney Sullivan, were in consultation with the mayor at the jail yesterday morning and again in the afternoon. At the conclusion of the interview it was given out that the mayor had tendered his resignation.

Mayor White's letter is addressed to the city council and asks that the resignation take effect at once. In it he said:

"To the Members of the City Council of Lawrence:—

"Gentlemen: I have become convinced that all considerations affecting my personal interests or rights must yield to those of the city of Lawrence and its people, to whom my every sentiment continues absolutely loyal.

"Under the conditions which now overwhelm me I deem it my duty to resign the office of mayor, and while I await with confident hope that vindication and completion to which I truly believe I am entitled, for so solemnly declare that I have not consciously or intentionally been guilty of any of the wrongs now charged against me, I deem it my duty to return the commission, which, under happier aspects, my fellow citizens conferred upon me.

"It is manifest that I cannot now perform the duties which my office would require of me, and I cannot assure the interests of the city to be so jeopardized or embarrassed. Regard for my own rights and reputation, consideration for those who are nearer to the law, and the welfare of the city, impel me to do so. I am, therefore, resigning the office of mayor, and while I await with confident hope that vindication and completion to which I truly believe I am entitled, for so solemnly declare that I have not consciously or intentionally been guilty of any of the wrongs now charged against me, I deem it my duty to return the commission, which, under happier aspects, my fellow citizens conferred upon me.

BOARD OF TRADE

Starts Movement to Have Clear Strip of Land Open Between Highway and the River—Land Owners Will Be Asked to Give Their Land So That the View of River Will Be Unobstructed

If the tentative plans which are now under consideration by a special committee of the Lowell board of trade, composed of James J. McManis, treasurer of the town of Drecht, chairman, John H. Murphy, secretary of the board of trade, secretary ex-officio, Thales P. Hall, William E. Badger, Dudley L. Page, Harold A. Varum and Harvey J. Greene, are carried into actual effect, the new highway along the north bank of the Merrimack river will be the finest boulevard in this part of the country. The idea of the committee is to arrange matters so that there will be no buildings erected upon the land, on the bank of the river, and thus allow a complete view of the natural scenery along the river.

The new road if present plans are carried out, will start at Contrivance bridge in the city of Lowell, and continue along the river bank to a point nearly opposite the old Lowell and Lawrence street railway barn, around the big bend in the river, then strike across the tracks into the First street extension, and thence along the north side of the electric tracks to a point just beyond the Methuen line, and thus have the river bank along the entire distance retained open, and forever barred for building purposes.

The board of trade and many of the citizens along the line of the new highway believe that the river bank scenery, largely natural, and certainly very beautiful, should be preserved for all time. That alone will make the highway one of the most attractive drives in the state.

The committee held a very important meeting yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the rooms of the board of trade in the Central block, and at considerable length went over the plans relative to the scheme. Several land owners have already offered to give their land free. The other owners will be approached later and thus it is likely that all the land along the river bank will be secured and forever kept open to afford an unobstructed view of the river.

STRUCK BY TRAIN

Boston Boy Was Hurlled To Death

BOSTON, July 23.—The third death by accident in the West Roxbury district in the last two days, was that of Thomas John Kevill, the 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. Kevill of 2612 Washington street, Jamaica Plain, who was killed about 3:45 yesterday afternoon by a locomotive on the N. Y. N. H. & H. R. R. near the Forest Hills station.

The little fellow, with three companions, Thomas Shea, 9 years old, of 412 Amory street, Andrew Fraser, 11 years old, of Lotus place, and William Bentley of Rosemore road, Jamaica Plain, started yesterday afternoon to go to the small body of water in the meadow and on the west side of the Dedham branch tracks of the railroad, near Forest Hills, known as "Muddy pond," to have a swim.

The four youths were walking on the railroad tracks just south of Forest Hills station, where the Dedham branch tracks form a junction with the main line tracks of the railroad. The New York express was approaching the junction and Kevill's companions ran across the tracks. One of them shouted to Kevill, "Look out for the train!" He answered: "I'll get across all right." He evidently misjudged the distance and speed of the express train, and was struck by the locomotive and thrown 40 feet.

The train was stopped and employees of the railroad who were near ran to the child to find him dead. His head was terribly crushed.

Mrs. Kevill when seen after the accident, said that she had cautioned her son not to go to the pond. He was a pupil in the third grade of the Margaret Fuller school on Glen road.

DANGEROUS BUG

Has Damaged a Number of Trees
In the City

A dangerous bug has been discovered in Lowell and Supt. Whittier of the park department, who is more or less of a bugologist, admits that it is a new one on him. He was ignorant of its presence here until within a day or two and he is going to ask the state entomologist to identify the new comer.

The habits of the new bug are really more dangerous than anything that has yet visited us and he works unobserved. He feeds on the heart of the tree and any old tree tastes good to him. When he first discovered the unwelcome visitor Mr. Whittier thought perhaps the bug had a predilection for the heart's blood of the elm, but he soon discovered that the new comer played no favorites and was no respecter of trees.

The eggs from which the new bug hatches are laid by a black beetle and while it is supposed that the beetle must bore his way to the heart of the tree where the eggs are deposited, there are no holes visible in the tree. He constitutes the biggest conundrum that ever struck town in the line of a bug.

Sometime ago the mayor addressed a letter to the park commission asking that the shade trees throughout the city be looked over and attended to in order to avoid a repetition, if possible, of the sad accident on the South common on the afternoon of July 3.

In compliance with the mayor's letter the park commission instructed its superintendent to go over all the trees and examine them carefully. It was while conducting this examination that Supt. Whittier came upon the new bug which he describes as a "white slug." He found that trees absolutely healthy from all outside appearances were had at heart because of the ravages of the new bug, and in several trees he found colonies of the bugs extending almost the whole length of the tree. He says the "white slug" is as large as a man's thumb and about one inch and a half long. The fact that the new bug works on the inside of the tree and covers up its tracks he will be a hard fellow to cope with. This state entomologist will probably be able to identify him.

FORGERY CHARGE

Girl Says That Woman
Gave Her Check

NEW YORK, July 23.—It isn't unusual in Harlem for a child to walk into a store with a check to be cashed. Therefore when ten-year-old Francis Walsh went into Yeager's drug store at 2518 Eighth avenue yesterday with a check for $40.30 to be cashed the drugist took it and turned toward his cash register. He gave the check a moment's study and then arrested his hand on the "No Sale" key. With one more squint at the check he went to the telephone and softly called police headquarters.

Detectives Isaacson and McCullough responded. The Walsh boy led them to the corner of 136th street and Eighth avenue and pointed to a demure looking girl in a basket hat who, he said, had given him the check to get cashed while she waited. The girl was Mary Benson, 17, of 1752 Amsterdam avenue. She went to the West 125th street police station protesting that she hadn't done anything. But several persons who have been swindled recently by forged checks had been summoned.

The girl's protests were cut short by the entrance of Mary Hines, 13, of 2517 Eighth avenue, who said that the Benson girl on Wednesday gave her a check to be cashed in Jeldor Greenbaum's butcher shop. Just then Greenbaum himself reached the police station.

"I was called up Wednesday by a woman who said she was Mrs. Mauley T. Sharpe of 488 St. Nicholas avenue," said Greenbaum excitedly, "and asked me to cash a check for $10. I said I couldn't yet, but I would give her $20 on it, and she said that would be all right and she would send the check around. Soon Mary Hines here came in with the check."

nine-year old boy, Billy Dietrich, of 25 Manhattan street, was sure that Mary Benson was the girl who had spotted him with $40 with which he was running an errand on June 10 and who had shoved him into a doorway and wrested $36 away from him.

The girl's cashier of Charles Farrington's bakery at 2538 Eighth avenue recognized the Benson girl as the one who tried some time ago to get her to cash a check for $50 on the Garfield bank. The check was preposterous to look at.

The Benson girl kept saying in the police station that "some woman" gave all these checks to her. In the Harlem police court before Magistrate Harris she later pleaded guilty to a charge of attempting to pass a forged check on the drugist Yeager. She was held in $200 bail for trial at general sessions.

The check she sent to the drugist was drawn on the Philadelphia Trust company. Daniel Lazinsky of 488 St. Nicholas avenue, Mrs. Sharpe's address, was the ostensible maker and the check was in favor of Samuel Lazinsky. The endorsement was "D. Lazinsky."

YOUNG BRIDE

TO GET HER CLOTHING BY COURT'S ORDER

NEW YORK, July 23.—Joseph H. Byington of 1211 Fulton street was haled yesterday to the Gates avenue court in Brooklyn by his nineteen-year-old daughter, Mabel, to explain why he was being sued to surrender her clothing to her.

On Sunday Mabel was married to George W. Hogan, a young jeweler, and the couple went to live in a flat at 1023 Bedford avenue. The father was opposed to the marriage and would not allow his daughter to wear hats, gowns and other articles of clothing to her new home. The young woman told Chief Magistrate Kemper that she had been working steadily as a milliner since she was 16 years old and that she had earned her own living and saved enough money to purchase all her outfit. Counsel for the father wanted to have the matter thrown out in replevin proceedings in a civil court, but Magistrate Kemper said that if the clothing was not delivered to the daughter before this morning there would be trouble for the father.

PRETTY PARK

FRANKLIN SCHOOL GROUNDS TO BE BEAUTIFIED

Franklin school park is the next to be added to Lowell's "victoria king." The little V shaped piece of land that juts out from the Franklin school almost separating Middlesex and Branch streets with its side, is to be properly dressed and made into a pretty little park. The drinking fountain that would interfere with the improvements that the street and park departments would make at that point is to be moved to the opposite side of the street. The moving of the drinking fountain will be done by the street department. The park department will build a low stone wall about the little park and will fix the grade to conform to the street.

DIAMOND NOTES

The Lynn item has the following:
"Like President Ed Arundel of the Lawrence club, James J. Gray, owner and manager of the Lowell club of the New England league, has allowed himself to be duped by a hard luck story to cash a $25 check to which the name of Matthew McCann, president of the Lynn club, was forged. Both checks are almost identical and the method of getting them cashed the same. The truth dawned on Mr. Gray when the check was returned a few days ago to him accompanied by a protest that Mr. McCann has no account in the bank to which it was made payable. He immediately sat down and wrote the following to Matt:

Lowell, July 17, 1910.
Dear Sir: A check for twenty-five dollars ($25) cashed by me has been returned by my bank, as no funds were on hand to meet it. What disposition do you want made with the check? A reply by return mail will greatly oblige yours truly,
James J. Gray.

Matt immediately wired a reply of two words to what to do with it. He told Mr. Gray virtually to forget it, as he must have money to burn in cashing for strangers. In doing the telltale he was wanted to convince Gray that the check was a forgery, as he thought from the tone of the letter that Mr. Gray did not think so.

An attempt has been made to find the person forging these checks on the unsuspecting owners and managers of New England league clubs and why he or they should use McCann's name leads many to believe that the forger lives in Lynn. One man is strongly suspected and the police are quietly working on the case. Matt is confident that he will catch the right party.

"By Gosh," said Matt, "because I am up living on a farm in Wolfboro somebody seems to think that hay sticks out of my boots and that I have developed into a genuine, green country rube. I admit that I may look green, but someone will get awfully mistaken when the turn is called. I cut my eye teeth before I went farming. I don't see but that Arundel and Gray are the ones to have the laugh on, for they were the rubes who got stung. However, they have my sympathies."

CAN BUY ICE

BUT CARR MUST GO TO CART FOR IT

BOSTON, July 23.—Judge Richardson in the superior court yesterday ruled that Mrs. Almira Woods, proprietor of the only ice concern in Hopkinton, must sell ice to Edward Carr of that town, but that Mr. Carr must go to the cart for it. The court held that ice is a prime necessity, but also held that the court could not compel the defendant to take ice into the complainant's house.

The ruling was made in the complaint brought against Mrs. Woods by Mr. Carr, a lawyer of Hopkinton, who claimed that Mrs. Woods refused to sell him ice because of his activity in town affairs.

Counsel for defendant said his client refused to deliver ice to complainant's house because he owed a back bill and if he would come to the cart he could get all the ice he wanted.

Judge Richardson ruled that Mrs. Woods should sell Mr. Carr ice from the cart at the nearest point to Mr. Carr's house that her cart stopped.

After the matter was apparently settled the parties left the court room. In the corridor, however, there was a wrangle. Mr. Carr insisted that the cart should stop opposite his house, while counsel for the defendant wanted Mr. Carr to go about 250 feet from his house. Counsel for Mr. Carr accused the other side of quibbling and all interlocked went back into the court room, where later matter was again brought to the attention of the court.

The result of the last understanding was that delivery should be made in front of Mr. Linn's house in Cedar street.

MAYOR SIGNS ORDER

For Closing Certain Roads for the Auto Races

But Will Require a Bond as Soon as Definite Arrangements
Shall Have Been Made

The order providing for the closing of certain ways in the city of Lowell for the proposed automobile races was signed by Mayor Meehan today. The mayor hesitated about affixing his signature to the order until he had taken the matter up with the city solicitor. Section 5 of the order calls for a bond to indemnify the city against all possible loss. The mayor has heard from the city solicitor and although the bond has not yet been filed he decided to sign the order.

John O. Heinze and Thomas C. Lee, the two men most prominently connected with the proposed race, called at the mayor's office this forenoon and had a conference with him. Heinze said that arrangements for the race were far from complete and that the proposition is absolutely in the abstract.

"If signed the order," said the mayor, "because I did not want to put obstacles in the way, but Mr. Heinze and the Lowell Automobile club realize that although the order has been signed there will be no race unless the necessary bond is filed. Because of the fact that everything is as yet in the air."

BOXING GOSSIP

Langford and Kaufman have signed an agreement to box six rounds at the National A. C. of Philadelphia next month. The men will receive separate guarantees, it is said, and the fight will be on its merits, not a trawp, as the Langford-Ketchel affair turned out to be. Langford and Kaufman were matched to fight twenty rounds in San Francisco last June when Gov. Gillett stopped all glove fighting in California, so that their meeting in Quakerville will probably stir up renewed interest. If there is no-stalling and the men fight on the dead level this bout will be of much importance, as the winner if one is produced will be in an excellent position to demand a fight with Jack Johnson.

Kaufman, in the opinion of Johnson is the best white heavyweight in the world and the only one capable of making a bid for the negro's title. Deane has expressed the belief that in another year Kaufman may have a chance to whip Johnson in a long fight. Indorsed in this manner by Johnson and Delaney, Kaufman must show marked superiority over Langford in order to keep in line for a fight involving the title now held by the Texas black man. Langford, on the other hand in making this match with Kaufman sees a chance to force Johnson into a corner, for a victory over Kaufman would mean that Langford's progress had made further belittling.

Who has signed with Kaufman, said Langford's manager, Joseph Woodman, yesterday, "and if Delaney's man doesn't back out you can safely bet that Langford will trim him in Philadelphia. Persons who believe in Langford's star should buy two or three rounds. Kaufman is big, awkward and slow, just the kind of a mark that Langford could always whip. In declaring that Kaufman is his most dangerous rival Johnson is simply anxious to avoid Langford. That is why we have taken Kaufman on and are going to eliminate him from the heavyweight situation."

"If Langford whips Kaufman we will then challenge Johnson to fight for $20,000 a side. I can raise the money now. If necessary I will provide Johnson with six articles, but I know very well that Johnson is dodging behind the Kaufman bluff. Hugh McIntosh, I understand, will offer a $25,000 purse for twenty rounds, between Langford and Johnson to be decided in England or Australia, and you can bet that we will accept the offer, whenever it is made, in tangible form. Ketchel will not fight Langford. That's a cinch. I don't believe that he could be dragged into the same ring with Sam, even if he could have all the money in the world."

Langford has begun training at Northboro, Mass., and Kaufman is on his way east from the coast.

The Ketchel-Lang 12n round bout to be decided at the Fairmont A. C. on August 12 has been checked by President Gibson. Ketchel will do his training at Woodlawn, as usual, while Lang will prepare for the mill at New Dorp, Staten Island. It is said, Lang will have at least twenty pounds the better of the weights.

Rumor has it that the unknown to be backed by McIntosh and trained by Corbett if a match with Jack Johnson can be secured is Warren Barbour, the amateur heavyweight champion, Corbett recently put on the gloves with Barbour and was surprised by the latter's strength and science. Barbour is said to be wealthy, but bankers for time in the prize ring.

MILLS TO RUN

FALL RIVER, July 23.—With the exception of the shutdown of the Fall River iron works plant on its schedule of alternate weeks of operation and curtailment, the mills will run next week. Ten plants which have been idle this week will resume. The Anconia is to close until August, while the Stafford and Troy will operate in part only, the latter curtailing because of a machinery accident.

the abstract there is really no necessity of a bond at this time, but just as soon as the thing is in the concrete I will demand the bond."

The city solicitor's opinion as submitted to the mayor reads as follows:
Lowell, Mass., July 22, 1910.
Hon. John P. Meehan,
Mayor of Lowell.

Dear Sir: In reply to your request as to the effect of a certain order, passed by the board of aldermen granting to John O. Heinze and the Lowell Automobile club the right to close certain ways in the city of Lowell and there hold speed contests for motor cycles and automobiles, in its relation to a bond to be given to indemnify the city against all possible loss consequent upon said contest, it is in my opinion, that after said order is signed by the mayor, no contest can be held until the provisions of section 5 of said order have been complied with, namely, the giving of an agreement of indemnity secured by a bond or bonds satisfactory to and approved by the mayor.

Very truly yours,
William W. Duncan,
City Solicitor.

ESCAPED LUNATIC

REPORTED AS HAVING BEEN SEEN IN SEVERAL PLACES

WILTON, N. H., July 23.—Charles F. Terrill, who escaped from officers by jumping from a swiftly moving train near Amherst, Tuesday morning, has been reported as having been seen in several places, and the officers here are following up every clue to locate him.

Missing articles were found in his possession, and in one case a large sum of money which was stolen from Station Agent E. A. Danforth was found in his hands and the theft admitted.

Tuesday Terrill's father-in-law, Robert Mason of Lyndeboro, had him arrested. Mrs. Staples of Franciscana and J. E. Higgins of Wilton were called and pronounced him insane and recommended his removal to the asylum at Concord.

Accordingly Chairman of Selectmen Senter and Officer Thomas Cootley of Wilton started with him, and as the train was speeding between Amherst and Baboisc, Terrill was allowed to go to the lavatory, and the next the officers knew he was jumping through the window.

100 YEARS OLD
SPRINGFIELD, Vt., July 23.—Mrs. Matilda Whitney, the oldest citizen of Springfield, will pass her 100th birthday today at the home of her son, John V. Whitney. Mrs. Whitney will receive many testimonials of the best wishes of her friends in this and surrounding towns. She is in fairly good health, retains her memory and faculties to a remarkable degree and is entertaining in conversation.

Mrs. Whitney was born in Springfield on a farm bordering the Connecticut. Her father, John Walker, lived in Charlestown until 1796, when he married Miss Phileas Spencer and moved to Concord, N. H. In 1808 they returned to Springfield. Mrs. Whitney's mother died in 1859, when 83 years old. Mrs. Whitney was the seventh of a family of 11 children. One of these lived to be a nonagenarian, three passed the 80 years mark and all but three of the remaining lived to be over 70.

Master Bernard McGuire of Claremont will spend the next two months at the home of his aunt, Mrs. J. E. Crawford, on Charles street.

Fire Broke Out in Hold of the Steamer Momus

CHARLESTON, S. C., July 23.—The wireless at the navy yard picked up a message this morning from the South Pacific liner Momus reporting fire in the afterhold since yesterday. The vessel anchored in twelve fathoms of water.

The Momus of the same line is standing by and has taken off the passengers.

The fire is not under control. Location of the vessel is not clearly established. The vessel is off Cape Canaveral on the east coast of Florida.

HAD 60 PASSENGERS

NEW YORK, July 23.—The steamship Momus, under the command of Captain John Boyd, left here for New Orleans last Wednesday with 60 passengers. She carried a crew of 120 men. Officers of the Southern Pacific express the belief that the fire would be confined in the afterhold. Marine Supt. Yungen said that there was no inflammable freight in the afterhold of the Momus.

The steamer Momus which took off the passengers of the Momus left New Orleans for New York on Wednesday.

KILLED BY TRAIN

Officer Craig
Aged Woman Victim of Accident

NEW YORK, July 23.—A woman about 70 years of age was killed by a westbound electric train on Bath avenue near Bay Twenty-fifth street, Bath Beach, at 7 o'clock last night.

The woman stepped onto the station platform to get out of the way of an automobile and her dress was caught by the third rail shoe of the last car of a four car train that was starting from the station. The rear wheels of the car ran over her neck.

It was some time before the woman could be got from under the train. Firemen of Hook and Ladder 143 took off the brake shoe in order to get the body out.

Tightly clutched in the woman's hand was a letter addressed to Miss H. Van Ness, 178 South street, New York. She wore a gold Maltese cross on which was engraved "W. R. C. 1833." Her wedding ring was engraved "W. H. B. to M. J. M., 1899." She was dressed in black.

The dead woman was identified later by Mrs. John Lee of 2543 Harway avenue, Brooklyn, as Mrs. Jennie Bogart, widow of William Bogart. Mrs. Lee said that Mrs. Bogart's husband died about twelve years ago. About 1895 he was in the district attorney's office. He was once wealthy but lost most of his money in some financial deal about twenty years ago.

Mrs. Bogart's maiden name, according to Mrs. Lee, was Mackay. Mrs. Lee said that she was related to John Mackay, father of Clarence Mackay. Her old family homestead was on Second avenue in the neighborhood of Grumery park. Mrs. Lee thought she had relatives living on Thirty-fifth street near Fifth avenue, Manhattan.

Mrs. Lee did not know where Mrs. Bogart had been living recently, but said that she had been on a visit to her and was on her way home evidently when she met her death.

REWARD OF $5000

FOR ARREST AND CONVICTION OF ALLEGED MURDERER

CHICAGO, July 23.—Stains on the cement sidewalk near the home of Ira Rawn, late president of the Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville road, found shot to death Wednesday morning in his summer residence, were declared today by chemists to have been caused by some coloring matter in a watery solution and not by blood of the supposed murderer.

In Rawn, a nephew of the deceased, has offered a reward of $5000 for the arrest and conviction of the supposed murderer.

MOTORBOAT RACES

NEWPORT, R. I., July 23.—Before a light southwest wind twelve boats of the Narragansett Bay Yacht Racing Association left for Oak Bluffs, Mass. The racers were divided into two classes, nine motorboats leaving two hours after the three sailing yachts tucked away from here. The day was an ideal one for the motorboats, but not so favorable for the sailing craft.

PATTEN SAILS FOR EUROPE

NEW YORK, July 23.—James A. Patten, the erstwhile "victoria king," sailed for Europe on the steamer Kronland, accompanied by his partner, William H. Bartlett of Chicago, and William S. Clough of Boston.

He said: "The financial situation this fall depends on grain crops. The oats crop is short, wheat is short, and hay is short. If corn fails the country might have a period of dull times. The entire corn belt has had a serious deficiency of moisture since March."

CECELIA LOFTUS TO UNDERGO SURGICAL OPERATION IN LONDON

CECELIA LOFTUS.

LONDON, July 23.—The engagement of Cecelia Loftus for the last work in July at the Coliseum in this city has been postponed indefinitely owing to the fact that the actress must undergo a surgical operation. The announcement is a disappointment to London admirers of the American actress and causes much distress among her numerous friends on both sides of the ocean. In recent years the Cissy Loftus of earlier days, whose winks made her famous as a merry little Theophrastus, has essayed and executed some of the most difficult roles in the legitimate drama. She has been leading woman for several famous actors. Miss Loftus is the divorced wife of Justin Huntly McCarthy, the playwright.

GOT NO MONEY

Highwaymen Held Up Express Driver

BOSTON, July 23.—An express driver and his helper were held up at the point of a revolver by two unknown men on Pearson road, Somerville, last night. After going through the pockets of both men and obtaining no money, the highwaymen made good their escape by keeping their victims covered with the weapon while they hurried down the thoroughfare.

Ernest Elwin, employed by Glines' express as a driver, and John Crowley, his helper, were the men held up. Receiving a report of the holdup nearly two hours later, the Somerville police searched the vicinity, but obtained no clue. Elwin and Crowley stopped their wagon in front of 24 Pearson road at 3:30 and Elwin went into a dwelling to deliver a package.

When he returned to the street a man, about 6 feet 7 inches in height, who wore a derby hat and had a mustache, stopped briskly up to Elwin and commanded him to remain quiet. The highwayman held a revolver close to the expressman's head. His companion went through Elwin's pockets, but found nothing of value.

Keeping Elwin covered the men commanded Crowley to step down from the wagon and submit to a search. The

STOCK MARKET

WEAK AND RATHER DULL TOWARD THE CLOSE TODAY

It became active again on a decline—Prices sagged back in some cases to the lowest.

NEW YORK, July 23.—Selling pressure was renewed at the opening of the stock market today and losses were registered in all directions. All classes were affected to about equal degree. Canadian Pacific was notably weak with a decline of 2 1/2. There was some evidence of support in Reading, that stock rallying to a fractional gain after opening down a shade.

In the free outpouring of stocks there were losses of 1 1/2 to 2 points in Union Pacific, Illinois Central, Minneapolis, St. Paul, and Sault Ste. Marie, Rock Island, Southern Railway, and Texas & Pacific, Am. Car. International, Harvester and others. National Lead lost 2. Supporting orders for the latter stock called the list and there were recoveries running to a point or more. American Smelting rose a point over last night.

The market closed weak and rather dull. The market became active again on a decline. The general list met support at about the limits of the previous decline and rallies followed. Prices sagged back in some cases to the lowest.

LAMP OVERTURNED STARTED A FIRE ON JEFFERSON STREET

An alarm from box 125 at 9:39 o'clock last night summoned a portion of the fire department to a slight blaze in a tenement in the block in Jefferson street owned by Peter H. Savage. The blaze was caused by the accidental overturning of a kerosene lamp. The fire department was early on the scene and extinguished the blaze before much damage was done.

HIS LEG HURT OPERATIVE AT THE TREMONT AND SUFFOLK INJURED

Ferdinand Blodau, residing at 12 Tucker street, met with a slight injury to his left leg while at work in the picker room of the Tremont and Suffolk mills this morning. The ambulance was summoned and he was taken to the Lowell hospital, where he received treatment. Later he was removed to his home.

FIGHTING FOREST FIRES IN WISCONSIN; WESTERN CANADA ALSO SUFFERS SEVERELY

MERRILL, Wis., July 23.—The worst Gleason, north of Bloomville, also was forest fires ever known in this part of Wisconsin. At Galloway and vicinity the forest fires have been devastating great forest fires covered an area ten miles long and three miles wide. Vanman and New London steamers have fought the fires, but with slight success. Millions of the people of Heilmann fled to Bloomville, where they and the 500 residents stayed. The problem of food supply of that town were cut off from escape. A severe one, particularly at Bloomville, the fires raged all around the place. Merrill, with its population largely augmented by refugees from other points.

CARDINAL GIBBONS

JAMES CARDINAL GIBBONS
Who Celebrated His 76th Birthday Today

Will Observe His 76th Birthday Quietly Today

James Cardinal Gibbons is today 76 years of age. At his home in Baltimore, Maryland, finding that his health was failing, suggested to Rome that Bishop Gibbons be nominated as cardinal. He received the nomination in 1877, with the right of succession to the see of Baltimore.

Archbishop Bayley died a few months later, so Bishop Gibbons was elevated to what was then the highest position of the Catholics in the United States, being made archbishop of Baltimore.

He was one of the American prelates to visit Rome in 1853 to outline the work for the third plenary council. His marked ability was noticed by Pope Leo XIII, who appointed him to preside over the plenary council.

During the meeting of the council, the archbishop again won the approbation of the pope, who, to show his appreciation, nominated him for cardinal.

Bishop Gibbons' nomination was promptly confirmed, and he became a prince of the church.

Early in 1887 the cardinal sailed for Rome, where he received the red hat and the apostolic benediction from the pontiff.

On his return to Baltimore, the cardinal was given a gigantic reception by people of all classes.

One of his first acts was the laying of the cornerstone of the Catholic University in Washington. He later opened it, and is now its chancellor.

The cardinal has always led an active life, and despite his age he finds time and strength to attend an enormous number of church ceremonies in all parts of Baltimore and the surrounding country.

Cardinal Gibbons is not only beloved as the head of the Catholic church, but also as a man.

His charity is said to be boundless, and although a great deal of money has been bequeathed to him at various times, the general impression is that he is a poor man, and that he has given away everything which has been left to him.

REWARD OF $500

BAN JOHNSON DETERMINED TO STOP TIPPING OF SIGNALS

CHICAGO, July 23.—Five hundred dollars reward is offered by the American league for evidence tending to show that any player or club in the league is using or countenancing the tipping of signals of any opposing team. Any player involved will be blacklisted from organized baseball for all time to come. This bit of information, in addition to the fact that Jack Sheridan may become manager of umpires in the American league or be given some commanding position was handed out by President Johnson on his return to Chicago from the east yesterday.

"I made a thorough investigation while in the east in regard to the alleged 'tipping bureau' of the New York American club," said President Johnson. "I could not discover a single bit of evidence to support the talk that was started some time ago. Neither could I find out that Fletcher Walsh of the Chicago American league club had ever said he believed there was such a system of signals employed. There is no one more concerned about it than myself and I will pay $500 to any person who produces proof that any improper signals were used. The fact of the matter is that the New York players have been butting just as strongly when away from home as on their own grounds and this in itself should disprove the charges."

THE CAMPBELLTON DISASTER

ST. JOHN, N. B., July 23.—The daily press has told of the complete destruction of Campbellton by fire, but the earliest statements published did not make clear the full extent of the disaster. Both the population and the loss were understated. As matters of fact the town, which was growing rapidly, had previously 5000 inhabitants, and the loss amounted to not less than $5,000,000. Since only seven buildings were left standing, the destruction was more complete than in any other fire that has ever occurred in a Canadian town. There was $2,000,000 or more of insurance, but this, while it will assist the citizens, who were careful enough to carry insurance, in the work of rebuilding, will be of no advantage to many, whose property was not insured. No sooner had the news of the fire been flashed over the wires than there was a remarkable demonstration of practical sympathy. From all quarters aid poured in, but much more help will be required before many of the sufferers will be in a position to take up their life again under conditions favorable to the restoration of their former comfortable circumstances. But as Campbellton is a railway divisional point, the centre of a great lumber industry, and at the head of navigation on the Restigouche river, its future is assured. There will be a new Campbellton better than the old.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1909 was

16,828

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilote, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1910. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

It is now up to the park department to show what it can do in the line of development. The citizens want quick results.

The latest idea of providing recreation for the masses is to place benches on large bridges passing through cities. Boston has lines of benches on either side the bridges over the Charles and Mystic rivers. Our bridges are not wide enough to allow of this.

SHOULD BE SMOOTH PAVED

Why not smooth pave Worthen street between Market and Merrimack streets where it is much used for heavy traffic? It is paved with cobble stones, and as it has a livery stable on either side the question of sanitation is one that may well be considered. It is impossible to keep the street clean. Besides, the noise of heavy teams passing there actually disturbs business on either side the street. It is impossible to use the telephone or to carry on a conversation except by shouting while a heavy wagon is passing.

This portion of the street is so near city hall that it may be considered a part of the square. For that reason, if for no other, it should be smooth paved same as Merrimack street. The cost would be trifling but the improvement would be worth a great deal.

THE CITY ALMSHOUSE

It is an old saying that "seeing is believing." The charity board evidently realized the force of this truth when it invited a number of newspapermen to look over the farm for the purpose of judging of what excellent work is being done and how much certain improvements are needed. We are now more strongly than ever of the opinion that the board should have an appropriation large enough to make the needed improvements and that if forced to pay the $4000 bill due a state institution for some years, it will be obliged to stint the inmates of the farm to an extent wholly unwarranted. We regret that the appropriation committee was not of the inspecting party on Thursday afternoon, as, if the members once saw for themselves what the board of charity is doing and what improvements are needed at the city hospital, we surmise there would be no more controversy over the needed appropriations.

The present board of charity is doing splendid work for the city and the city's poor by expending the money appropriated to the very best advantage at every point, by making the inmates work where this is practicable and thus saving certain expenses that would otherwise be imperative. One of the first and most urgent needs of the hospital and in fact of the entire city is a contagious hospital.

Dr. McCarty, chairman of the board, has in mind a plan for such a hospital, a plan in which a single wing might be built to begin with and and other wings added as necessity might require. The plan is quite feasible and could be put in operation at an outlay of about $10,000 to begin with. There would always be enough cases to warrant the employment of a nurse and an attendant. Were such a hospital available not only the contagious cases at the farm but many of those throughout the city could there be isolated and properly cared for. In this manner the death rate might be reduced and many lives saved.

Mayor Meehan is very strongly in favor of a contagious hospital. He quotes the law which is positively mandatory with a penalty for non-compliance. How has the city evaded this law? Simply by sending the contagious cases to the Lowell hospital and paying for them. That does not comply with the law as the number of cases that can be sent there is very small, and if there was a contagious hospital to which primary cases of scarlet fever, diphtheria and tuberculosis could be sent, the spread of these diseases would thus be checked and new cases, sometimes small epidemics, prevented.

The city farm buildings viewed from the outside look like a prison as there is not a single piazza on any of the structures. There is a projection on one side of the women's hospital extending outward about the width of a good veranda. The charity board wants a piazza built on top of this for the accommodation of the women. It would enable them to get to the outer air; some of the cripples could be taken there in their wheel chairs and in case of fire all on that floor could be assembled there for protection. There should be several piazzas on the buildings, some for sun exposure and some for shade. The growing belief in the efficacy of fresh air and sunshine as promoters of health might have a practical application at the farm if there were piazzas on which the patients could be given an outing under proper supervision.

The need of an elevator is quite imperative. There are a lot of women in a three-story building and they cannot be taken out except by helping them individually down three flights of stairs. It is a still more difficult task to take a helpless woman up three flights of stairs. This difficulty can be completely overcome by putting in a small elevator which could be run by an electric motor. This, like the contagious hospital, is an improvement the need of which nobody can deny.

As to the change in the name of the institution, we believe the recommendation is a good one. The change is advocated in order to remove so far as possible the stigma of pauperization conveyed by the name "city farm" or "city hospital" which is but another way of naming the poor house. However old or decrepit the inmates may be they still are sensitive to their position, and except those whose minds are enfeebled by age, they very generally feel the humiliation of being a city charge. Their sensitiveness could be noticed as the party passed through on Thursday. Those who were spoken to evinced a feeling of satisfaction or even of pride at being recognized in a kindly way while some of those who were not spoken to appeared actually to wince under the supposed slight.

This shows that the inmates are sensitive, and while the institution would still be an almshouse maintained by the city those not directly acquainted with that fact would not find any indication of it in the designation "Chelmsford Street Hospital." As the change would not cost anything it is to be hoped that the city council will make this concession to the good judgment of the charity board and its respect for the feelings of the inmates.

SEEN AND HEARD

The average man doesn't improve his time when he tinkers with his watch.

Even a consistent temperance advocate may kick on the amount of his water tax.

A suffragette says the average woman's faith in her husband is fully two-thirds pretense.

When you hear an undertaker growling about the increased cost of living he is probably trying to boost his business.

A soft head isn't any use, even for a pin cushion.

Experience teaches a man to fall again in a different way.

People are not anxious to prove what heaven is by a visit to it.

A NATIVE

She was pretty as a picture in her bathing suit of blue. 'Twas a costume most becoming. But the maiden knew it, too. But she plunged into the water. With a very graceful dive. Without shrieking for a hero. Who would rescue her alive.

She could float upon the billows. For three minutes in succession. Like a porpoise she would play in the water while the other maidens shrieked and ran in fear. And she even wet her tresses. And got bubbles in her ear.

Much we marveled at the maiden. Who so different seemed to be from the other laughing lassies. Who went splashing in the sea. She went swimming just for swimming.

For she dearly loved the water. Then we found she was a native. Not a ciliated resorter.

Science urges that the housefly is given its proper name of typhoid fly, since it is in the business of spreading typhoid germs and other dregs of nature. This, while true, is in fact the most dangerous of pests. Its presence is proof of filth somewhere about, since it breeds amid stench and revels in all manner of germ diseases.

Let this unclean insect be known by its proper name. The gullible scientists of past centuries were hoodwinked by its familiar ways, never realizing that the presence of the fly was a signal of danger and a proof of uncleanness. Winged typhoid is what it is, so call it the typhoid fly and banish it.

Do not eat food that has had the contaminating touch of the fly-covered feet of flies. Do not breed flies by permitting filth to remain on your premises.

The fly is a reproach to mankind. Man has harbored it in his home and thus preserved it from extinction by the cleaning processes of frost. Against the typhoid fly, what it is and what it does, the war of extermination against it—Chicago News.

GRAND DUKE ALEXIS

AMES AIRSHIP

Tests of It Began at Annapolis

ANNAPOLIS, Md., July 23.—Tests of the "Ames aero cycle," as the airship invented by Congressman Butler Ames of Massachusetts will probably be called, began at the Naval academy yesterday.

Before a naval board the workings of the machine were demonstrated by its inventor.

It is not the intention to put the machine to actual flight during the tests, but it will be thoroughly tried out with regard to the horsepower required to lift it, and the size of the propeller blade necessary to drive it. The indications are that the tests will be made in secret.

Mr. Ames' invention is an entirely new thing in aerial navigation both in appearance and theory of propulsion. Two large spiral-like discs suspended on either side of a power plant revolve with a motion that is forward and upward, while the forward drive is got by a regular aerial propeller in the rear.

In stating his theory of flying yesterday, Mr. Ames described it as similar to an "upshoot" pitched back, the revolution of the spoons being similar to the twist given by the pitcher's fingers, while the propeller takes the place of the throw of the pitcher's arm.

The testing of this theory is to be done while the airship remains tied to the specially constructed platform aboard the torpedo boat Bagley, the retaining ropes being loosened only enough to ascertain the lifting power.

OAKLAND, Cal., July 23.—Mrs. A. M. Atwood, a wealthy widow of New York city, and A. H. Foster of Dalton, Ga., who have met a week ago Sunday at the Metropolitan hotel made a hasty trip to San Rafael yesterday morning and were quietly married. The nuptial knot was tied after several weeks of courtship by correspondence, and the newly wedded couple, both of whom are well advanced in years, left for a honeymoon trip, with Santa Cruz as their objective point.

The correspondence that followed began while Mrs. Atwood was in Los Angeles recently. She placed an advertisement for proposals with a matrimonial agency of that city, and Mr. Foster's response came in the form of a letter. Mrs. Atwood declared that No. 53, from a man she had formerly known, was on its way when she accepted Mr. Foster's proposal and agreed to meet him here for the ceremony. She said that she had accepted Mr. Foster because he didn't smoke.

According to her own statement, Mrs. Atwood is worth about $100,000. Invested in real estate and stocks. Upon the couple's return from San Rafael a will was drawn up by attorneys in which Mrs. Atwood provided $30,000 for Mr. Foster in case of her demise. The balance of her fortune will be distributed among her relatives.

She then paid the expenses of Mr. Foster's courtship, hotel and laundry bills of both herself and husband, bought him some new clothes, and then said:

"I wonder if the skeptical ones will persist in declaring that marriage by correspondence is a failure?"

BUREAU OF MINES

ESTABLISHED BY ACT OF CONGRESS ON JULY 1

The act establishing a bureau of mines in the department of the interior became effective July 1. As originally approved, the law contemplated the transfer of the entire geologic branch of the United States geological survey, the mine accident investigations, fuel investigations, structural materials investigations, the entire personnel, property and equipment, to the bureau of mines; but the sundry civil appropriation act, approved June 25, amended the law to such an extent that the structural materials investigations, including the personnel and equipment for these investigations went to the bureau of standards, department of commerce and labor. Carrying out the spirit and intent of the law so amended, the secretary of the interior has transferred to the bureau of mines the investigation of mine accidents and fires, together with the personnel and equipment of these investigations, and has transferred to the bureau of standards almost as would shape materials investigations and the employees of the geologic branch of the survey engaged in these investigations. The fully equipped testing station at Pittsburgh also goes to the bureau of mines. The bureau of mines therefore includes the mine accidents and fuel investigations for which an appropriation of $10,000 was made by congress. The total appropriations for the bureau, including salaries, rent and expenses of removal amount to $502,800. The work of the bureau of mines for the first year will be a continuation and expansion of the work carried on by the geologic branch of the geological survey. The law in itself provides for a variety of other problems that properly belong to the bureau of mines and which should eventually be undertaken, such as methods of mining and metallurgical processes, but these activities will be deferred for the most part until congress gives additional authorization in the shape of adequate appropriations. The spirit of the debates in congress both on the bureau of mines legislation and on the appropriation items emphasized the desire to regard the mine accidents investigations as urgent, and this will be the feature of the work. In all, $10,000 was appropriated for mine accident investigations.

THE SMART BLOUSE

Its Infinite Variety

THREATENED things are said to live longest, and the blouse certainly bears out the truth of the adage, for in spite of fierce attacks on its being and much insidious undermining of its foundations it is now well up in years and was never more flourishing than at the present time. The holiday months, indeed, are the time in which the blouse enjoys its greatest popularity, because it plays so necessary a part in holiday life. And at the other end of the scale is the glorified creation, called by courtesy a blouse, which is more courage than blouse and is of so complicated a nature that the skirt has to be built around it.

The rage for the all in one piece garment and the kimono yoke and sleeves have made the blouse bodice much in demand. The equally persistent dominance of the passion for veiling everything has also been greatly in favor of the blouse this season, for it enables the wearer to bring the bodice into line with the skirt.

Then a third recommendation of the blouse for favor is the firm hold which the coat and skirt have on fashion, not only of today, but of the day after tomorrow. There is no evidence of any decline in their favor.

Prognostications say that the fall will give us little else than the coat and skirt in some form or other. In spite of well attempted efforts to push the princess gown beneath the coat the blouse triumphs over them all.

But there is one blouse rule to be observed. There must be no violent contrast between the blouse and skirt. There must be a well marked affinity between them. The one exception is the lingerie blouse, and this, we may be assured, will never be ousted while the American woman has a say in the matter.

She knows the possibilities of its dainty freshness and its fine hand work too well for that. The smart lingerie blouse of French make is an affair of quiet elegance, for it is a mass of fine work of the kind known to our grandmothers as "sewed muslin," the result of hours of patient labor and impaired eyesight. Little lace is used on these charming lingerie blouses. What is used is of the best, valuable crochet or priceless old pieces often being inserted by way of contrast. Then there is the lingerie shirt waist, which is a trifle less elaborate than the lingerie blouse that is especially the property of the coat and skirt costume. In its best form this shirt waist is of the finest white French lawn infinitesimally tucked all over and with no trimming at all, finished at the neck with a narrow band and bow of black satin. Even these lingerie blouses have come under the prevailing craze of veiling and over them a blouse of voile or chiffon, the same tone as the skirt, is often used, but somehow it does not seem to accord with the idea of the white blouse.

The pin striped fine cotton shirt waist with lingerie frill down the front is very chic worn with a coat suit. The collars and cuffs of these skirt waists are often embroidered with spots or tiny flowers to match the color of the stripes.

The low necked blouse is worn in and out of season by some women, but the well dressed woman knows the time and the place for its appearance, which is not in the street during shopping hours or in the office if she happens to be a business woman except on exceptionally hot days, when a high neck arrangement is intolerable. Nor are the short sleeves in favor for general wear. Most of the blouse sleeves are fairly tight fitting and long, but at the shoulders they are nearly always cut in one with the yoke or put in raglan fashion, but the idea is to mold the shoulder line carefully and preserve the slope. The round gimp yoke is affected in most of the dressy blouses—in fact, two or even three of these inner gimpes are often seen, using different embroideries and lace. The effect is very stunning and becoming.

CATHERINE TALBOT.

When the Lamp Is Lit

MUSINGS OF ELINOR HITE

THERE has been much written about the widow and her great attraction for men, but never before to my knowledge has a widow taken up the cudgels for her kind. Here's one, however, who has. Listen to her own story:

"I have been a widow for about three years, and despite the fact that widows are supposed to have designs on some poor unsuspecting male I am so far from unattractive from this point of view to my mind a much slandered class. In the first place, most of us were fond of our late husbands, and those of us to whom the departure of No. 1 gave a feeling of relief do not wish to increase our sufferings by making the acquaintance of a possible No. 2.

"On the other hand, should we by any chance remarry it seems very unfair of our friends to remark, as they certainly do: 'Oh, yes; Mrs. So-and-so is married again! Every one knew that she would not be a widow long. Why, she fairly hooked the poor man!' or some similar kind of statement."

It has been said that the widow is popular, which she undoubtedly is, because she understands men. That is true to some extent, but her popularity is not due solely to that cause. The men flock around her for various reasons—sometimes because she combines the brightness of a girl with the sensibility of a woman, a rare combination much appreciated by mere men. Sometimes because she has money is a widow desired.

This is usually the case, for it will be observed that the poor widow is not nearly so attractive. Sometimes she is sought because she has experience and is more likely to make a good wife and sometimes because of love for her. This is the last, the most unusual, but not by any means the least reason, thinks that poor, lonely, much talked about little widow.

SUMMER COAT AND HAT

OF FINE LINEN AND EMBROIDERY.

NEVER was there a time when children were more prettily or more smartly dressed than they are this summer. And yet never was there a time when fond mothers could spend more on clothes without offending good taste. Elaboration of children's frocks and coats takes dainty childish forms. Fustiness and pretension are avoided.

Exquisitely fine materials, fine and delicate hand embroideries or bold simple embroidery effects of a quaint kind, narrow real laces and tiny hand tucks are some of the ways of bringing a garment up into the exclusive class. Such a garment is exquisitely dainty, and if the simplicity is of an expensive kind it has the appearance of being childish.

The coat and hat pictured are of the simple type. The coat is of the finest handkerchief linen embroidered in even-let fashion. A slip of pale pink china silk is worn under it. The lace trimming the ruffles is of real Valenciennes. The lingerie bonnet is of embroidery in English eyelet work, and the soft bow of pale pink matches the coat lining.

The Back Yard Vacation

Did you ever try a back yard vacation? It's a whole heap better than nothing, though not as satisfying as the "real thing."

The preparation for such a vacation is not elaborate, the most exacting demand being the possession of a child's crib with one side cut off and the legs shortened to couch size. As the vacation will last all summer it is well to paint this couch white and cover the mattress with green gingham and the pillows with the same material. The covers should be removable.

Over the couch is fastened a large canopy umbrella, the kind street fakery use, which should be fastened to a strong iron stand painted white with a top that will answer as a table. The umbrella can be adjusted to any height, and it is attractive if covered with green and white striped awning.

With these two articles of furniture and a cotton rug to spread on the grass on damp days over a rubber blanket, the occupant of the couch could move to any part of the yard she pleased to catch the breeze or keep out of the sun.

If one has an old steamer chair it can be added to the couch near the table. It, too, should be painted white or dark green.

A FORTUNE IN THE VENTURE.

"Why some enterprising young person has not started a shop for elderly women's costumes early," said a dowager recently, "is beyond my comprehension, for there is a fortune in the venture." It is quite true that smart and suitable frocks for women past fifty years are few and far between, and even dressmakers pay very little attention to the lines and other details necessary to make a gown becoming to such women. Instead, they either persuade their patronesses to take models meant for debutantes or else turn them out in dresses of good material, but atrociously sedate in appearance. It has often been said that the elderly woman of the present time looks well dressed only when in mourning, and it has been noted that when, although they detest crape and black dresses, generally prefer to see their mothers wear black. All this is because in turning out mourning dresses the builders of the gowns take some pains to make them smart.

THE SEASIDE CHAIR.

Have you seen the wicker seaside chair with a canopy top and side like a huge conch shell? It forms the greatest protection from the wind and shields the eyes and complexion from the glare of the sun.

These chairs are being used by women who have taken up the fresh air cure at home. When used on a porch or in the back yard one can sit in all sorts of weather short of a hard rain and not feel uncomfortable, and it is not necessary to bother about shade.

For strong sunlight a sort of awning extension can be added to the top front.

PATCHING SCREENS.

To patch wire screens out a square from the wire cloth or an old discarded screen, about three inches longer on each side than the hole to be patched. Pull out the wires on the square, making a fringe about three inches deep. Bend the fringe back, push through the meshes of the screen around the hole and press down firmly on the other side. This makes a neat patch and is easily done.

NEW COIFFURE STYLES

THE day of the pompadour and the marcel wave has gone almost beyond our fickle recollection, and for some time the turban or swirl style has been approved. Now Dame Fashion has turned down this last mode and is exploiting the Grecian coiffure as the latest.

Great bunches of finger puffs and bewitching little curls are arranged to stand out from the head as far as possible. This protuberance extends from the crown halfway to the neck. The front hair is undulated and combed back loosely from the face, but quite flat. The coiffure seen in the illustration is an amazing affair, originated by a celebrated Parisian actress, but few women would think of copying such a peculiar style.

Summer Drinks

A DRINK which is easy to make and pleasant to the taste is grape juice poured over shaved ice, with a few very small cubes of pineapple. It looks pretty in hollow stemmed glasses.

Milk shake is made with a cupful of sugar and three-quarters of a cup of water that has been boiled and cooled. Cook for half an hour, stirring often. Set away to cool. When ready to use it add a tablespoonful of the sirup to a glass of sweet milk and vanilla flavoring. Put into a tall glass, fill with finely pounded ice and stir with a glass over the lower or use a regular shaker. Shake hard for two minutes and pour into tumblers.

Orange punch is a delicious cooling drink. For this concoction stir a cupful of sugar into a scant cupful of water and simmer for half an hour. Skim and let it get cold before adding the strained juice of four oranges and half as much lemon juice. Beat all well together, fill chilled tumblers with pounded ice and pour in enough of the sirup to fill up the interstices.

Lemonade for an invalid is made by a nurse in this way: A lemon sliced thin, the seeds are removed, three tablespoonfuls of sugar are sprinkled over it and two cupfuls of boiling water are turned over the whole. When the water is cold it is strained through a cheesecloth.

For a refreshing fruit punch chop a peeled pineapple very fine and cover with a pint of boiling water. Let it stand until cold and then strain through a bag or fine sieve, pressing out all the juice. Add a cupful of cherry or other fruit juice, the juice of two lemons and a sirup that has been made by boiling a pound of sugar with two cupfuls and a half of water. Chill and just before serving add a bottle of mineral water.

HINT FOR VACATION TIME

When on your vacation, girls, it would be well to give a little attention to your complexion, for summer, you know, is the season for tan, freckles, etc. Sea bathing and sun combined probably produce the worst kind of tan, surely the most unbecoming variety. The simple precaution of making up the hands, face, neck and arms before going in bathing is not hard, and if the skin is not supersensitive it will come unhurt through the ordeal of the bath.

Cream is put on first and is then well massaged into the pores, and the powder comes next. It is better to put this on with a rag.

This makeup should be removed immediately after the bath. The quickest and easiest way is to have a clean rag and some toilet water ready for use in the bathroom. After the final cleansing put on some more cold cream and then lie down for forty winks.

Prepared chalk is a good powder to use, while cucumber cream will serve both as a bleacher and as a protector.

DURING WARM WEATHER.

Put away all your household ornaments during the warm months. If your mantelpiece and tables are loaded with little things put them away. Leave a few framed photographs and vases for flowers. The fewer small articles you have around a room the cooler it seems.

To Keep School Friendships

Many girls when they leave school to go to business are puzzled as to how to keep up friendships with their old school chums. A girl who has recently left school has solved this problem for herself by inventing a "third Thursday," as she calls it. On this evening every month all her friends meet at her house for an informal gathering. She sends postcards out a few days beforehand to remind them of the date, and often as many as twenty young people put in an appearance. They are not all girls, because some of her friends have brothers, and they are made welcome.

The youthful hostess makes some plans for keeping her friends amused. All manner of round games are played, and then sometimes there is a two-step or a waltz, while for a change all gather around the piano and join heartily in singing popular songs.

Refreshments are reduced to the minimum cost. Anything in the way of a sit down supper is avoided, and the eatables are handed around.

The greatest success has attended the scheme, which has now developed to such an extent that the same party has arranged a long walk to take place every Saturday afternoon. The meeting is fixed for immediately after lunch, and on these summer afternoons tramps and saunters through the woods will be in form, boating parties, etc., any arrangement of time that suits the place and the party best.

Useful Tips

After an umbrella has been in use for a short time put a few drops of oil in the center of the top about once a month. This prevents the ribs from rusting.

If two thin glasses have stuck one in the other place them in rather warm water and pour cold water in the upper glass. The expansion of one and the contraction of the other loosens them.

A little soap or black lead rubbed on the hinge of a squeaking door will often remedy matters.

Do You Breathe Properly?

Do you know that, as a rule, few people breathe properly? They are actually too lazy to perform the function properly, and by not exerting themselves they impair the beauty of both form and figure.

Non breathing and deep breathing are most important and magical aids to health and beauty. There is a little volume published with the title "Shut Your Mouth and Save Your Life."

Rather startling, isn't it? But it is true, as startling things often are. Deep nose breathing cannot be too often practiced when in the open air, and the purer and clearer the air the deeper should be the breaths. Try this often and it will become a pleasant pastime, and its results will soon be apparent in straighter shoulders, better developed chest, clearer skin, and sweeter breath.

It is really better than any magical youth restorer in the market. It is truly the best "elixir of life" that you can use, while it will not encroach upon the purse at all. Just give this a fair trial and see how easy the habit becomes.

You must also make a point of getting all the sunshine possible. Human beings need the sunbath as much as plants do.

Don't be afraid of its causing freckles, for the very best authorities say that it does not do anything of the kind.

Isn't It Provoking?

Just as everybody has her waists all made news comes from Paris that the new blouses pouch slightly over the girdle, not only in front, but often in the back as well.

The variety is endless, and all are fascinating.

There is a stunning little affair of linen cut in one piece, seamed under the arms and fastened in the back. It is collarless, the round neck being finished with a bertha or finely plaited tulle, usually white.

The sleeves, which extend to the middle of the forearm, are trimmed with backward turning plaitings of tulle.

This style of blouse, carried out in all kinds of materials and with many variations, is very much worn.

THE WAY TO KEEP YOUNG

It is every woman's duty to keep young as long as she can, but unfortunately she does not always know the best way to live up to this duty.

Avoid worry, hurry and getting flustered.

Learn self control. Anger is a rapid wrinkle bringer.

Be temperate. Moderation does not only refer to the stomach, but overeating in any way makes for premature old age.

Love the open air. Fresh air is not a fad. It is necessary if one would keep young.

Get plenty of sleep. Nothing lines the face like nights of wakefulness.

Keep mentally alert. An intellectual back number adds years to her seeming age. Nothing makes for youth like a young mind save perhaps a young heart.

Don't let yourself get sluggish. Here is where the benefit of massage, physical culture and a vital interest in life comes in.

A SENTIMENTAL APRON

THE HEART SHAPED APRON.

FOR the engaged girl's Dorothy and quite appropriate for the occasion. chest nothing could be prettier as Black velvet ribbon makes the ties and gift than this heart shaped apron of is run through the beading which finishes the apron.

SEASIDE AND COUNTRY MILLINERY

IF you want the latest cry in seaside and country millinery, buy one of the new attached glaze silk hats trimmed with patent leather. It is such a splendid "find" for prospective holiday travelers since nothing—motor dust, sun or damp—really injures it a scrap. And the remarkable thing about a hat of this kind is that it is not at all expensive. The hats in the illustration will show you how thoroughly smart and appropriate these glaze hats with their flexible leather rouleau and rosette, and the Paulhan glaze toque sketched has a stunning cockade of glossy patent leather. Altogether they are about as satisfactory hats for hard usage as one can find. And, besides, they are good looking and not in the least freakish, which is saying much in this season of impossible headgear.

Y.M.C.A. BUILDING OFF TO CAMP DUTY

Work On the Structure Will Be Started Before Long

Final negotiations having to do with the new Y. M. C. A. building have been going through with and there is to be something doing on the foundation in a very little while.

The building committee has made final arrangements with the trustees of Dartmouth college concerning certain reservations along the outer walls of the Wentworth and Boutwell blocks in Merrimack and Shattuck streets. The plans for the new building are on the way from Chicago and they will be submitted to local contractors at once.

The completion of negotiations and the work of clearing the way for the new building revealed the public spirit and civic pride of Mr. James J. Gallagher, who has a fruit store on the property included in the transfer. There was no reason why Mr. Gallagher should not stay until the expiration of his lease, but when he heard that his lease was proving a stumbling block he came forward and offered to surrender it.

Early in June last, when the plans for the new Young Men's Christian Association building were rapidly attaining completion, the executive committee of the Young Men's Christian Association was approached by representatives of Dartmouth college interests; these representatives were fearful that the new building, when erected, would block all the Wentworth block windows having a westerly outlook, and all the Boutwell building windows having a southerly outlook. They therefore very naturally sought some arrangement which would at least partially protect the future welfare and tenability of their present property.

The members of the Young Men's Christian Association committee, of course, had no desire to erect a building in such a way as to cause any hardship to their neighbors; on the other hand, they felt that their first duty was to the association and to the public who had made the new building possible. Immediately after they had been waited upon by the Dartmouth college representatives, they ordered that the architect's work should cease, and they strove to seek a solution which should be fair to Dartmouth college, without at the same time prejudicing the Young Men's Christian Association's interests. Up to that time they had expected to build to the edge of their property toward the Dartmouth college buildings, certainly all points in the rear of the old front line of Huntington hall. They had themselves no need of light shafts, because the architect had so arranged his building plans as to concentrate his needed windows around an area about 40 feet long and 12 feet wide, lying immediately back of the Boutwell building and owned, subject to some restrictions, by the Young Men's Christian Association itself.

Dartmouth college was especially anxious (1) to obtain a permanent easement of light and air in the whole area in front of the old line of Huntington hall, (2) to have the Shattuck street front of the Young Men's Christian Association building set back so as to leave unobstructed the side windows of the Boutwell building near Shattuck street, and (3) to have the new Young Men's Christian Association building set far enough away from the Dartmouth college line at all other points, so that light and air might be afforded for existing windows which might later be cut. On the other hand, the Young Men's Christian Association committee did not feel that it should bind the association so that it could not build flush with Merrimack street, so that it could not build in the future without this burdensome restriction. Further, it did not feel that it ought to have its wall fronting either on Merrimack street or Shattuck street located as not to touch the present Dartmouth college buildings, as any gap thus caused would be unsightly and troublesome.

Weeks of negotiation followed. These negotiations were made more protracted and hard by the fact that although Dartmouth college has a local agent, each step had to be authorized by its finance committee, two members of which lived in Concord, N. H., and one in Boston.

By the plan finally worked out, papers in connection with which were passed Friday morning, the Young Men's Christian Association gives Dartmouth college an easement of light and air in four strips, each three feet wide. The first strip, extending back from Merrimack street 40 feet, that is, about as far back as the old line of Huntington hall. The Young Men's Christian Association does not, however, in any way bind itself to keep open the rest of the area on Merrimack street in the future, although it is its plan to locate the front wall of the new building not far from the former front wall of Huntington hall. Dartmouth agrees to remove all fire-escapes from westerly wall of Wentworth building and to make wall attractive. The second strip, an easement in which is granted, extends back about 23 feet from the rear of the proposed front room of the new building toward the Wentworth block; that is, the wall of the easterly front room of the Young Men's Christian Association building is built up to the Dartmouth college line, but the room back of that point has been narrowed three feet to form this strip; this strip will consequently not be visible from Merrimack street. The third strip adjoins the rear of the southerly wall of the Boutwell building and is about 25 feet in length by three in width. The fourth extends back from Shattuck street about ten feet and as in the case of the other three the easement calls for a strip but three feet in width, although the Shattuck street wall of the proposed building will not be built nearer the street than this ten feet. As in the case of the Merrimack street front room of the building, the side wall of the Shattuck street front room will touch the Dartmouth college property so as to conceal the third strip also from the street.

So much for the privileges granted by the Young Men's Christian Association. The principal benefits derived by the association are three:

(1) Dartmouth college pays the sum of $3000 in money.

(2) It will be remembered that the fruit store of Mr. J. J. Gallagher is on the land of the Young Men's Christian Association and is held under a lease which does not expire until 1914. The existence of this incumbency had considerably embarrassed the architects and the committee, for, of course, there was no reason, legal or moral, why Mr. Gallagher should not stay until the termination of his lease. During the negotiations, Mr. Gallagher having heard that his lease was proving something of a stumbling block, came forward voluntarily and offered to surrender his lease without compensation and go elsewhere, provided that a suitable place could be obtained for him. This question was taken up with the agent for Dartmouth college and the premises next door to Mr. Gallagher's present store, not being held under lease, were proposed by Dartmouth for Mr. Gallagher's tenancy. Although Mr. Gallagher was obliged to pay substantially double the rent which he has been paying under his present lease, and although he regarded the new store as in some ways less desirable than the old, he consented to help out the Young Men's Christian Association by making the change, and he will vacate his present store about Aug. 1. Although in one sense this adjustment was not prejudicial to Dartmouth, it was of great value to the Young Men's Christian Association, for stores of the sort available for Mr. Gallagher's business are difficult to obtain and Mr. Gallagher's removal will enable the Young Men's Christian Association to push ahead on its work without the problem of what to do for the four unexpired years of Mr. Gallagher's lease.

(3) Reference has already been made to the 40x12 foot area owned by the Young Men's Christian Association and situated immediately back of the Boutwell building. Under old restrictions have the floors of the alleys above the level of this area above the surface of the ground was forbidden. The architects desired to make use of this portion of the premises for bowling alleys. Although the bowling alleys will be in the basement, in order to have the floors of the alleys above the level of the water in the canal, and yet obtain sufficient head-room, it will be necessary to raise the roof eight or 10 feet above the height allowed by the old restriction. An erection of this height will somewhat interfere with the cutting of windows in the rear of the first floor of the Boutwell building. Under the agreement, however, the Young Men's Christian Association acquires the right to build to the height of about 10 feet above the surface of the area which will give all the height required by the architect for his bowling alley roofs.

The agreements have been passed and recorded and the $3000 paid to the Young Men's Christian Association.

WOODS SEARCHED

For An Alleged Hold-Up Man

LAWRENCE, July 23.—The North Andover police, assisted by a number of volunteers, are searching the woods in the vicinity of Lake Cochichewick for a young man who yesterday morning threatened to kill and rob Edward Powers, aged about 21 years, driver for J. Warren Chadwick, a West Boxford milk dealer.

The holdup occurred on what is known as the Pond road, a sparsely settled territory on the shore of Lake Cochichewick. Powers was returning to the Chadwick farm in West Boxford, after making his deliveries in the city, when he reached a point near Flatts bridge a young man hailed him and asked him for a ride. Powers told the stranger to get on the other side of the wagon, and as the latter proceeded to do so he suddenly pulled a revolver and demanded money.

Powers did not take the "holdup man" seriously at first. The stranger warned him that he meant business and fired two shots, neither of which took effect. Powers whipped up his horse, and almost at the same instant an automobile containing William Byers, a certain manufacturer who summers in North Andover, and his family, put in appearance, and the "holdup" man vaulted over a stone wall and disappeared in the wood nearby.

THE SIXTH REGIMENT OFF FOR CAMP

Local Companies C, G, and K, Leave For Framingham

The annual tour of duty of the Sixth Massachusetts regiment at South Framingham started today. The three Lowell companies, C, G and K, left this city on a special train at 8.45 o'clock, each company having its full quota of men. There was a large crowd at the Middlesex street station and the military boys were given a royal send-off.

The men reported at the state armory in Westford street at 7.30 o'clock this morning, and half an hour later "fell into line" and marched to the station, where the special train was loaded. The train was made up of four cars, three coaches and a baggage car.

Capt. Gardner W. Pearson of Company C, who is the ranking officer, had command of the three companies. Capt. W. R. Jeyes was at the head of Company G, and Capt. James N. Greig was in command of Company K.

The enlisted men were attired in service uniform, leggings, campaign hats, blanket and shelter tents in collar roll with haversack and canteen. The officers wore service uniforms with campaign hats.

When the Lowell companies arrived at camp the members found their trunks had been erected on the old camp grounds known as Camp Dewey. Preparations had also been made for the serving of rations.

Last night the three companies sent their commissary men over the road, and also freighted the supplies that could not be carried over the road. Six men from Company C, commanded by Quartermaster Sergeant Walter Powers, nine men from Company G, commanded by Quartermaster Sergt. Fred Heath, and eight from Co. K, commanded by Quartermaster Sergeant Jerome Searles, took charge of the supplies and equipment that went over the road.

The companies will be commanded as follows: C—Gardner W. Pearson, captain; George W. Peterson, first lieutenant; James E. Burns, second lieutenant.

G—W. R. Jeyes, captain; T. W. Doyle, first lieutenant; Fred A. Mottram, second lieutenant.

K—James N. Greig, captain; John P. Davis, first lieutenant; Harry Masters, second lieutenant.

Among the details of interest to Lowell, thus far announced, are: Lieut. Mottram, battalion quartermaster for the week; Private Harry Jenkins of Company G, clerk of the commissary under Regimental Commissary Louis Hunton; William Carl of Company K, quartermaster; Bugler, George McElroy, drum major of regimental band; General E. P. Clark of Springfield will be post commander, and Col. Geo. H. Priest of Fitchburg will be regimental commander. Visitors will be admitted afternoon and evening. Wednesday will be the big day of the week for the soldiers, a sham battle having been arranged for that day.

The appointment of the following named non-commissioned officers of the Lowell companies has been announced:

G company—R. G. Carlson, Lowell sergeant, to rank from June 23, 1910; R. J. Keeler, Lowell, sergeant, to rank from June 23, 1910; Wm. Trotter, Lowell, corporal, to rank from June 23, 1910; Harry Thistle Lowell, corporal, to rank from June 23, 1910; T. F. Barry, Lowell, corporal, to rank from June 23, 1910.

K company—J. B. Searle, Lowell Q. M. sergeant, to rank from January 14, 1910; W. S. Johnson, Lowell, corporal, to rank from Jan. 14, 1910; C. MacBride, Lowell, sergeant, to rank from May 23, 1910; V. H. Jesett, Lowell, sergeant, to rank from May 23, 1910; C. F. Dupee, Lowell, corporal, to rank from May 23, 1910; E. P. Luce, Lowell, corporal, to rank from May 23, 1910; B. M. Bean, Lowell, sergeant, to rank from June 1910; E. R. Mountain, Lowell, corporal, to rank from June 17, 1910.

Camp will be broken on July 30.

LAKEVIEW THEATRE

People's tastes never run alike, some like one thing, others like another, but it is very seldom that you find so many people declare themselves pleased as has been the case at Lakeview theatre all this week, where the Lakeview theatre stock company has been presenting "Mister and Man" to crowded houses. The play is in four acts, has an abundance of good comedy and abounds in thrilling situations.

For the attraction next week a melodrama in three acts called "The Outlaw's Sweetheart" will be the offering. In it Mr. James Thatcher plays the role of "Jack Durand," the outlaw, a part which gives him a chance to show his ability as an interpreter of the rough and ready sort. The rest of the company will all be cast so that every one will have a part best suited to his or her talents. The bill itself is a strong western drama, full of comedy and thrilling situations and one that will be sure to please.

THEATRE VOYONS

Tomorrow the Theatre Voyons will offer the usual Sunday concert and like all its predecessors it will be made up of the best pictures on the market. These pictures like those shown on week days are exclusive and are seen nowhere else in Lowell. The musical program is a varied and most enjoyable one, and the general public alike. The modern ventilating plant ensures cool pure air all the time and the care in which the pictures are shown means that in no small detail is the show below the highest standards.

On Monday the feature subject will be "Mazeppa" a very big production taken from the old drama once so popular and which was founded on actual Russian history. The admission is but ten cents week days and Sundays and the choice of seats is allowed the patron at no additional cost.

SAILOR KILLED

BOSTON, July 23.—Cornelius J. Riley, aged 26, a sailor on the United States cruiser Salem, now at the Charlestown navy yard, was killed in a street fight at 12.30 this morning.

Few details could be gained by the police about the affair, which took place in front of 138 Court street. Only one witness, a sailor, was found. He was taken to the Joy street station, and the police refuse to give out his name. He identified Riley.

Riley was lying on the sidewalk when the police arrived. He was hurried to the relief station, where Dr. Packard pronounced him dead.

Medical Examiner Magrath was summoned and viewed the body and Captain Dugan of the criminal investigation department was called into the case.

From all the police could gather, Riley had been drinking and looking for a fight. He evidently provoked one and received a single blow from a fist which proved fatal.

BADLY BURNED

DOCTORS SAY THAT MAN MAY RECOVER

PORT CHESTER, N. Y., July 23.—Eleven thousand volts of electricity passed through the body of Michael Foley yesterday, and although he is frightfully burned, he still lives and there is a chance that he will recover. Foley was painting the overhead structure which carries the power wires of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad here, when the slipped and his right arm slid along the feed wire, while the side of his body pressed against a steel pillar. Until the contact broke he was hidden in a blinding sheet of blue flame.

WEBSTER, July 23.—Opium pills found on a public dump and eaten for candy, caused the probably fatal illness of two children and serious sickness of six other youngsters here yesterday.

The two who will probably die are: Victor Pepka, aged 6, son of John Pepka.

Frank Mrowkowski, 12, son of Michael Mrowkowski.

The others who were made sick are: Martha Pepka, 8, Frances Pepka, 10, and Helen Pepka, 12, children of John Pepka, and Lucy Mrowkowski, child of Michael Mrowkowski; Katie Kamarek, 6, and Vladislav Pepka, 13, son of August Pepka.

The children had been playing about the dump during the afternoon and one of them found a little box containing several pills, which, after an eager consultation, were declared to be candy. A whole box of candy meant that there must be a party, so the youngsters adjourned to a tent which they had erected near their homes and proceeded to enjoy their find.

Shortly afterward the holiday spirits of the children began to wane. Everybody seemed sleepy; so gradually the party broke up and everybody went home to have a nap.

Late in the afternoon the children were found by their mothers asleep in odd places about the house. It seemed strange to the parents to have their little ones give up play so early and then it was noticed that the sleep did not seem quite natural.

Some of the mothers became alarmed and two physicians were called. A hasty examination showed that the children were victims of morphine poisoning, and the quick work of the doctors undoubtedly saved the lives of the sufferers. Victor Pepka and Frank Mrowkowski, however, are in a serious condition and little hope is felt for their recovery.

The physicians say that they must have taken at least 12 grains of the poison, while the other three considerably less. All of the victims are being treated at their homes.

ONE YEAR EACH GONE TO REVERE

For Men Accused of Assaulting Officer

BOSTON, July 23.—Judge William H. Preble in the Charlestown municipal court yesterday imposed sentences of one year each in the house of correction on Robert J. Verner of 8 Dix place, Somerville, and John J. Anderson of 129 Linwood street, Somerville, and a sentence of six months in the house of correction upon Albert Johnson, colored, of 545 Shawmut avenue. Each of the defendants appealed.

Johnson being held in $500 and Anderson and Verner in $500 on each of two counts for the August term of the superior court.

The case is the outcome of the attack made by a crowd of men on a Patrolman Dennis Leary Sunday night, July 18, on the Chelsea bridge, Charlestown. Verner and Anderson were found guilty of charges of assault and battery on an officer and of attempting to rescue a prisoner, and Johnson with attempting to rescue a prisoner.

Before pronouncing the sentences, Judge Preble stated that the evidence showed a crowd of 14 men had been down the harbor all day and had returned and had a dispute on the bridge. They had the right to secure enjoyment of Sunday as well as on any other day, but they blocked the sidewalk so that pedestrians had to go in the street. In the performance of his duty, he went to them. He placed a man under arrest, and it was the duty of every citizen not to attempt to get the prisoner away. Whether the policeman was right or wrong, it was the citizen's duty to assist him, and the court was the place to decide whether he was right or wrong.

THE NAVY YARDS

Bids Asked for Long List of Supplies

Secretary John H. Murphy of the Lowell board of trade has received a notice from the navy department calling for bids on various articles for the different navy yards in the United States. Included in the schedule are requisitions for electrical supplies, hardware and tools, metals, lumber, building material, paints, oils, chemicals, pipe, pipe fittings, tubing, valves, stationery, etc.

A good portion of the supplies contained in the list will be delivered at the Boston navy yard.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The regular meeting of Lowell Nest, No. 1255, Order of Owls, was held Thursday night, President E. M. Bowers in the chair. There was a large attendance and considerable business was transacted. Many committee reports were received, the most important being the committee assigned to relieve and visit the sick brothers.

The decision rendered recently by Judge Richardson in favor of the South Bend, or loyalists, of the Massachusetts nest of Boston, has done much in straightening out the affairs of the order in that storm center.

The report of the secretaries, the treasurer and the auditor, which will be presented at the next meeting, are looked forward to with much interest.

Odd Fellows

The field day committee of Oberlin lodge, 28, I. O. O. F., is putting the finishing touches on preparations for the big field day at Nahassett Saturday, July 30. Nearly all committees have reported and arrangements are all made. A large sale of tickets has been recorded and during the coming week they will put some novel advertising upon the streets besides that already out. Sports will open with a ball game between West Chelmsford and Chelmsford Centre, followed by running races, boys' and girls' races, fat men's race, tug-of-war and many other sports. At 5 o'clock there will be a clambake. There will be free dancing afternoon and evening.
